

THE NAPANEE

Vol. XLIX] No 49 - E. J. POLLARD, Editor and Proprietor.

NAPANEE, ONT., CANA

JOY'S BRICK YARD

Having installed all the latest and up-to-date machinery for the manufacture of

Cement Bricks and Blocks

orders on the shortest notice. Call and see our new designs in Ornamental blocks. Agents for all kinds of Concrete Machinery, Silo and Tile Moulds; also for the best continuous Concrete Mixer on the market.

CEMENT FOR SALE.

Special prices on car lots.

We have a number of desirable building lots and would build to suit prospective purchasers. Office and factory, Dundas street, near G. T. R. bridge.

JOY & SON.

BOOKS ! Use Gas for Lighting.

- For sending through the mail.
- For permanent remembrance.
- As a compliment to your friend's intelligence.

NOTHING IS BETTER THAN A BOOK.

This year we have the best assortment we have ever had. Among other lines we have all the TRAVELLERS' SAMPLES from the MUSEN BOOK CO., which gives a variety not to be obtained in any other retail store between Toronto and Montreal.

For Christmas Presents these beautifully bound volumes are strictly the right thing.

Call and see our stock while it is complete.

A. E. PAUL'S

Paul's Bookstore.

APPLES WANTED !

-at the-

Collier Evaporator

AT - REINDEER - DOCK

Highest Market Price
Paid for all kinds of Evaporating Apples and Chops.

Why ?

BECAUSE you get a good light at a reasonable price.

BECAUSE it lights, heats and ventilates.

BECAUSE it is always available, night or day.

PRICE : 13 Cents per 100 Cubic Feet.

The Napanee Gas Company.

47c

Oil for Harness.

Pure neatsfoot oil, not colored, is the best for leather. Procure at Wallace's Drug Store.

Three hundred men out of employment seeking to enter Canada from the United States have been turned back at Windsor.

WALNUT GROVE.

Farmers are nearly through ploughing.

Mrs. Henry Kenton and son, Percy, are spending this week in Cape Vincent.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Bell at her sister's, Mrs. A. Huffman.

School is progressing favorably, under the able management of Miss Maggie McDonald.

D. and W. Thompson are taking a trip north.

ROSLIN.

Mr. Harry R. Wager spent Sunday in Marlbank renewing old acquaintances.

Mrs. Anson McKeown Croydon spent Sunday at Marlbank.

A number of our young people attended church at Selby on Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Lasher spent Wednesday in Napanee.

Mrs. Peter Davis has been on the sick list but is recovering.

Our school is progressing favorably under the able management of Mr. H. R. Wager.

Miss Maye Dafeo spent Sunday at her home.

COLEBROOK.

Mrs. Mareta A. Bell, Rome, N. Y., after being the guest of Mrs. A. C. Warner part of the past summer, left Monday, for her home, intending to stop over a short time with friends in Kingston.

George Lucas and Agnes Wagar were quietly married two weeks ago. After it became known they were treated to a kitchen shower, and presented with a great number of useful articles by their many friends, who spent an enjoyable evening at their home.

W. Brown, and wife and daughter Mildred, have returned from a trip to the coast. They also visited Denver and Salt Lake City on their return.

Mrs. John Riddell had the misfortune to fall down in the cellar and received some light bruises, and was confined to the bed for a few days, but is now recovering.

Miss Helen A. Wartman has returned, after three month's visit to Victoria and some western towns along the way. She visited Chicago on her return trip.

Mrs. P. Connors made a trip to Glenora last week.

Cyrus N. Garrison has returned, after visiting at Vancouver and other western cities. He met many old friends out west.

Rumor says there is to be an electric dynamo installed here for lighting the village.

Visitors: Ross McRae and Miss Elliott, of Kingston, over Sunday with A. C. Warner and family; Mr. and Mrs. James Young, of Napanee, over Sunday with F. S. Wartman and family.

Winnipeg Board of Control may take action to cancel the C. P. R. tax exemption on the ground that the company is not carrying out the agreement regarding stockyard accommodation.

There are twenty-seven applications for divorce down for hearing at the coming session of parliament. This is a record number. Last year there were twenty-five of which twenty were granted.

We Make the Best Tailor Made Clothes Made in this Section

We have the best Cutter and Workmen that can be procured.

We carry the largest stock of Woolens shown by any tailor shop between Toronto and Montreal.

If you want shape-retaining clothes that will wear and give you satisfaction, try us with your fall order.

J. L. BOYES,

The Men's Clothier.

NEWS NOTES.

Mr. E. S. MacPhail of the Census Bureau at Ottawa is at Washington inquiring into census-taking methods used by the United States Government.

A banquet was held at New York Tuesday night to inaugurate the movement for the celebrations of the hundred years of peace between Anglo-Saxon nations.

Bruce Miller, of East Chicago, friend of Belle Elmore the actress, whose husband, Dr. H. H. Crippen, is under sentence of death in London for murdering her, takes no stock in the story that the woman is alive.

Four years in Stony Mountain penitentiary was the sentence imposed on Frank Lehand, the Canadian Pacific signalman who, while intoxicated, caused the derailment of a passenger train and the death of Fireman Samson.

One woman and three men are under sentence of death in the county jails of Ontario. The first to die, if the extreme penalty is exacted, will be Robert Parker, the aged Hastings county murderer. The date of his execution has been placed for December 3rd. Thomas McNulty and his paramour, Marv Dolan, the convicted Uptergrove murderers, will, if the vigorous efforts of their attorneys fail, be hanged together in Barrie jail on December 14th. The execution of Rufus Weedmark, the Smith's Falls wife murderer, has also been set for the same day in Perth jail, and if clemency is not obtained he will die the same date, Dec. 14th.

We notice that the boys in this district remember their fathers, mothers,

It is enough has a 11th, license Scott sold, pure as be restri sold t could burg And did se yards room drunk Magis The comm Local town' bauch eviden of the f views that t the h that t the th a shor name Local lished imple would and so ery. Inte are th legaliz deal and y their until t as the, by day the rig such FROM As a woman worse inferic "This sented pany. Majest last ev of Aric rec proces man, t women man t presen Muller gentle from h time t of wed send, a was w him to Norris ly a ba and he that h Thekla synchr from h

AT - REINDEER - DOCK

Highest Market Price Paid for all kinds of Evaporating Apples and Chops.

HUGHES & CHURCH
40-2m

Oil for Harness.

Pure neatsfoot oil, not colored, is the best for leather. Procure at Wallace's Drug Store.

Three hundred men out of employment seeking to enter Canada from the United States have been turned back at Windsor.

Clarke Woods, who killed Hector Murray by striking him with a bottle, was sentenced at Red Deer, Alta., to ten years imprisonment.

Winnipeg Board of Control may take action to cancel the C. P. R. tax exemption on the ground that the company is not carrying out the agreement regarding stockyard accommodation.

There are twenty-seven applications for divorce down for hearing at the coming session of parliament. This is a record number. Last year there were twenty-five of which twenty were granted.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S
CASTORIA

paramour. Mary Dolan, the convicted Uptergrove murderers, will, if the vigorous efforts of their attorneys fail, be hanged together in Barrie jail on December 14th. The execution of Rufus Weedmark, the Smith's Falls wife murderer, has also been set for the same day in Perth jail, and if clemency is not obtained he will die
the same date, Dec. 14th.

We notice that the boys in this district remember their fathers, mothers, sisters and sometimes sweethearts.
Our stock is replete with suitable gifts useful all the year. Come in boys and get acquainted.

BOYLE & SON.

Great - Factory - Sale

—OF—

BOOTS, SHOES AND RUBBERS

—AT THE—

Royal Shoe Store!

SPECIAL LINES:

Men's Storm Rubbers at 75c, worth $1.00.

Women's Croquet Rubbers at 50c, worth 75c.

Women's Dongola Bluchers, $2.75, worth $3.50.

Women's Box Kip Blucher, $1.25, worth $1.75.

Women's Dongola Kid Blucher, $1.25, worth $1.75.

Men's Velour Calf Blucher $2.75, worth $3.50.

Men's Box Calf Blucher, $1.75, worth $2.50.

Men's 2 Buckle Rubbers, Snag Proof, $2.50, worth $3.00.

We have determined to make this the GREATEST SHOE SALE in the history of Napanee.

Sale Commences Saturday Morning.

ROYAL SHOE STORE,

W. D. DICK, Manager.

NAPANEE.

THE EXPRESS

A QUARTER OF A CENTURY

finds us in the lead for Plumbing, Steam, Hot Water and Hot Air Heating.

M. S. MADOLE

CANADA—FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 18th, 1910

$1 per Year in advance: $1.50 if not so paid.

LOCAL OPTION.

The following is supplied by the Local Option Committee.

It is a satisfaction to find men honest enough to confess their sins as Truth has done in your issue of Nov. the 11th, where he tells us that when license could not be secured during the Scott Act times when they would have sold, had they been permitted, "the pure intoxicants and the less harmful, as beer and lager" but because of the restrictions placed upon them they sold a low grade such as is sold and could be procured in Deseronto, Newburgh and Bath.

And this "low grade intoxicant they did sell to the drunks in the back yards, barns, cellars, sheds and upper rooms and so avoided prosecution for drunkenness" and, "that they and their witnesses were paraded before the Magistrate steeped in perjury."

The clear cut intimation by this communication of Truth is that if the Local Option by-law is carried in this town they will proceed at once to "debauch" our citizens. The writer evidently gloats over the debauchery of the past. What can we hope for in the future from men holding such views of citizenship? Let us hope that the writer is not representing all the hotel keepers of our town, and that they were not all responsible for the threat printed in our local papers a short time ago, to the effect that the names of persons who signed the Local Option petitions would be published in the papers &c. A threat that implied in it that their patronage would be withheld from all men who would dare to assert their manhood and so refuse to submit to abject slavery.

Intelligent voters of Napanee, these are the men who are looking to you to legalize their business so that they can deal out over the bars to old and young, both men and women, their intoxicants, pure and impure, until their patrons are beastly drunk, as they have been seen on our streets by day and night and no one will have the right to utter a protest against such things because no statue will be broken, no law dishonored, but the law of an avenging God.

Citizens of Napanee, the hand of the drunkard is stretched out to you for help, put the temptation out of his way. The wail of the drunkard's children is loud and clear. The sobs of the broken-hearted mothers in this town, whose sons are drifting down to destruction should move you.

Truth has admitted on almost every line of his communication that drunkenness is a crime. What he wants you to do is to share the responsibility with him by legalizing this traffic that debauches and destroys, so that if your boy becomes a victim or your daughter marries a man who has started in that direction you will have no just ground to complain.

Do you know of any sound, honest, patriotic or righteous argument that can be advanced in defence of the bar-room?

How inconsistent for you to give of your means to help to save the heathen and give your vote to help the rum-seller to destroy both the body and soul of your neighbor, or your own family.

We have positive proof that the intoxicants used in Napanee during Scott Act times were not brought in from Deseronto, Newburgh or Bath.

By order of the Literature Committee.

THE PENALTY OF DRINK.

Saskatoon, Sask., Nov. 13.—Lawrence Ryan, the young man who died in the police lock-up here after being arrested as a drunk and disorderly, has been found to be a graduate of London University and Dublin Medical College. He had a brilliant career as a student, and served in the London hospitals before coming to Canada. He was recently Medical Health Officer at Edmonton, but lost the position through drink. He contracted fever here, and unsteady habits led to his death from heart failure.

FROM THE MONTREAL GAZETTE (October 25th)

As an illustration of what a superior woman can accomplish with an even worse than average specimen of the inferior sex, the domestic drama of "This Woman and This Man," as presented by Minnie Victorson and company, before a large audience at His Majesty's Theatre, was worth seeing last evening. Since the "Lysistrata" of Aristophanes first placed on dramatic record a drastic and irresistible process for the subduing of the normal man, there have certainly been few women more entitled to respect as a man tamer than the heroine of the present play. Her name was Thekla Muller, and she was a governess in a gentleman's family. While at leisure from her professional duties she found time to enter into the preliminaries of wedlock with young Norris Townsend, a commercialized Philistine, who was well on the way when she met him to a selfish millionaire's grave. Norris had no idea that he was merely a barbarian in need of discipline, and he had actually the folly to expect that he would be able to get rid of Thekla and her anticipated offspring synchronously. Thekla saved him from himself in a manner that did not

GALT HOTEL TAXES REDUCED

Galt, Nov. 14 (Special).—The Court of Revision to-day reduced the assessment on hotel property in Galt by $20,600, and the proprietors had 25 per cent. taken off their business tax, making a total reduction of $24,750 in the assessment. The argument of the lawyers in all cases was that since the local option by-law passed last May the value of the hotels had been materially reduced, and that the proprietors were unable to make a living under present conditions.—Toronto Globe, Nov. 15.

Commercial travellers want some method of dealing with hotels in local option districts. If it is easy to make a man quit keeping hotel, but hard to make him keep hotel if he objects.—Toronto Globe, Nov. 15.

Six persons were killed at Kalama-zoo when a Michigan Central train crashed into a street car.

VOTERS' LIST, 1910.

Municipality of the Town of Napanee, in the County of Lennox and Addington.

DAFOE & WALLER

Lumber, Shingles, Lath, Posts, Sash, Doors,
Mouldings, Etc.

AGENTS for Canadian Fairbanks Gas and Marine Engines.

AGENTS for Ruberoid Roofing and Flooring.

FACTORY next to the Big Mill. Phone 14

Veteran Land Grants Wanted

Ontario or Dominion, located or unlocated MULHOLLAND & CO.,
28-1-y McKinnon Bldg., Toronto.

DINING ROOM (GIRL WANTED)—
Apply at once to PAISLEY HOUSE, 28b

WANTED—A Two-Horse Tread or Sweep Power in good repair. C. W. VANDERVOORT, Napanee. 46dp

WANTED—Smart Boy to learn the barber trade. Apply to J. A. FERGUSON, King Edward Barber Shop. 48b

WANTED—A competent girl for light house work. Two in family, no washing, must be good plain cook. Apply to MRS. R. C. CARTWRIGHT. 46b

FOR SALE—The brick residence on East Street, formerly occupied by the late Mrs. J. D. Ham. Apply to HERRINGTON WARNER & GRANGE. 51f

HOUSE FOR SALE with two lots, new house 38 x 24, barn 28 x 24, electric light, hard and soft water, a splendid property at a low price. Apply to M. PIZZARELLO. 11

40 FARMS FOR SALE in Napanee and Belleville districts. Many of these are valuable farms, and at right price. Call at once or write for list. We can suit you, and you will save time and money. Also some good town properties. W. G. H. BROWN, Real Estate. Opposite Royal Hotel, Napanee.

VALUABLE REAL ESTATE FOR SALE—300 acres of land, more or less, in the 4th concession of the Township of Camden, at Varty Lake, being the farm of the late George Garrison. There are 2 dwellings and good barns and outbuildings on the premises, and good wells. Also for sale the Hotel Property in the Village of Colebrook. For further particulars apply to Mrs. A. C. Warner, or Mrs. F. S. Wartman, Colebrook; or to Herrington, Warner & Grange, Barrieters, Napanee. Dated October 26th, 1910. 46ff

FARM AND HOUSE AND LOT FOR SALE—Farm composed of west 85 acres of lot 14 in the seventh concession of the Township of Sheffield, and lot number 17 containing 2.0 acres in the seventh concession of the Township of Sheffield. This land is well watered by the Salmon river, good barns and drive house, warm, new 8 room dwelling house with woodshed. The farm carries a stock of eighteen head of cattle. A good frame house, two storeys, cottage roof, verandah on two sides, cellar, living water well, cistern, barn, and half an acre of good garden in the Village of Camden East.

MILLINERY!

Advertising will not sell goods. All that advertising will do is to bring people to see whether they want to buy. Now that our tables are filled with all your needs we ask you to compare and see if our showing and prices are not just as good, if not a little wee bit better than any you have seen elsewhere.

This week we have opened up and have in stock the latest shapes in Satin, Silk, Felt and Velvet. Also Beavers in white and black. It will pay you to see them before buying. The latest Novelties in Collars, Belts, Jabots, etc.

DOXSEE & CO.

The Leading Millinery House

THE - DOMINION - BANK NAPANEE BRANCH

Capital Paid up..... $4,000,000
Reserve Fund and Undivided Profits..... 5,300,000
Total Deposits by the Public... 45,700,000
Total Assets..... 58,900,000
Travellers and Commercial Letters of Credit issued available throughout the world.

DUDLEY L. HILL,
Manager, Napanee Branch.

MERCHANTS' BANK OF CANADA.
ESTABLISHED 1864.

time to enter into the preliminaries of wedlock with young Norris Townsend, a commercialized Philistine, who was well on the way when she met him to a selfish millionaire's grave. Norris had no idea that he was merely a barbarian in need of discipline, and he had actually the folly to expect that he would be able to get rid of Thekla and her anticipated offspring synchronously. Thekla saved him from himself in a manner that did her credit. Having got the rascal in a room and locked the door she informed him that she had telephoned to a clergyman to come at once and perform the wedding ceremony, and then facing the trembling coward with a quelling air, she drew a six shooter with a solemn warning that if he failed to do her bidding he would have to die. Norris, of course, yielded and this brought the first act to a close with no clue as to the future.

However, one felt that with a woman of this kind the future would surely be interesting. When act two started she had a good position as a school mistress, and her son was getting quite a big boy without her husband having had to send her any money. She had left her husband on the evening of the marriage and had never seen him since. At last the unexpected happened. Her husband, true to the dictum that a man always wants a woman who avoids him, came and was surprised at what a fine son fate had furnished him with. There was a dispute as to which should have the boy, the result being that the papa took him to the ancestral mansion, followed of course, by his mania. The last act showed the husband in his right mind, a humble suppliant at his wife's feet. Before, however, she would forgive him she wisely put him through a purifying discipline that obviously did him good.

Brisco Opera House, Friday Evening, November 18th.

Prices—$1.00, 75c, 50c, 25c.

Plan now open.

How to Get a 50c Psychine Free.

Write to T. A. Slocom Co., of Toronto, and say T. B. Wallace is your druggist, they will send you a coupon. Bring it to Wallace's Drug Store and we will supply you, free of charge, one regular 50 cent bottle.

THE NOVEMBER ROD AND GUN.

While big game hunting supplies the dominant note in the November number of Rod and Gun in Canada, published by W. J. Taylor, Limited, Woodstock, Ont., there is in the same issue plenty of material for sportsmen who are not able, for various reasons, to go after moose, deer or bear. In the opening article, Mr. Bonnycastle Dale tells how Indian boys make clever hunters, trappers and fishermen and with what skill they decimate the inhabitants of the forest. Exploration in the Nepigon country, fishing and mountaineering topics, with many other papers and some fine verses, fill a number which should find its way into all hunting camps. Sportsmen, wherever they may be found, can enjoy some pleasant half hours by dipping into its contents, assured that from beginning to end they will find much to attract and interest them. The completeness of the issue in covering the whole wide field of Canadian sport gives it distinction and goes far to account for the standing the Magazine has won and continues to deserve.

The strike of express drivers in New York has been settled.

Count Tolstoloi, who is suffering from bronchitis at Astadova, has been joined by his wife.

The dead body at St. Thomas, identified as that of William Bradow of Kingsmill, turns out to be that of Benj. Taylor of Melbourne. Bradow is alive and well.

A. S. Kimmerly has full stock of choice alfalfa, red clover, timothy seed, and Manchuria barley. I pay 18c for eggs. 19 lbs granulated sugar $1. Five Roses Flour has no equal; good flour $2.00. 8 lbs sulphur 25c.

make him keep hotel he objects.—Toronto Globe, Nov. 15.

Six persons were killed at Kalama-zoo when a Michigan Central train crashed into a street car.

VOTERS' LIST, 1910.

Municipality of the Town of Napanee, in the County of Lennox and Addington.

Notice is hereby given that I have transmitted or delivered to the persons mentioned in section 9 of The Ontario Voters' Lists Act the copies required by said sections to be so transmitted or delivered of the list, made pursuant to said Act, of all persons appearing by the last revised Assessment Roll of the said municipality to be entitled to vote in the said municipality at elections for members of the Legislative Assembly and at Municipal Elections, and that the said list was first posted up in my office at Napanee, on the 15th day of November, 1910, and remains there for inspection.

And I hereby call upon all voters to take immediate proceedings to have any errors or omissions corrected according to law.

Dated this 16th day of Nov., A. D. 1910.

W. A. GRANGE,
Municipal Clerk, Napanee.

MORTGAGE SALE—Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain Mortgage, which Mortgage will be produced at the time of sale, there will be offered for sale by Public Auction, by Hiram Wesley Huff, Auctioneer, at the Bay View Hotel, in the Village of Bath, on THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 24th, 1910, at the hour of two o'clock in the afternoon, the following property, viz.:

In the Village of Bath, in the County of Lennox and Addington, containing by admeasurement fifty-one square rods of land be the same more or less, being composed of a portion of a broken front of the east half of lot Number Ten in the First Concession of the Township of Ernestown, and which said parcel of land is bounded as follows:—Commencing at the north-east corner of the grocery store occupied at one time by John Rouse, thence north sixty-five degrees and a half, east ninety-six links more or less to the lot formerly occupied by Rebecca Ham, thence southerly thirty-four degrees and a half in an easterly direction to or along western limit of said lot three chains and sixty-two links more or less to the water's edge, thence westerly along the water's edge eighty-seven links, thence north twenty-four degrees and a half west two chains sixty-eight links, thence south sixty-five and a half degrees west nine links, thence north twenty-four degrees and a half west ninety-four links to the place of beginning, excepting a certain portion of land and certain privileges heretofore granted to John Nugent by one James A. Hawley.

TERMS OF SALE—20 per cent. of the purchase money to be paid at the time of sale to the Vendor's Solicitor, and the balance on favorable terms.

For further particulars and conditions of sale apply to

T. B. GERMAN,
Vendor's Solicitor,
Napanee, Ont.

Dated this 18th day of October, 1910.

Birthday Rings

In all the proper stones.

Friendship Rings

A good Assortment.

Engagement Rings

Diamonds! Diamonds! Yes, and Rubbies, Pearls etc., etc too numerous.

Wedding Rings

Guaranteed Plump Stamped Quality. In this we are more than particular.

Marriage Licenses

Strictly confidential is our reputation—no clerks to spy on you.

—The store of Good Quality and Moderate Prices.

—Call and see us.

E. Chinneck's Jewelry Store

Near Royal Hotel, Napanee

FARM AND HOUSE AND LOT FOR SALE—Farm composed of west 85 acres of lot 14 in the seventh concession of the Township of Sheffield, and lot number 17 containing 2.0 acres in the seventh concession of the Township of Sheffield. This land is well watered by the Salmon river, good barns and drive house, warm, new 8 room dwelling house with woodshed. The farm carries a stock of eighteen head of cattle.

A good frame house, two storeys, cottage roof, verandah on two sides, collar, living water well, cistern, barn, and half an acre of good garden, in the Village of Camden East. Apply to A. B. GORDANIER on the farm, or J. A. CARROLL, Yarker.

COURT OF REVISION.

Notice is hereby given that the Court of Revision for the Municipality of the Town of Napanee, will be held in the Council Chamber, in the Town Hall, on Tuesday, the 22nd day of November, 1910, at the hour of 7.30 p. m., for the hearing of the appeals against the Assessment Roll of 1910. All persons interested are required to attend.

W. A. GRANGE,
Clerk.

Nov. 10th, 1910.

TENDERS WANTED

for ($5000) Debenture of the Village of Bath, dated 1st November, 1910, and issued under by-law for the purpose of the erection and equipment of a school house, bearing interest 4 per cent. per annum, repayable in twenty years in equal annual instalments of $367.90, principal and interest. This is Bath's only debenture indebtedness. No tender necessarily accepted. Tenders are to be addressed to E. P. SHEPHERD, Village Clerk, Bath, before the 1st of November, 1910.

For further particulars enquire of W. G. WILSON, solicitor for the Village of Bath.

Pumpkins Wanted

We are now ready to receive any quantity of good ripe, yellow Pumpkins --- Bring along at once whatever quantity you may have Napanee Canning Co.

Food choppers, meat saws, butcher knives, butter bowls, prints, cream pails, all the kind you can rely on at

BOYLE & SON'S.

Manager, Napanee Branch.

MERCHANTS' BANK OF CANADA.

ESTABLISHED 1864.

PAID UP CAPITAL AND RESERVE OVER $10,400,000.

UNDOUBTED SECURITY FOR DEPOSITORS

Savings Bank Department.

Deposits of $1.00 and upwards received and interest at best current rate paid. Farmers' Business Solicited and General Banking Business transacted.

Napanee W. A. BELLHOUSE, Mgr.

Yarker Branch, E. R. CHECKLEY, Mgr.

WANTED.

A Representative for Napanee.

This is the time to sell Nursery Stock. We pay liberally and offer steady employment. Our list of embraces a rare and choice list of ready sellers in both Fruit and Ornamental Stock Seed Potatoes, Etc.

SPECIALTIES

Write for terms and catalogue.

STONE & WELLINGTON,

The Fonthill Nurseries,
Toronto, Ont.

Established 1837.

Stoves That are Stoves.

If you fail to find a stove that suits you, come to us, we know we can satisfy you. Try

BOYLE & SON'S.

Huffman's Drug Store Again.

Since Mr. Huffman left town you can procure all of his remedies and prescriptions at Wallace's Drug Store. Warner's Asthma Cure, Huffman's cough cure, Huffman's Goutre (thick neck) Remedy, Ash's cholera syrup, Dr. Ash's Electric Plaster, Huffman's Spavin Ointment, etc., etc. T. B. Wallace, Phm. B., Exclusive local member of the Pure Drug Association of America.

Northern - Crown - Bank

HEAD OFFICE - WINNIPEG

Capital (authorized) $6,000,000

Capital (paid up) $2,200,000.

DIRECTORS:

President Sir D. H. McMillan, K.C.M.G.
Vice President Capt. Wm. Robinson

Jas. H. Ashdown H. T. Champion Frederick Nation
D. C. Cameron W. C. Leistikow Hon. R. P. Roblin

R. CAMPBELL General Manager

V. F. CRONYN Supt. Eastern Branches

Special Care given to Savings Accounts

Savings Bank Department at all Branches

A General Banking Business Transacted

R. G. H. TRAVERS Manager Napanee Branch

Her farm experience had been acquired in a city residence, and when she visited the dairy show it was like entering a new world. Her interest was that of a profound ignorance that had never been disturbed. She thought that the Jersey cow had a pretty head, and admired the polished horns with which the head was ornamented. She was less favorably impressed by the gentleman of the cows, and gave him a wide berth. For the most part she saw without seeing, and she was too plainly indifferent to the instructive remarks of the lecturer who was giving wholesome advice to farmers.

But if she had had a little knowledge gained by experience if she could have compared what was before her, the cattle, the stalls the many devices for the improvement of the dairy and the handling of dairy products, the instructive addresses, with all that was suggested by the memory of some old, ill-kept farm the exhibition would have appealed to her as a most striking illustration of what can be accomplished by the application of brains to business.

Science, invention, system, industry, each contributed its share to make the exhibition possible. A young fellow from the country who had been brought up to slovenly ways, but who was intelligent and not devoid of ambition, could hardly fail to be affected by the spectacle. It would set him to using his own brains and to rejecting traditional methods accepted before without question. He would see that there was a saving in cleanliness, that a rigid accounting would show not only the outgo and the income but the quality of his stock and the net returns for each animal; that the protection of the public health had become a matter of immediate personal importance to himself; that there was a menace to his home and a menace to his profits in filth and flies. And if he was attentive and keen he would realize fully that it was not at all necessary to leave the farm to find a career. With the knowledge he already possessed the interest in his own business would be intensified. He would feel that there was so much to be done that it was really the most interesting business in the world. He would think more of the science underlying it, of the value of the helpful inventions and of thoroughly systematized work. He would recognize the need of putting brains into every detail of his labor.

So much for the dairy exhibit, but its lesson is not for the farmer alone. In every line of human endeavor there is the same story. You have been moving without advance-

THE SORROWS OF OTHERS

No Man Misses Joy More Than He Who Steels His Heart Against Them

"Blessed are they that mourn for they shall be comforted."—Matt. vi., 4.

In every picture of consolation there are at least two figures—the comforter and the comforted. Our sorrows bind us together. But for suffering this were a world without sympathy, without need of the deeper, inner, human touch. We would never know one another but for the shedding of tears together.

The sight of another's suffering or need awakens in us pity, compassion, and desire to relieve the distress or to soothe the broken heart. It calls to the best in us, stirs us to self-forgetfulness and to sacrifice. It softens our austerities and strengthens the spirit of human kindness.

The sorrows of others bring us to realization of a world larger than ourselves, and our personal concerns. We know that all that is written within us of need and pain, of deep experiences, is but a single letter out of the world's great story of sorrow.

True social living grows out of this: That we need one another in days of mourning, perplexity and pain. The very weakness and dependence of the individual is the secret of social strength. This would be a hard, greedy world of selfishness if there were no babies needing protection, no children needing sacrifice, no sorrowing ones needing comfort. The hands of common sorrow bind us as do no others.

THE LITTLE GROUP

about an open grave finds some new drawing together in the very pang of parting. Many a family has come to a new unity because all have been called to weep together over a lost one. Through the mist of tears we get a new perspective on life; we begin to see that its eternal values are not in things but in people, in affection, in human hearts and loves.

No man misses joy more than he who steels his heart against the sorrows of others. No life is richer than that which permits its treasures of love and sympathy to go out to empty, hungry, sorrowing ones.

To be called a man of sorrows is a far different thing from being a sorrowful man. The man of sorrows, he who shares the cares of others, whose ear is attuned to sympathy, has title to the great and lasting joys of life. He follows that great life which went about doing good, which never was too weary to bid others to rest, nor too burdened to sympathize and help.

When we come to the end of our way and recount our possessions will we not prize most highly the possession of friends? After all, are not these the real riches of life? And these treasures of friendship, the affections, joys, inspirations, and heartrendings of the faces and hearts of others have become ours through our needs. Adversities have brought true hearts to us. In fires of afflictions the great affections have been welded; we bless the mourning that brought such comfort.

When to us there comes as come there must to all who really live,

THE DAYS OF DARKNESS,

when over us hangs the shadow of the valley, when the sorrow is beyond words, and its mysterv. its seeming blind cruelty almost crushes us, then we may well reach out our hands for the touch of other hands. Then comes the assurance that the great souls of all ages have walked this way and nowhere are we nearer to the infinite love than here.

We never know the wealth this world holds until it is revealed to us in our hours of anguish, when other possessions are stripped from us, when consolation alone can have value for us. Then hands are reached out to ours, hearts are opened, and, looking into other eyes, we see riches of love of which we had not dreamed. Only those who have sorrowed know how kindly a world this is.

May not this be one of the uses of adversity, one of the beautitudes of sorrow, that hearts are thereby kept tender, that from the rain of bitter tears spring the sweet flowers of sympathy, and he who mourns is blest with the best that hearts made rich by experience can offer?

HENRY F. COPE.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

INTERNATIONAL LESSON,
NOV. 20.

Lesson VIII.—Jesus in Gethsemane.
Matt. 26, 36-56. Golden Text,
Matt. 26, 45.

Verse 36. A place—Literally, an inclosed parcel of ground. It was an olive grove, as its name, Gethsemane, or "oil-press," signifies. Gardens had to be maintained, by those who were able, outside the city, as there was no spare ground within, and ceremonial objections much more did they!

42. A second time he . . . prayed—He has made some progress. Perhaps he did not feel himself wholly submitted to the will of his Father at first. At any rate, the "let this cup pass away" has become if this cannot pass away, and the only petition now is that he may be in perfect accord with the will of his Father.

44. Prayed a third time—Not a vain repetition, but an exhibition of insistent moral earnestness.

45. Sleep on now—The suggestion in the wording of the margin is easier of interpretation, especially in view of Arise, let us be going (46). Reproachfully he turns to them the third time: "Do ye sleep on, then, and take your rest?" "You have slept through my agony."

On the Farm

MILKING KICKERS.

It is a disagreeable undertaking to milk a kicking cow, as many a farmer's boy or hired man will bear witness. In fact she is an animal that is most generally despised by every one on the farm, and many a good milk cow has found her way to the butcher for being a kicker, when if she had had the proper training or had been broken to milk in the right way and at the right time she would have been worth twice as much for a dairy cow as she would for beef, writes Mr. L. G. Johnson.

When a heifer has her first calf, then is the time and only right time to teach her what it is to be milked and teach her the all-important lesson of gentleness. At this period when her calf is only a day old, she is likely to be a little nervous and only knows what nature has taught her. When you take the calf away from her and begin milking her she naturally thinks there is some kind of danger pending, and will begin to use the weapons that nature has provided for her to defend herself. The way I break a heifer to milk her is by simply treating her kindly and yet giving her to understand that I am her master. I always milk her first where she can see her calf. I tie her to a post or something that will hold her so she can't run away from me, and then give her something to eat and at the same time I will rub and pet her until she becomes gentle. Then I take a cup or small pail in one hand while I milk with the other, all the while keeping up close to the animal's side with my left shoulder pressed against her. During the operation I go about and act in a happy-go-lucky way, as though it were an everyday occurrence with her. By so doing you are not so apt to excite the animal and a young cow or heifer is not likely to kick unless she becomes vexed or excited. However, this plan will not always work and sometimes it will be necessary to manage her in different ways. If, however, she will not submit to kind treatment I would then advise the same plan I used for breaking an old experienced kicker.

When an old cow with her third or fourth calf has been allowed to kick ever since having her first calf it is a hard matter to milk her, but it can be done in several ways, and the best way I have ever found is by putting them in what I call the milking stocks. This is a device of my own planning, but has worked well on several cows that I bought at a low price because they were kickers. In the first place, I set a post firmly in the ground for a hitching post and back of this I set two more four feet apart. Those two are twelve feet away from the first one and then I spike a cross beam across the first post two feet from the ground. This cross beam is four feet long. I then fasten a pole from either end of the beam to the post back of it so when the cow is tied to the hitching post she is between the two poles. After this is done I fasten a piece of 1x6 inch board just in front of her hind legs and when she kicks she will kick the board.

The and of to make with the paratual Reiter rec extort effort, a great price pl Like liable will af and wi blood, the cir Magaz Morris regard mental life ma A m or jou sure d of vita suffer long r the poi period cause will pr pepping ing in toxicat neuras tations

SLE

One tal str point sleep. and u portan cise an import Eyestr erable the ill. The f account of the forced its acc worry, work c fitted

To t known is first torious temper and si Moreo an inj smoke him. sound, age, a headac George to eye indefa ed mu reache span o ing brains into every detail of his labor.

Tolst of the

So much for the dairy exhibit, but its lesson is not for the farmer alone. In every line of human endeavor there is the same story. You may keep moving without advancing or you may prepare your own way and step forward on firm ground. Certain it is that the opportunity is always open to you to break with bad traditions, to learn of the pioneers, to follow where intelligence leads, to be active and alert rather than the slave of a deadly routine. Give your brains a stimulus by contact with the brains of other men, and then let the artist who mixed his paints with his brains be your model. Without the second ingredient there could be no industrial exhibitions of any sort. With that ingredient they contain so much of a carefully wrought-out utility and beauty that only the initiated can fully comprehend them. It is for you to determine whether you are to be a directing force in the inner circle or "as the horse or as the mule which have no understanding."

In a lecture on life and human development Sir Oliver Lodge pointed out that "we were still barely emerging from the ruthlessness of savage competition"; that the earth was still full of darkness and cruelty, and that our civilization is still raw and crude. Humanity, he was sure, is good enough where it has a chance, and the paramount problem is to give it a chance. "There is room for everybody in a properly organized universe"—room as well as food, comfort, joy. Our business is to organize our little universe, to establish justice and eradicate the survivals of savagery.

This business, as evolutionists like Spencer have demonstrated, could not be carried on by nations and societies that regarded war as a normal condition. Peace, industry, commerce, the accumulation of capital, the application of science and art to production and exchange, the abolition of privileges and evils inherited from a dark, military feudal past; the realization of equal opportunity, the enactment of laws shackling greed and cunning without discouraging legitimate ambition and enterprise—these are the conditions of future advance. In these lies the hope, the certainty, of humanity.

The problems presented to us by modern industry and modern politics are complex and difficult, but we shall prove equal to them. Corporations will be "peopleized," law will be modernized, unfair privileges will be done away with, undeserved pauperism and misery will be prevented through insurance, compensation, pension systems. Political machinery will be simplified and perfected. All we need is time, courage, sympathy and earnest efforts to "get understanding." Happily, being human, we have all of these requisites. The seer, the geologist, the student of history, cannot possibly "and" in pessimistic conclusions.

Verse 36. A place—Literally, an inclosed parcel of ground. It was an olive grove, as its name, Gethsemane, or "oil-press," signifies. Gardens had to be maintained, by those who were able, outside the city, as there was no spare ground within, and ceremonial objections made their proper care impossible.

37. Peter and the two sons of Zebedee—As on the mount of transfiguration. He took them partly for the comfort and support he would receive from the presence of his most intimate friends and partly that they might be eyewitnesses of this remarkable scene.

Began to be sorrowful—His soul seemingly was too overwhelmed for him to pray as he had intended, and it was necessary for him to retire into a deeper privacy still while the disciples remain watching at a reverent distance.

38. My soul is exceeding sorrowful, even unto death—The interpretation must be sought in the fact that our Lord's death was absolutely without parallel. He himself so regarded it. His death was not the result of mere accident, but the result of a moral necessity laid upon him by the divine purpose, according to which he was thus to ransom sinful men and open up a new epoch of grace. He had felt the awful burden of his approaching death ("straitened") a year before this, and on the previous night, as he ate with his disciples, "he was troubled in the spirit." Our clue is in the meaning of "this cup," and this is found in the words of the cross, "My God, why hast thou forsaken me?" That was what death was to mean to our Saviour. He was "made to be sin on our behalf," for, going down into the blackness of death for us, he experienced, as only a sinless soul could, the stain and doom and loneliness of death in its office as God's penalty for sin. He was sore troubled because the "strong crying and tears" of the garden were simply an anticipation of the cry of the cross.

39. Let this cup pass away from me—Was this possible? Not if he was to complete the work necessary to human salvation. In that respect the prayer certainly was answered. If he would save others, it was impossible that he should spare himself.

As thou wilt—Recalling his own words, "I do always those things which are pleasing unto the Father." This is the true submissiveness of obedient Sonship. In fact, the words, if it be possible, are equivalent to "if thou be willing," the form given them by Luke.

40. Findeth them sleeping—It was late, and therefore their natural powers were exhausted. There is a strange irony in the fact that it was Peter who had confidently boasted only a short space before that he would be willing to die for the Master, and now, in the supreme crisis, he cannot watch one hour. But the question of Jesus is hardly a rebuke. His own sympathetic statement (41) about the spirit being willing, but the flesh weak, shows that he understood the drowsiness of sense which they felt after their sorrow (Luke 22. 45), and which made them incapable of doing what he had bidden, much as they desired to do so.

41. That ye enter not into temptation—Was not the full force of a terrible temptation upon him at that moment? If he needed to strengthen his soul by prayer, how

45. Sleep on now—The suggestion in the wording of the margin is easier of interpretation, especially in view of Arise, let us be going (46). Reproachfully he turns to them the third time: "Do ye sleep on, then, and take your rest?" "You have slept through my agony; you will also sleep through my betrayal?"

Let us be going—Out of the stress of prayer he has gained perfect self-control, and is now in readiness for the conflict with death. This illustrates one of the highest offices of prevailing prayer—that it fortifies the soul to receive the will of God.

47. A great multitude—From various sources we learn that the crowd was made up partly of officers of the temple, Roman soldiers under a tribune (a detachment granted by the governor), and servants of the temple, and then some of the rulers, whole is happy and contented, and including high priests and elders.

48. Gave them a sign—They had no design upon the disciples of Jesus, a fact which made a sign necessary.

49. Kissed him—The word really signifies that he kissed the Master in a demonstrative, effusive way. This of course added to the atrociousness of the betrayal.

50. Friend—Rather, "Comrade." Judas had forfeited all right to be called a friend. The utterances of Jesus which follow, in this verse and 52, 53, 54, are peculiar to Matthew, showing that his chief interest is in the manner in which the Master deported himself under these trying circumstances.

51. One of them . . . drew his sword—Probably a knife of large size. We learn from Luke (22. 38) that they had two such weapons with them. Who the servant of the high priest was, and who smote him, we learn only from John. John would know the servant's name, Malchus, "through his intimacy with the high priest," and the reticence observed by the other disciples with regard to Peter would be needless at the late date when John wrote.

52. Shall perish with the sword—Doubtless this would have been fulfilled instantly in Peter's case had not the Master intervened and healed the servant's ear. Compare the accounts in Luke and John, who both give the additional detail that it was the right ear.

53. Legions of angels—Jesus was fully resigned to what the scriptures (54) declared must be, and he would use no help from heaven or earth.

55. Note the stinging irony of these words. Why did they not take him when he sat quietly teaching in the temple? Because they feared the multitudes. It was a confession of cowardice that they thus came at night armed as against a robber.

56. All the disciples left him—That is (as in Matt. 24. 41), left him to his fate. The reason for their flight is not entirely apparent.

"Do you believe in hypnotism?" he asked, as he looked intently into her great brown eyes.

"I must," she answered, with all the bravery she could summon. "I know that you are going to kiss me, but I am powerless to protest."

The more a man gets left the more he talks about his rights.

Flour by any other name would smell as wheat.

then fasten a pole from one end of the beam to the post back of it so when the cow is tied to the hitching post she is between the two poles. After this is done I fasten a piece of 1x6 inch board just in front of her hind legs and when she kicks she will kick the board, thus administering punishment to herself for her misconduct. A few kicks and she will decide that it is a bad idea, as every time she kicks she hurts herself and will give it up entirely. I always use the stocks for about three or four days and then milk them in the usual way and I have never found a cow that this would not break from kicking in less than a week.

FEED AND SHELTER.

The chief factors in keeping poultry in any number are, undoubtedly, strain or pedigree-breeding, housing, feeding, and, lastly, the ground; and if all the first three conditions are not conformed to, the results will never be satisfactory. If the fowls kept are of a poor laying strain, the best of food and houses will not make them fill the egg-basket in mid-winter; whilst if of a record-laying strain and improperly housed and fed the result will be equally disappointing. At this period of the year overcrowded houses seem plentiful, with a consequent prevalence of roup and bronchial ailments. Feeding of poultry often determines the success or failure of the flock, and requires experience. The poultry keeper must be a keen observer of his birds, and never fail to regard the atmospheric changes, season of the year, the number of birds laying, all of which affect the amount of food required by the fowls. No hard and fast rule can be laid down, but when the birds leave food at one meal, they should be fed short next and watched closely, gradually working them up to a keen healthy appetite. All fowls should be compelled to work for their food by means of scratching for the grain scattered regularly in loose straw or litter. Meat at least three times a week should be given in some form, and the liquor used in boiling, mixed with the morning soft food. As to the ground it cannot be too widely known that a complete change of ground several times each year is an important essential and ensures a clean bill of health.

WANTED TO SEE THEM.

"So this is a court room," whispered one of the fair women. "Yes," replied her escort. "Well, where are the wheels of justice, I hear so much about? I'd like to see them."

EXCHANGE OF COURTESIES.

"Mornin', Riggs." "Mornin', Griggs." "I hope you're enjoying good health." "You don't suppose I could enjoy poor health, do you?" "You could if you were a new doctor in a strange community. Mornin'." "Mornin'."

FOUND.

"I started out on the theory that the world had an opening for me, and I went to find it." "Did you find it?" "Oh, yes, I'm in a hole."

indefatigable muscular span of Tolst of the ing ful has liv life of fair he played in the

Anth ably tk known that is output so mar less at time in Ther genius, themse both er one of ceasing stretch of bls would strenu man w somewl was, m in his up.

The l who hu mental and th medic done t As a r name a brains themse those v

Lord, t

Keep n

Help n

Let me

Let me

Set the

Let me

Let me

And if

Give n

So for

Still k

Lo

W

Pape Japane very se than th gowns, ticles o out, b France pean c they a variety a new l ers or design.

SHORT-LIVED WORKERS

GREAT MENTAL STRAIN INJURES THE BODY.

Woes of Literary Work Described by Sir Malcolm Morris in Cassell's.

The difficulties of literary men and other strenuous brain workers to make their daily task harmonize with their rebellious digestive apparatus are notorious. The Medical Record, in discussing this matter recently, points out that brain exertion, or rather, undue mental effort, induces fatigue, possibly to a greater extent than does excessive physical exertion.

Like the muscles, the brain is liable to fatigue, and mental strain will affect injuriously the digestion and will bring about changes in the blood, and consequently will injure the circulatory system. In Cassell's Magazine for May, Sir Malcolm Morris discourses instructively in regard to the bad influence the mental stress and strain of literary life may exert on the body.

A man who engages in literary or journalistic work at high pressure draws largely upon the fount of vitality, and in most cases will suffer for his recklessness in the long run. Brain work carried to the point of fatigue for a continued period will, in most instances, cause actual waste of tissue, and will produce various phases of dyspepsia, not infrequently culminating in chronic intestinal auto-intoxication, bringing in its train neurasthenia in its many manifestations.

SLEEPLESS NIGHTS HARM.

One of the main causes of mental strain brought to the breaking point is night work with lack of sleep. Want of healthy exercise and unsuitable diet are other important contributory health exercise and unsuitable diet are other important contributory causes. Eyestrain also is a factor of considerable importance when considering the ill-health of many literary men. The fact also must be taken into account that at the commencement of their career literary men are forced to contend with poverty with its accompaniments of anxiety and worry, and are unable either to work or to live in the manner best fitted to conserve their health.

To take a few examples of well-known literary men, Carlyle's name is first to suggest itself. He was notoriously of the bilious type; his temperament tinged all his writings and saturated some of his work. Moreover, he is said to have been an injudicious eater, and perhaps smoked more than was good for him. However, his constitution was sound, for he lived to a green old age. Darwin, again attained old age, although he was a martyr to headaches, which according to George M. Gould, were wholly due to eyestrain. Spencer was another indefatigable worker, who suffered much from dyspepsia, but who reached an age beyond the ordinary span of life.

TIRELESS MEN.

Tolstoi is a conspicuous example of the literary man who, while taking full toll of his brain power,

SANDALS AND FOOTGEAR

THE SANDAL EVOLVED INTO VARYING FORMS.

The Earlier Forms and the Modifications That Came With Time.

It was undoubtedly as a protection and not as an adornment that man first learned to cover his feet. He had to walk over rough and jagged places where there might be thorns and flints; his clothing being of skins, he drew a portion of skin below his foot and secured it with thongs crossing the ankle and instep.

The earlier shoe was a sandal, says the London Globe, and it was most frequently of hide or leather, but sometimes of wood; in Egypt it was woven of palm leaves and papyrus. When the word "shoe" is used in the Scriptures it is commonly sandal that is intended. As a symbol of treading their enemies under their feet the Egyptians often painted the figures of opponents and persons with whom they were at war on the lining of their sandals. If utility was the first motive art and decoration soon crept in.

Ladies allowed themselves great luxury in the attire of their feet: "How beautiful are thy feet with sandals, O prince's daughter!" The sandal became identified with symbolism, very much as the glove became later. To throw a sandal or shoe over a piece of land was

A SYMBOL OF POSSESSION; hence the figure of speech "Over Edom do I cast my shoe," which has puzzled many choir boys.

It was natural that the sandal should evolve into varying forms. Two varieties developed in Greece for use in dramatic performance, the sock for comedy, the buskin for tragedy. Both became synonymous with their different uses. The buskin reached to the knee, something like a high Wellington, and had very thick soles to increase the stature; the sock only covered as far as the ankle and must have been better for quick movement.

In Rome the sandal became more akin to our modern shoe. There are races in eastern Europe whose civilization derives from Rome and who will still cling to the unreformed sandal, but Augustan Rome was more luxurious. The footgear of patricians was decorated with golden clasps and embroideries; shoe making became an elaborate art.

Common walking shoes frequently had a wooden sole like some of the sandals of Egypt, and it was probably from these that the French peasant of to-day derived his sabots. The wealthier classes indulged in dainty slippers and laced boots, while the Emperors wore

PURPLE BUSKINS.

Red was permitted to the nobility, the commons had to be content with more sober coloring.

Our earliest British forefathers were of course barefooted and it is not possible to say when the sandal first found its way hither. Probably merchants trading here for tin taught the natives its use long before the Romans made it familiar. The Celts indeed were by no means the stained savages of popular ignorance; they had attained a con-

WIFE IN JAPANESE EYES

HER TASK NOT BY ANY MEANS AN EASY ONE.

Child Is Required to Sacrifice Itself for the Sake of the Family.

The Japanese child is required to honor its parents and to sacrifice itself for the sake of the family. The parents must not spare themselves for the good of their children. The children must reflect this attitude, says the Japan Magazine.

As a result there is the peculiar custom called "inkyō," or the retirement of the head of the family from active life as soon as the children become old enough to take the management of affairs.

Delighted that their children are able to shoulder the burdens of life, the parents devote themselves to the pleasures of old age—games, the tea ceremony, horticulture; some are even affected by the "muse," and are abandoned in their declining years to poetry.

For this reason very few Japanese parents hold property in their own right, assigning it to those of their children on whom they are dependent. A son who would ignore the claims of loyalty and filial piety would be considered outside the pale of human society. Seldom, indeed, are there found in Japan such examples of

FORSAKEN PARENTS

as are too often seen in Occidental lands.

What is still more surprising to outsiders is the fact that the wives of the children are expected to render the same loyalty and piety to the parents-in-law as the children themselves; and in Japan every dutiful wife is faithful to this custom. Hence every Japanese daughter on the verge of marriage is told by her parents that she must be as true in every respect to her new parents as she has been to those she is leaving, and that any failure in this respect on her part will be regarded in the old home as a dishonor done the aged parents.

One of our Japanese savants has said that though a wife were complete in all accomplishments of the modern world she would still not be a perfect wife if she did not know how to shampoo the head of her husband's father or mother. To married women of the West the idea may come as a shock, but in all respectable circles of Japanese society it is taken as a matter of course. In fact, any violation of it would be a legitimate cause for divorce, for would sooner see his wife show veneration for his parents than for himself.

A TRUE HUSBAND

The two Chinese characters representing husband in the Japanese language mean heavenly person. Accordingly, his wife is expected to honor him as a thing from heaven. She does this by attending carefully to the duties of the household so as to leave her husband free to carry on the business of life. The true wife will sacrifice fortune and even life for the sake of her lord.

Nor is it to be understood that the Japanese man is indifferent to the noble endurance of his wife

Young Folks

ANNIE'S STORY.

Crack! crack! went the lamp chimney, as Annie lighted the big lamp.

"It was poor glass," she said, as she carefully picked up the pieces, "or else 'twas blown by a careless workman."

"Blown?" asked Mary, putting down her box of paper dolls and coming to the table.

"Yes, my dear. I used to live close by the big glass-works, and lamp chimneys are made by blowing glass into shape, like this." And Annie gave a puff and a long breath, and then looked down at Mary's surprised face and laughed aloud.

"I can tell you a story about lamp chimneys," she said, "but not to-night. To-morrow afternoon you bring Miss Constance round to my back porch, and I will tell you how glass is made." And with a proud little nod of her head, Annie stepped briskly across the room and closed the door softly behind her.

The next afternoon Constance and Mary found Annie waiting for them on the back porch. She had a basket full of stockings to be darned, and as she talked she worked busily. "I always knew about glass," she began, "because my father and brothers earned their living making it. Your folks can tell you how it is made of pure sand and lime, and a kind of soda, all mixed and melted in a big clay pot over a fierce fire till it bubbles like boiling molasses."

"Now my father, being a glass-blower, had a long iron tube which he called a blowpipe. It had a mouthpiece at one end, and it swelled out like a bowl at the other end. He'd dip the bowl end into the pot of melted glass and twist it round a bit till it gathered up a bit of the melted glass. Then as he took it out he'd blow through the pipe. The glass would swell out like a bubble, and my father would swing the blowpipe back and forth steady, and the bubble would lengthen down a bit, about the shape of a lamp chimney. Then he'd put it into a sort of mold, give his pipe a twist, and blow again. The glass bubble would stick to the sides of the mold and be shaped in a jiffy, and the last blow would swell out the lower part, and there's your lamp chimney!"

"My!" exclaimed Constance. "Do men blow every lamp chimney?"

"When my father worked they did," replied Annie, "but my brother is foreman in the shop now, and he tells me that some clever men have fixed machines to send air into the glass, and save the men's breath."

"Just think that glass is made out of sand," said Constance, "and can be blown into bubbles, just as we blow soap-bubbles!"

"Much the same way my dear," said Annie. "I have great advantages as a small girl in having a father who knew how to do such things."

"Yes, indeed!" responded Mary. "But my mother, too! She was a clever woman," continued Annie. "She taught me to put the smooth

George M. Gould, were wholly due to eyestrain. Spencer was another indefatigable worker, who suffered much from dyspepsia, but who reached an age beyond the ordinary span of life.

TIRELESS MEN.

Tolstoi is a conspicuous example of the literary man who, while taking full toll of his brain powers, has lived on the whole a healthy life. Mark Twain throughout his life of seventy-five years enjoyed fair health; he worked hard, and played hard, his sole excess being in the consumption of cigars.

Anthony Trollope was most probably the best example of a well-known writer who lived by routine, that is to say, so far as his literary output was concerned. He wrote so many words a day, no more no less and spent the remainder of his time in exercise and amusement.

BURNED OUT.

There have been literary men of genius, who have absolutely killed themselves by burning the candle at both ends. Balzac was undoubtedly one of these. He would work unceasingly for days and nights at a stretch, consuming large quantities of black, strong coffee, and he would amuse himself in the same strenuous manner. Poe is another man who committed suicide in a somewhat similar way though there was, maybe, a strain of degeneracy in his mental and physical makeup.

The list of celebrated literary men who have shortened their days by mental stress and strain is long, and the list of unsuccessful and mediocre literary men who have done the same thing is far longer. As a rule, those who have made a name are not compelled to use their brains to excess, and need not deny themselves rest and amusement, but those who have failed must do both.

THE HYMN.

Lord, for to-morrow and its needs
I do not pray;
Keep me, my God, from stain of sin
Just for to-day.
Help me to labor earnestly
And duly pray;
Let me be kind in word and deed,
Father, to-day.

Let me no wrong or idle word
Unthinkingly say;
Set thou a seal upon my lips
Through all to-day.
Let me in season, Lord, be grave,
In season, gay;
Let me be faithful to Thy grace,
Dear Lord, to-day.

And if, to-day, this life of mine
Should ebb away,
Give me thy sacrament divine,
Father, to-day.
So for to-morrow and its needs
I do not pray;
Still keep me, guide me, love me,
Lord,
Through each to-day.

WEAR PAPER ATTIRE.

Paper clothes are worn by the Japanese troops, who found them very serviceable and much warmer than those of cloth. Paper dressing gowns, bath robes, and similar articles of attire are now being turned out by the carload in England, France, Germany and other European countries. The paper whereof they are made is of the "blotting" variety, and after being treated by a new process is dyed in various colors or printed with a pretty floral design.

Our earliest British forefathers were of course barefooted and it is not possible to say when the sandal first found its way hither. Probably merchants trading here for tin taught the natives its use long before the Romans made it familiar. The Celts indeed were by no means the stained savages of popular ignorance; they had attained a considerable civilization in the matter of dress.

What we may term luxury of footgear did not probably take root earlier than the times of Norman influence. Under this influence some remarkable developments took place. During the time of the Plantagenets the toes of knightly shoes were turned up like rams' horns, or were drawn out to such a length that the points had to be laced to the knees. Other kinds of shoe spread out on both sides, with straight, sharp points.

They were fashioned in bright colors, sometimes different colors for each foot; jewels and precious stones were stitched upon them. Later large rosettes of colored ribbon were borrowed from France, and from Spain came the use of buskins, much worn by royalists during the civil war.

It was the sturdy sandals of the Teutonic tribes that enabled them to march across Europe to and we know that the footgear of an army is still a most important part of its equipment. Those whom the Romans called Scythians wore rough sheepskin boots, and the Gauls were already noted for their wooden soles.

THE WALLS OF ROME.

In the Far East fashions of sandal and shoe had developed from immemorial times; when our land was still in the Stone Age the lady of China had learned to squeeze her foot into deformity and wear the shoe of a small doll. The origin of this barbarism has been much debated; some say that the husbands were responsible for it, desiring their wives to be rendered incapable of rapid locomotion, that they might remain indoors and not go about in search of amusement.

CHEESE IMPROVES WITH AGE.

Newspapers report that in the Alpine regions of the Swiss cantons of Vaud and Valais cheese makers will keep their products for years. They assert that cheese improves with age. At Les Ormonts, in the canton of Vaud, it is customary to make special cheeses for certain family feasts. They are tagged with explanatory labels and eaten several years later at other feasts or even at funerals. Often such cheeses are bequeathed from one generation to another as family souvenirs. Recently at Les Ormonts in a concealed shelter there was discovered a cheese dating from 1755. It was as hard as a rock and had to be cut with a saw. It is reported to have tasted good.

THE SAFER WAY.

Instead of saving your money, prepare for a rainy day by getting an umbrella.

Tramp—"Madam, I have come out of the wilderness to locate work." Lady—"Humph! Well I can give you plenty. Chop that wood, and—" Tramp—"Beg pardon, ma'am. I said I was merely trying to locate it. Now that I know it still exists I shall return to the wilderness."

She does this by attending carefully to the duties of the household so as to leave her husband free to carry on the business of life. The true wife will sacrifice fortune and even life for the sake of her lord.

Nor is it to be understood that the Japanese man is indifferent to the noble endurance of his wife. Though exacting, he must treat his wife with consideration and sympathy. The Japanese woman is loved as a wife and honored and respected as a mother. Thus, though her lot is arduous, her life on the whole old age comes she goes ink-yo and spends her last days in peace.

Though the Japanese woman is required to be gentle above all things and to keep that spirit alive in the home, she is not a creature without courage and bravery. In old Japan when a daughter was married she brought as part of her dowry a naginate or halberd, and her dagger, and prepared to defend her husband even on the honeymoon, and to risk her life for him if need be. There are many stories of heroic women in Japan that recall

THE WOMEN OF SPARTA.

But, however loud the call to other things, the main sphere of the Japanese woman is the home. Domestic duty must remain her chief responsibility. As the Japanese are a race attaching great importance to cleanliness, the wife must see that the house is daily attended to and kept scrupulously in order and that not a speck of dust is allowed to collect anywhere within the dwelling.

In accordance with the Japanese habit of devotion there is in every home a little altar shelf, where the spirits of the ancestors receive daily homage. Before the ancestral tablets as well as before the favorite gods of the family gifts of sake or rice must be laid and prayers offered before the shrine. The wife must attend to these religious duties though all others fail.

Since the Restoration some of these old ideas have been modified somewhat. This change has been effected chiefly through the influence of Occidental philosophy and literature, and the ideas of some few of our women are becoming so Westernized that they are beginning to discuss the independence of woman and advocating the Occidental custom of having newly married couples live in houses separate from the parents.

LITTLE HELPS.

When making tomato catsup put the spices in a bag and your catsup will look like what you buy.

Always put the ground spices in a bag for any kind of pickles and they will not be discolored.

When making boiled salad dressing or custards of any kind if it curdles remove from fire and beat with the egg beater and it will be all right in a moment.

When baking a crust for lemon pie turn pie tin over and put crust on the outside of tin, bake as usual; when done turn over on a plate and you have a perfect crust. The flaky part is outside and the crusty part inside so it will not soak.

ON COAXING.

"Say," growled the young lady's father, who wanted to go to bed, "what are you coaxing her to do now—kiss you or sing?"

slow soap-bubbles."

"Much the same way my dear," said Annie. "I have great advantages as a small girl in having a father who knew how to do such things."

"Yes, indeed!" responded Mary.

"But my mother, too! She was a clever woman," continued Annie. "She taught me to put the smooth darns in my stockings. I was lucky in my parents," and Annie laughed happily.

"I'll teach you both to darn if your mother says the word," she concluded. "And now when you see a lamp chimney you'll recall what I told you about glass."

"Yes, indeed, Annie!" said Constance, admiringly; and Mary added:

"I wish our father could make lamp chimneys, Annie," which Annie felt was a very proper wish, and bade a smiling good-bye.—Youth's Companion.

IF MEN ONLY UNDERSTOOD.

(By James Allen.)

If men only understood
That the wrong act of a Brother
Should not call from them another,
But should be annulled with kindness,

That their eyes should aid his blindness,
They would find the heavenly portal
Leading on to love immortal—
If they only understood.

If men only understood
That their wrong can never smother
The wrong-doing of another;
That by hatred hate increases,
And by good all evil ceases,
They would cleanse their hearts and actions,
Banish thence all vile distractions—
If they only understood.

If men only understood
All the emptiness and aching
Of the sleeping and the waking
Of the souls they judge so blindly,
Of the hearts they pierce unkindly,
They with gentler words and feeling,
Would apply the balm of healing—
If they only understood.

If men only understood
That their hatred and resentment
Slays their peace and sweet contentment,
Hurts themselves, helps not another
Does not cheer one lonely Brother,
They would seek the better doing
Of good deeds which leaves no ruining—
If they only understood.

If men only understood
How love conquers; how prevailing
Is its might, grim hate assailing;
How compassion endeth sorrow,
Maketh wise, and doth not borrow Pain of passion; they would ever Live in love, in hatred never—
If they only understood.

Matthew xviii, 23-35.

SLOW LAD.

"That seems to be a cheerful office boy you engaged this morning," remarked the caller. "Does he belong to the 'Don't Worry Club'?" "No," responded the busy man, "I think he belongs to the 'Don't Hurry Club'."

THE HARDEST THING.

"What's the hardest thing about roller-skating when you're learning?" asked a hesitating young man of the instructor at a rink.

"The floor," answered the attendant.

"For Tea You Can't Beat Lipton's"

The Only Genuine

LIPTON'S TEA

Has This Signature on the Package.

Thomas Lipton

FIELD CROPS OF CANADA

Good Reports From Nearly Every Section of the Dominion

A despatch from Ottawa says: A Census Office bulletin issued Saturday states that the closing months of the year give good reports for nearly all of the field crops of the Dominion. Potatoes alone indicate a partial failure, and in all the Provinces there are complaints of rot in the fields and in the heaps for winter storage. The area is 503,262 acres, and the estimated yield 74,048,000 bushels. This is an average of about 147 bushels per acre, which is nearly uniform for all the Provinces.

Turnips and other field roots show a yield per acre of 402 bushels, and a total yield of 95,207,000 bushels for a crop of 236,622 acres.

Hay and clover are computed for 6,515,400 acres, and a yield per acre of 1.82 tons.

Sugar beets are grown most extensively in Ontario and Alberta, where they supply roots for three sugar factories. The area in crop this year is 16,000 acres, which is a substantial increase upon last year. The yield per acre is 9.69 tons, the total yield being 155,000 tons.

The roots supplied to the Berlin factory are testing 17 per cent. of sugar, and at the Wallaceburg factory 16 per cent., but a product of 5,000 acres in Ontario is being shipped to factories in Michigan. The product or 8,200 acres in that Province is marketed at Wallaceburg and Berlin, where the average price is about $5.86 per ton, or better than $57.50 per acre.

Computed at the average local prices, the market value of potatoes this year is $33,446,000; turnips and other roots, $21,444,000; hay and clover, $149,716,000; fodder corn, $11,957,000; sugar beets, $887,000.

The report on fall wheat sown this year shows an area of 790,300 acres, whereof 682,300 acres are in Ontario and 107,800 acres in Alberta. Last year the area was 609,200 acres for Ontario, and 98,000 in Alberta. The condition of the crop is reported at 98.40 per cent., as compared with 93.60 last year.

The per cent. of fall ploughing completed this year, compared with the area planned for, is less than last year, but the report is made for a period one month earlier. The per cent. of summer-fallowing, compared in the same way, is somewhat lower, but increases are shown for Saskatchewan and Alberta.

TWO WOMEN SHOT.

A Laborer Attacks Waitresses in Toronto Restaurant.

A despatch from Toronto says: Crazy by continued drinking and a fancied insult, James Shaw, a laborer, 25 years of age, on Monday afternoon shot and dangerously wounded two young women, waitresses in the restaurant at 233 East King-street, where he boarded. Both are in the hospital and one may not recover. Shaw was followed by a kitchen helper, who, with two other citizens, overpowered him, took away his revolver and held him for the police. He is charged with attempted murder. When Mrs. Carr, one of the women, was shot, she had her two months old sister in her arms. The women shot are Mrs. Bessie Brookes Jones, 22 years of age, 235 East King street, and Mrs. Georgina Carr, 17 farmers of the Rainy River district by the Department of Agriculture, which will be paid for by the Department of Lands, Forests and Mines. This seed, which is the best obtainable, has been sent to the owners of land which was burned over in the recent forest fires in that district. By planting it this Fall and early next year the owners of farms there will be able to have excellent pasture for their cattle and other live stock, and will not suffer as they would had they been unable to have pasture land.

KILLED BY HIS OWN GUN.

Death Came to an Essex Lad While Hunting.

A despatch from Windsor says: While hunting near Jackson, Mich., on Sunday afternoon, Henry Hall, aged eighteen, whose home is at Essex, Ont., was accidentally shot and

THE WORLD'S MARKETS

REPORTS FROM THE LEADING TRADE CENTRES.

Prices of Cattle, Grain, Cheese and Other Dairy Produce at Home and Abroad.

BREADSTUFFS.

Toronto, Nov. 15.—Flour—Winter wheat 90 per cent patents, $3.30 to $3.35 outside, in buyers' sacks. Manitoba flours—First patents, $5.70; second patents, $5.20, and strong bakers', $5, on track, Toronto.

Manitoba Wheat—No. 1 Northern, 95½¢, Bay ports, and No. 2 Northern, 92½¢, Bay ports.

Ontario Wheat—83 to 84c outside for No. 2 white and red Winter.

Barley—56 to 58c outside, and feed 50c outside.

Oats—No. 2 white, 35½ to 36c, on track, Toronto, and 32½ to 33c outside; No. 2 W. C. oats, 37½¢, Bay ports, and No. 3 at 35½¢, Bay ports.

Corn—No. 2 American yellow, 57½¢, Toronto freights; No. 2 yellow, 57c, Toronto freights; No. 3 53c, Midland.

Peas—Good No. 2, free from bugs, 55 to 57c, outside.

Rye—No. 2 at 66 to 67c outside.

Bran—Manitobas, $19 in bags, Toronto, and shorts, $22, in bags, Toronto. Ontario bran, $19, in sacks, Toronto, and shorts, $22, in bags.

COUNTRY PRODUCE.

Apples—Spies, $4; good Snows at $3 to $3.50; Baldwins and Greenings, $3.65 per barrel.

Beans—New, $1.60 to $1.70 f.o.b. per bushel, Western points. Small lots, $1.55 to $1.90.

Honey—Extracted, in tons, 10 to 11c per lb.; No. 1 comb, wholesale, $2 to $2.25 per dozen; No. 2 comb, wholesale, $1.75 to $1.85 per dozen.

Baled Hay—No. 1 at $12 to $13 on track, and No. 2 at $10.50 to $11.50.

Baled Stray—$6.00 to $7, on track Toronto.

Potatoes—Car lots, 50 to 55c per bag.

Poultry — Wholesale prices: — Chickens, alive, 11 to 12c per lb.; fowl, 9 to 10c per lb.; ducks, 11 to 12c per lb.; turkeys, 17 to 18c per lb., and geese, 11 to 13c per lb. Dressed, 1 to 2c more.

THE DAIRY MARKETS.

Butter—Dairy prints, 21 to 22c; do., tubs, 19 to 21c; inferior, 18 to 19c. Creamery, 26c per lb. for rolls, 24½ to 25c for solids, and 22 to 23c for separator prints.

Eggs—Case lots of pickled, 25 to 26c; cold storage, 25 to 27c, and strictly new laid, 30c per dozen.

Cheese—Large, 12c, and twins at 12½c.

HOG PRODUCTS.

Bacon—Long clar, 14 to 14½c per lb. in case lots; mess pork, $24 to $24.50; short cut, $27.50 to $28.

Hams—Light to medium, 18c; do., heavy, 17 to 17½c; rolls, 14½c; shoulders, 13 to 13½c; breakfast bacon, 18½ to 19c; backs (pea meal) 19 to 20c.

Lard—Tierces, 14½c; tubs, 14½c; pails, 15c.

BUSINESS IN MONTREAL.

Montreal, Nov. 15.—Oats, No. 2 Canadian Western, 39 to 39½c; ex-

HER KIDNEYS KILLING HER "FRUIT-A-TIVES" SAVES HER

Clanbrassie, Ont.

Two years ago, the doctor made forty-four calls on me and then said he had done all he could for me. I was suffering with intense Kidney Trouble and severe inflammation had set in. Two other doctors were consulted and agreed that nothing could be done to help me.

On the recommendation of a neighbor, I took "Fruit-a-tives" and they cured me. To-day, I take "Fruit-a-tives" as my only medicine. I am in excellent health and "Fruit-a-tives" is the medicine that cured me after I had been at death's door for months.

I am glad to be able to give you this testimonial. It may benefit some other woman suffering as I suffered, as I believe that I would not be alive to-day had I not used "Fruit-a-tives."

Mrs. P. E. WEBBER

"Fruit-a-tives"—the famous fruit medicine—is acknowledged the greatest kidney cure in the world. 50c a box, 6 for $2.50 trial size 25c. At dealers, or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

APPLES SCARCE.

Not in many years have apples been as scarce as they are this fall. No authority has as yet solved the question as to why there are fewer apples this year. Some say there is a decrease in the average grown. Others say "Off season," or some other equally plausible excuse.

While there are probably fewer apples, yet the quantity in many districts is vastly improved. This statement is made by the Director of Fruit Experiment Stations, F. W. Hodgetts, who is also Secretary of the Ontario Horticultural Exhibition. Mr. Hodgetts assures us that there will be an exceptionally fine lot of fruit at this year's Exhibition. Some counties alone will send as many as 200 barrels of apples.

It is rather surprising that in seven years this Exhibition has become known throughout America as the one place where a person can see perfect fruit in abundance. The Railway Companies have recognized its importance, by granting single fare rates to Toronto from all stations east of Port Arthur.

The dates of this year's exhibition are from November 15th to 19th. Thousands of persons from all points in Eastern Canada visit Toronto each year to see the best Canada produces in Fruit, Flowers and Honey.

STANDARDS FOR MILK.

Government Preparing to Enforce Pure Food Laws.

A despatch from Ottawa says: An order in Council has been passed establishing new standards under the adulteration act of the Inland Revenue Department for milk and its products. These new standards, together with those recently promulgated for meal and grain products, will become operative after the necessary advertisement for thirty days in The Canada Gazette, and will enable the department hereafter to proceed on a well-defined legal basis with the prosecution of any firms found guilty of adulterating food products. Hitherto

MUST

All B

A d Accor lations on No
the d quali immig who h in thi and these same.
again countr notifi by the
the Ca ciation day on pensat try by this si

F

Grim

A de says: 'Manan condit perien stated from t situati ter elc hardsh large i that tween be mis be fore going Most dock f

LANI

Passer

A de
A rocl line of
of Gol on We result both were t with t been i fact i practic few h about borers
the fir

TH

Lawre

A c

Sask., young lock-u ing a orderl gradu
Dublin
brillia served fore co cently monto throug er her his de

SHOT

Suicid

The
New Y
The dered pier br Bellevi
Rach Selkirk hind a who w her ass

MUST HAVE FIFTY DOLLARS.

All British Immigrants Affected by New Regulation.

A despatch from Toronto says: According to new Dominion regulations which will come into effect on Nov. 30, the order permitting the dispensation with the money qualifications of $25 in the case of immigrants from the British Isles who have been assured employment in this country will be rescinded, and the money qualification for these has been raised to $50, the same as has been put into effect against immigrants from other countries. This is the purport of a notification which is being sent out by the Parliamentary Committee of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association to the members. The last day on which the above cards of dispensation issued in the Old Country by officials will be honored on this side is Dec. 10.

FISHERIES A FAILURE.

Grim Want Faces the Dwellers on Grand Manan.

A despatch from St. John, N. B., says: With the failure of the Grand Manan fisheries, the Island faces conditions that have not been experienced in a decade, and it was stated on Friday by schooner men from the fishing grounds that the situation is serious, with the winter close at hand, and that much hardship will be experienced. A large number of the little schooners that engage in the fish trade between here and Grand Manan will be missing this winter, as they will be forced into other channels, some going out of commission altogether. Most of them will engage in had-dock fishing off the north shore.

LANDSLIDE ON THE C. P. R.

Passenger Trains Held Up in Rocky Mountains.

A despatch from Vancouver says: A rock and landslide on the main line of the C. P. R., two miles east of Golden, in the Rockies, occurred on Wednesday afternoon, and as a result several hundred passengers, both eastbound and westbound, were tied up. This interference with train schedules would not have been so great were it not for the fact that two slides occurred in practically the same place within a few hours, the second coming just about the time a large gang of laborers were finished clearing away the first. Nobody was injured.

THE PENALTY OF DRINK.

Lawrence Ryan Dies in Police Cells at Saskatoon.

A despatch from Saskatoon, Sask., says: Lawrence Ryan, the young man who died in the police lock-up here last Thursday after being arrested as a drunk and disorderly, has been found to be a graduate of London University and Dublin Medical College. He had a brilliant career as a student, and served in the London hospitals before coming to Canada. He was recently Medical Health Officer at Edmonton, but lost the position through drink. He contracted fever here, and unsteady habits led to his death from heart failure.

SHOT HIMSELF AT WINNIPEG.

Suicide of Man Supposed to be

ROYAL YEAST CAKES

MOST PERFECT MADE

We know and users of Royal Yeast Cakes know that these are the best goods of the kind in the World. Bread made with Royal Yeast will keep moist and fresh longer than that made with any other. Do not experiment—there is no other "just as good."

E. W. GILLETT CO. LTD. Toronto, Ont.
Awarded highest honors at all Expositions.

Winnipeg

No. 25

Montreal

MADE IN CANADA

Dominion Steel Corporation Limited

FIVE-YEAR 5 PER CENT. DEBENTURES

Due 1st November, 1915

Interest payable 1st May and November

We recommend these securities and offer at a price to net the purchaser 6% interest.

If you are considering an investment, write us for circular fully descriptive of this issue.

DOMINION SECURITIES CORPORATION LIMITED.

26 KING STREET TORONTO.

LONDON ENG.

CANADA LIFE BLDG., MONTREAL.

CONDENSED NEWS ITEMS

HAPPENINGS FROM ALL OVER THE GLOBE.

Telegraphic Briefs From Our Own and Other Countries of Recent Events.

CANADA.

Practical methods will be adopted by the Government to fight forest fires.

A man named Chapman was drowned in attempting to cross the Matagami River on the ice.

The London Trades and Labor Council will nominate a slate for the municipal elections.

An English syndicate has arranged a five-million-dollar lumber merger in British Columbia.

Abraham Aaron of Hamilton was swindled out of $160 by a pair of bogus diamond sharpers.

The Fort William Trades and Labor Council have prepared a ticket for the municipal elections.

The Government has taken up with Mr. Hays the case of the striking trainmen who have not yet been reinstated.

The naval station at Esquimaux was formally handed over to the Canadian Government on Wednesday.

The Owen Sound & Meaford Railway Co. is applying for power to construct a line from Southampton to Orillia.

The Coroner's jury at Montreal returned a verdict holding F. J. Perrault, Albert Chevrier and Peoples' Popular Packages

"MELAGAMA" TEA AND COFFEE

Win Popular Favor Everywhere on their Merits

FOOD PRICES ARE LOWER

Everything Is On the Down Grade---Cereals Are Working Towards a Lower Basis

A despatch from Kansas City, Mo., says: That food prices have reached their climax and now are on the down grade is a belief of meat packers in Kansas City and other packing centres. Dealers in produce and other food supplies say the same thing.

Chas. W. Armour, head of the Armour interests in Kansas City, said Friday: "General food prices are working towards a lower basis. The cereals are getting down. People are going to take advantage of lower prices and that will bring a stored their crops rather than sell them at good prices early in the season, and finally lost out in the Spring. This year, he said, they were profiting by their experience, and are selling their products to consumers at reasonable profits, not taking chances on larger or smaller profits.

Just how soon the lower prices were to come Mr. Armour said he did not know.

"But we will welcome the time," he said, "for no dealer finds it a pleasure to sell stuff at such a high price as each has been bidding for."

served in the London hospitals before coming to Canada. He was recently Medical Health Officer at Edmonton, but lost the position through drink. He contracted fever here, and unsteady habits led to his death from heart failure.

SHOT HIMSELF AT WINNIPEG.

Suicide of Man Supposed to be From Hamilton.

A despatch from Winnipeg says: A well-dressed and apparently highly-educated man of sixty or sixty-five, who registered at the Commercial Hotel on Tuesday as W. B. Allen of Hamilton, Ont., committed suicide on Friday night by placing a revolver in his mouth and firing one shot. The police and Coroner declare they have no knowledge of the man's identity, as the suicide had no baggage and no papers on his person. He had been drinking heavily.

51 MAJORITY FOR DEMOCRATS.

Latest U. S. Election Returns Show Future Composition.

A despatch from New York says: According to the election returns, the next House will be Democratic by a majority of 52. There will be 221 Democrats, 109 Republicans, and one Socialist, as compared with 217 Republicans and 173 Democrats in the present House. Votes in Legislatures in one or two States are still very close, but the returns indicate pretty certainly that the next United States Senate will have a Republican majority of 12. The Republican majority in the present Senate is 25, allowing for one vacancy. It is apparent, therefore, that the Republicans in the upper branch of Congress, while possessing an absolute voting majority will be skating on thin ice, which is likely to crack and let them be altogether in 1912, unless the Democratic drift is checked.

The strike of express drivers in New York has been settled.

The Railway Commission has ordered the C. N. R. to build a five pier bridge over the Moira River at Belleville.

Rachel Sinclair, a young girl of Selkirk, Man., was found dead behind a woodpile. A young man who went to bring her mother to her assistance is under arrest.

UNIQUE POSITION

Miles of Inland Navigation ns Are Carried Out

says: Public matter of the world in the matter of water transportation. A thirty-foot navigation (soon to be thirty-five) from the sea to Montreal, a distance of nearly 1,000 miles; a fourteen-foot channel from Montreal to Fort William, something over 1,200 miles; nine-foot navigation from Winnipeg to Cedar Lake, and from there to the Rocky Mountains four to five foot navigation, over a distance of 1,500 miles, a total of approximately 3,300 miles of actual inland waterway traversing the greater part of the northern half of this continent, the only break in the chain being 400 miles from Fort William to Winnipeg.

The naval station at Esquimaux was formally handed over to the Canadian Government on Wednesday.

The Owen Sound & Meaford Railway Co. is applying for power to construct a line from Southampton to Orillia.

The Coroner's jury at Montreal returned a verdict holding F. J. Perrault, Albert Chevrier and Achille Derome criminally responsible for the death of thirteen-year-old Cecile Michaud.

GREAT BRITAIN.

Cable rates for uncoded messages will shortly be reduced about one-half.

The London Daily Chronicle says the general election in Britain will be over by December 20th.

Sir Vezev Strong, the new Lord Mayor of London, took the oath of office on Wednesday.

The disturbed colliery districts in Wales have been the scene of wild disorder, buildings being stormed and stores looted.

Mr. Austen Chamberlain, speaking at Wigan, told his hearers that a tax of two shillings on corn would not bring dearer bread.

The British Veto Conference has ended in failure, and it is believed that a general election will be brought on next month or in January.

UNITED STATES.

Senator Clay of Georgia is dead. An aeroplane defeated a horse in a mile race at Norfolk, Va.

Smallpox is reported in thirty localities in fourteen counties of Michigan.

The threatened strike of Philadelphia street car men has been averted.

President Taft left to visit the Panama Canal on Wednesday.

Six persons were killed at Kalanazoo when a Michigan Central train crashed into a street car, on Saturday.

GENERAL.

The President of Cuba has recommended a revision of the Island's tariff.

The Republic of Portugal has been recognized by most of the powers.

Twelve persons were killed by troops in a riot at Leon, Nicaragua.

Prince Victor Napoleon Bonaparte was married near Turin, Italy, on Monday, to Princess Clementine, daughter of the late King Leopold of Belgium.

QUEBEC BARRACKS FIGHT.

One Soldier Dying and Another Locked Up in a Cell.

A despatch from Quebec says: Sapper Johnston was found lying in a pool of blood at the Engineers' Office in the Jeb Redoubt at the Citadel, Wednesday morning, with his face beaten to a jelly, an ear almost completely torn off, and other serious wounds. His recovery is doubtful. Gunner Dinning, who was found in a state of intoxication in the same room, hanging out of one of the windows with his hands besmeared with blood, is locked up in a cell in the guard-room.

Shiloh's Cure
quickly stops coughs, cures colds, heals the throat and lungs. . . . 25 cents.

meat packers in Kansas City and other packing centres. Dealers in produce and other food supplies say the same thing.

Chas. W. Armour, head of the Armour interests in Kansas City, said Friday: "General food prices are working towards a lower basis. The cereals are getting down. People are going to take advantage of lower prices and that will have a tendency to relieve the stringency in meat prices, especially pork."

Mr. Armour said many a grower of fruit and potatoes last year were profiting by their experience, and are selling their products to consumers at reasonable profits, not taking chances on larger or smaller profits.

Just how soon the lower prices were to come Mr. Armour said he did not know.

"But we will welcome the time," he said, "for no dealer finds it a pleasure to sell stuff at such a high price as pork has been bringing for several weeks. When the packer has to pay 8, 9, 10, and 11 cents for live hogs, what has he got to say about prices."

WOUNDED DEER USED FEET.

Two Hunters Injured, and One May Lose His Eyesight.

A despatch from Cornwall says: James Dudley and Henry Packard shot a fine big buck in the South Meadows district, on the south side of the St. Lawrence, and when the former attempted to cut the animal's throat it kicked out and Dudley got a blow in the eye, which may blind him for life. Packard rushed in with his knife as the deer struggled to its feet, but received a kick which broke his kneecap and tore his trousers. The deer escaped.

GREATEST WARSHIP IN WORLD

British Admiralty Invites Tenders for New Armored Cruiser.

A despatch from London says: The Admiralty has invited tenders from Clyde shipbuilders for the construction of a large armored cruiser with speed and gun power surpassing any vessel in the British navy.

TRUSTS BRITISH TROOPS

Sir John French Makes a Rousing Speech at Mansion House Banquet

A despatch from London says: At the Mansion House banquet on Wednesday evening Sir John French made a rousing speech, defending the British forces against the recent criticisms of Colonel Gadke, a German officer. He declared he would gladly and confidently rely on British soldiers to meet forces more numerous than themselves. Then he turned to a topic which he described as a more pleasant and more congenial one, and referred to how much the army appreciated the presence of the Queen's Own Rifles at the manoeuvres. He was only echoing the heartfelt wish of every soldier, he said, in expressing the earnest hope that such interchanges of troops might become frequent. Regarding his visit of inspection to Canada, words failed him to express how highly he estimated the splendid energy and high Imperial spirit apparent everywhere in the Canadian forces.

A SURPLUS OF $21,505,913

Dominion Public Accounts Issued For the Last Fiscal Year

A despatch from Ottawa says: The Public Accounts for the last fiscal year were issued in blue book form on Thursday. The main figures as to revenue and expenditure were published last summer, showing a total expenditure on consolidated fund account amounting to $79,411,747, with a total revenue of $101,503,710, leaving a surplus of $21,505,913.

Details as to the total expenditure of $29,756,353 on capital account include the following:— On railways, $21,505,912, including $19,968,064 for the National Transcontinental Railway; $1,278,409 on the Intercolonial, and $53,042 on the survey for the Hudson Bay Railway.

On canals $1,650,706, of which $1,000,000 was spent on the Trent Canal.

On Public Works, $1,511,555, of which Port Arthur and Fort William harbors took $1,021,999; the St. Lawrence ship canal, $1,011,957, and Red River improvements, $599,995.

Militia capital expenditure totalled $1,299,970.

During the year railway subsidies were paid to the amount of $2,048,097. Bounties totalled $2,414,171, the details being as follows:— Iron and steel, $1,508,533; lead, 340,542; binder twine, $81,506, and crude petroleum, $203,588.

The sum of $100,000 was received from the Phoenix Bridge Company in respect of the collapse of the Quebec bridge and the failure of the company to perform its contract. This amount has been deducted from the $6,424,781 hitherto standing in the books as a charge against the Quebec bridge.

The Napanee Express

E. J. POLLARD.

EDITOR and PROPRIETOR.

PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY.

All local reading notices or notices announcing entertainments at which a fee is charged for admission, will be charged 50 per line for each insertion if in ordinary type. In black type the rate will be 75 per line each insertion.

E. & J. HARDY & CO.

Advertising Contractors and News Correspondents.

Fleet Street, London, E. C., England.

A file of this paper can be seen free of charge by visitors to London, to whom advice gratis will be given, if required.

TO OUR SUBSCRIBERS.

CHANGE OF CLUB RATES.

On and after 1st December, 1904, the following will be the Club Rates:

THE NAPANEE EXPRESS and the Weekly Globe.....	$1.75
THE NAPANEE EXPRESS and the Family Herald and Weekly Star.....	$1.75
THE NAPANEE EXPRESS and the Semi-Weekly Whig.....	$1.75
THE NAPANEE EXPRESS and the Weekly Witness.....	$1.75
THE NAPANEE EXPRESS and the Weekly Sun.....	$1.75
Any three of the above papers.....	$2.40
THE NAPANEE EXPRESS and the Daily Toronto Star.....	$2.25

60 YEARS' EXPERIENCE

PATENTS

TRADE MARKS
DESIGNS
COPYRIGHTS &c.

Anyone sending a sketch and description may quickly ascertain our opinion free whether an invention is probably patentable. Communication strictly confidential. HANDBOOK on Patents sent free. Oldest agency for securing patents. Patents taken through MUNN & Co. receive special notice, without charge, in the Scientific American.

A handsomely illustrated weekly. Largest circulation of any scientific journal. Terms for Canada, $3.75 a year, postage prepaid. Sold by all newsdealers.

MUNN & Co. 361 Broadway, New York
Branch Office, 625 F St., Washington, D. C.

Cambridge's Bakery and Confectionery

THE SIGN OF GOOD BREAD.

is the eagerness with which people eat it. Try a loaf of ours on your table.

YOU WILL BE SURPRISED

how quickly it will disappear, even though your family are not generally big bread eaters. That's a sign the bread is much better than they are used to getting. It is no reflection on you that our bread is better

For Coughs and Colds

Troubled with a cough? A hard cold, bronchitis, or some chronic lung trouble? There is a medicine made for just these cases—Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. Your doctor knows all about it. Ask him what he thinks of it. No medicine can ever take the place of your doctor. Keep in close touch with him, consult him frequently, trust him fully. No alcohol in this cough medicine. J.C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

Ayer's Pills. Sugar-coated. All vegetable. Act directly on the liver. Gently laxative. Dose, only one pill. Sold for nearly sixty years. Ask your doctor about them.

A Bonnie Name and True For the Highlands of Scotland.

The west highlands of Scotland may truly be called the home of the rainbow, says a writer in The London Queen, for there you will see them at any time of the year, and in no other part of the world can they be seen in more perfect form and hue.

On a wild autumn day, with the west or southwest wind blowing the clouds up across the sun, I have seen one rainbow follow another in quick succession. A perfect arch of palpitating color becomes suddenly visible and frames the blue black mountains, which sit hunched at the top of the loch, gathering the storms round their great shoulders and hurling them down on to the foam white waters. At other times the bow shimmers across the sullen sky with both its ends resting on the water—a veritable gateway into fairyland.

Even when the rainbows are not visible in this part of the world it seems as if they had spilled their colors on the woods and hills. When the clouds lift and the belated sun shines over mountain and loch the effect is almost as dazzling as the rainbow itself.

In heather time the hills are wine colored on their lower slopes, while their tops are a deep indigo blue, standing out in strong contrast to the clear pale sky. Nearer at hand there is every shade of color from warm amethyst to the soft bloom of a purple plum.

Later in the year the hills are chequered with the pale gold of ripe grain, the red brown of withered heather, the rusty glow of bracken and the still vivid green of pasture fields, while the trees show every imaginable shade of hot color and seem to vie with each other in their efforts to defy the approaching gloom of winter.

The waters of the sea lochs, which add so much to the beauty of rainbow land, are tinted with all the shades of blue, gray and green and at sunset glow with colors which rival the hues of the rainbow. The leaves fall and spread their brightness on the ground remorsefully. The passionate autumn rains awaken the burns, which slept during the summer, and the air is filled with the hoarse cry of many waters.

The dwellers in this rainbow land fall into the habit of looking up to see if the arch of color is visible, and even if it is not there the attitude of hope cannot fail to uplift, and the consciousness that the rainbow is not far off never quite leaves them.

Whooping Cough

CROUP ASTHMA COUGHS
BRONCHITIS CATARRH COLDS

Vapo-Cresolene

ESTABLISHED 1879
A simple, safe and effective treatment for bronchial troubles, avoiding drugs. Vaporized Cresolene stops the paroxysms of Whooping Cough and relieves croup at once. It is a boon to sufferers from Asthma. The air rendered strongly antiseptic, inspired with every breath, makes breathing easy; soothes the sore throat and stops the cough, assuring restful nights. It is invaluable to mothers with young children.

What Other Papers Say.

Halifax Chronicle.

Mr. Bourassa is needlessly concerned about the mere matter of loyalty. The Tory organs which denounced his campaign as "vicious, incendiary and anti-British in the extreme" are now ready to take him to their bosom.

Woodstock Sentinel-Review.

It is gratifying to learn that there is to be no patronage list in connection with the supplies required for the new Canadian navy. All the supplies, we are informed, will be purchased in the open market. This is, of course, as it should be; but it may tend to cool the enthusiasm of some aspiring patriots, who are accustomed to find good patriotism to be good business.

Toronto Globe.

For the first time in its history the Government of Canada controls every foot of Canadian soil.

The Esquimaux dockyard was the last bit of property held by the British Admiralty in the Dominion. The relation between the motherland and her daughter nations were never more harmonious and trustful than they are today.

Lethbridge Herald.

A fair fall is one of the best institutions a town can have, even though it may be necessarily small at the beginning. The fair will grow as the community grows and will help it to grow. There is no better means of getting the people together to know each other, and to compare their accomplishments, than by means of a fair. A fair increases the booster spirit and the confidence in the resources of the country.

Kington Standard (Con.)

The United States election should effectually end the reciprocity negotiations. Canada need not move one step now. The people of the United States clearly are tired of the present high tariff, and we may be sure steps will shortly be taken to reduce the American tariff wall—and this without Canada giving any quid pro quo. Canada will thus be saved the necessity of pulling the American chestnuts out of the fire. It is their funeral, not ours.

Simcoe Reformer.

The defeat of the Laurier candidate in the Drummond bye-election is serious enough, but it is possible to place undue emphasis upon it. The attempt of some Tories to magnify it into a notice to Sir Wilfrid Laurier to quit, is laughable. By whom is he to be succeeded? Certainly not by Borden. He had no candidate in the field and afraid to open his mouth during the campaign. Is his position so easy as to make the result in Drummond a matter for exultation throughout Canadian Toryism? Mr. Borden must speak, must take sides, if the Bourassa campaign is continued. Sir Wilfrid Captain and Parson.

"Can you box the compass, captain?" asked a clergyman, passing up the lakes on one of the C.P.R. boats.

"Ever since I was so high," laughed the captain; "learned it with my A B C's."

"Let's hear you," pleaded the clergyman.

The captain began at the north and ran around—north, north by east, nor-nor-east, nor-east by north, north-east etc., so quickly that the clergyman was deeply impressed. He looked admiringly at the captain for a moment and then said, hopefully:

"Captain, can you box the compass backwards?"

"Sure," said the captain. "Start from wherever you like—frontwards or backwards."

"Let's hear you," pleaded the clergyman again, as though it were music.

"North, north by west, nor-nor-west, nor-west by north—" the captain ran around the compass again backwards with the facility he had traveled the other way.

"And now," said he, when finished, "you are a minister. Can you recite the Ten Commandments?"

"Yes," acknowledged the clergyman, smiling, "I can."

"Well, we'll see who's best up in his profession," declared the captain.

"Let's hear you recite the Ten Commandments backwards."

The preacher seniged.

Circumstantial Evidence.

"Do I believe in circumstantial evidence?" repeated a lawyer to the question the other day. "I most assuredly do if the evidence is anything like the evidence in a story I heard recently."

"A young and pretty girl had been out walking. On her return her mother said:

"Where have you been, my dear?"

"Only walking in the park," she replied.

"With whom?"

"No one," mamma," said the young girl.

"No one?" her mother repeated.

"No one?" was the reply.

"Then," said the mother, "explain how it is that you have come home with a walking stick when you started out with an umbrella."

All Kinds of Miles.

The English speaking peoples have four different miles—viz, the ordinary mile of 5,280 feet, the geographical or nautical mile of 6,080 feet, the Scotch mile of 5,929 feet and the Irish mile of 6,720 feet.

The German mile is 24,318 feet in length, more than four and one-half times as long as ours. The Dutch mile is 19,295 feet, the Danes have one of 24,875 feet, and the Prussians one of 24,856 feet. The Swiss mile is 27,459 feet in length.

The Italian mile is only a few feet longer than our own, the Roman mile is shorter, and the Tuscan and Turkish miles attain some 450 feet more. The Vienna post mile is 25,037 feet in length.

Bury Your Troubles.

Train yourself to keep your troubles to yourself. Don't pour them out upon acquaintances or strangers. It isn't their fault if you have troubles, and they don't want to hear of yours, because they have so many of their own. And, besides—here is a point to consider—if you insist on telling other people of your grievances they will at length come to dislike and shun you, because thereby you prevent them from telling their troubles.

Used in Canada for
over half a century
—used in every corner

THE SIGN OF GOOD BREAD.
is the eagerness with which people eat it.
Try a loaf of ours on your table.

YOU WILL BE SURPRISED
how quickly it will disappear, even though your family are not generally big bread eaters. That's a sign the bread is much better than they are used to getting. It is no reflection on you that our bread is better than that you take. It ought to be. We bake hundreds of loaves where you bake one. And the practice has made us perfect.

W. M. CAMBRIDGE,

Next door Robinson Co.
'Phone 96. Napanee.

Synopsis of Canadian Northwest Land Regulations.

ANY person who is the sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead
a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Disposition Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the district. Entry by proxy may be made at any agency, on certain conditions, by father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister of intending homesteader.

Duties—Six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years.
A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres solely owned and occupied by him or his father, mother, son, daughter, brother or sister.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section along side his homestead. Price, $300 per acre.
Duties—Must reside six months in each of six years from date of homestead entry including the time required to earn homestead patent and cultivate fifty acres extra.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $300 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate fifty acres and erect a house worth $500.00.

W. W. CORY,

Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

N. B.—Unauthorized publication of this advertisement will not be paid for. 2-6m

Kingston Business College

Limited, Ltd.

KINGSTON, CANADA.

"Highest Education at Lowest Cost."

Twenty-Six year.
Fall term begins August 30th.
Courses in Book keeping, Shorthand, Telegraphy, Civil Service and English.
Our graduates get the best positions.
Within a short time over sixty secured positions with one of the largest railway corporations in Canada at good salaries.
Enter any time.
Call or write for information.

H. F. METCALFE,

Principal.

Vapo-Cresolene

ESTABLISHED 1876

A simple, safe and effective treatment for bronchial troubles, avoiding drugs. Vaporized Cres-olene stops the paroxysms of Whooping Cough and relieves croup at once. It is a boon to sufferers from Asthma. The air rendered strongly antiseptic, inspired with every breath, makes breathing easy; soothes the sore throat and stops the cough, assuring restful nights. It is invaluable to mothers with young children.
Send us postal for descriptive booklet. 309

ALL DRUGGISTS

Try Cresolene Antiseptic Throat Tablets for the irritated throat. They are simple, effective and antiseptic.
Of your druggist or from us, 10c. in stamps.

Vapo Cresolene Co.
Leeming-Miles Bldg.
MONTREAL

D. McCLEW,

PUBLIC ACCOUNTANT.

REAL ESTATE, INSURANCE, Books Audited, Accounts Collected
MONEY TO LOAN.

MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY, of New York
Assets $540,000,000.

THE FIDELITY and CASUALTY
COMPANY, of New York.

Insures against ANY ACCIDENT or ANY SICKNESS.

Agency for the Best Fire Companies, including—

LIVERPOOL & LONDON & GLOBE
INSURANCE CO.
Cash Assets $35,000,000.

MERCANTILE FIRE COMPANY
Capital and Assets $21,700,000.

INSURANCE OF HORSES—and o her live stock against loss by death; from accident, disease, fire and lightning;
also disablement allowances.

FIDELITY BONDING—Employers Liability, Boiler and Fly-Wheel, Burglary, Plate Glass, Marine Insurance, Motor Boats, Automobiles, etc.

CALL OR WRITE,

OFFICE, Grange Block, John Street.
Napanee, P. O. Box 186.

The Belleville Business College has thousands of graduates throughout Canada and the United States. It has furnished four teachers for the largest American Business Colleges and two are teachers in Canadian Colleges. Every member of the Spring Class obtained good positions. Over one hundred graduates have good positions in the City of Belleville. Write for our new Catalogue with photographs of spring classes.

Address the

BELLEVILLE BUSINESS COLLEGE,
Limited.

Box B, Belleville, Ont.

F. E. O'FLYNN, B.A., Managing Director

succeeded? Certainly not by Borden.
He had no candidate in the field and afraid to open his mouth during the campaign. Is his position so easy as to make the result in Drummond a matter for exultation throughout Canadian Toryism? Mr. Borden must speak, must take sides, if the Bourassa campaign is continued. Sir Wilfrid says he will stay by his undertakings with Britain and the Canadian navy is to be proceeded with. Mr. Borden will some day have to choose a part and stick to it. He has switched around on the navy question, about all the people of Canada are prepared to stand for.

Windsor Record.

Uncle Sam's reciprocity ambassadors have gone home and it is announced that negotiations will be renewed in January at Washington. There is no hurry now as far as Canada is concerned, although the Canadian representatives can have a very pleasant visit at Washington after New Year's.
Things are different now. In Sir John
A. Macdonald's day Canada's messengers had a chilly reception and a curt leave-taking. Now, although they return just about as empty as before, they come away with a pleasant sensation in their stomachs while their dignity and self-esteem are intact.
The need has passed for tedious negotiation, however. The people over there have spoken on the tariff question and Canada will be able to make a much better bargain at less cost. Already the Democratic leaders in the coming lower House have said that tariff reduction will at once be undertaken, gradually but scientifically.

Monoton Transcript.

There will be little comfort in the election returns from the United States for high protectionists, either in that country or in Canada, or for so-called tariff reformers in the British Isles.
The Democratic victories cannot justly be ascribed to the excellence of the Democratic policy, because there were no special promises set forth. The electoral results seem to be a revolt against the tendency of protection to foster trusts and also high prices in the cost of living. It is along the Atlantic coasts and in the New England States the former Republican and protectionist's strongholds that the reaction seems to be strongest. It is there exist the most marked aspirations for freer trade relations with the great and growing country which lies to the north of the United States frontier. It is too early yet to analyze the electoral details, but sufficient can be gleaned to show that the revolt is with varying degrees of strength more or less distributed throughout the length and breadth of the republic.

On Time.

By the time a Chinese boy is five years old his mother has got a wife picked out for him, and, though he may never see her until he is a young man, he is expected to marry her when he is eighteen. If he doesn't the la wsteps in and wants to know what's the matter. There are no bachelors in China. They must marry or come over to America to do laundry work.

Wood Pulp.

One ton of mechanical or half a ton of chemical pulp is the average yield of a cord of wood.

CASTORIA

For Infants and Children.

The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Dr. J. C. Peck

from telling their troubles.

Used in Canada for
over half a century
—used in every corner
of the world where people suffer from Constipation and its resulting troubles—

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills,

stand higher in public estimation than any others, and their ever-increasing sales prove their merit. Physicians prescribe them.

25c. a box.

15,000 Ca
Have Dou

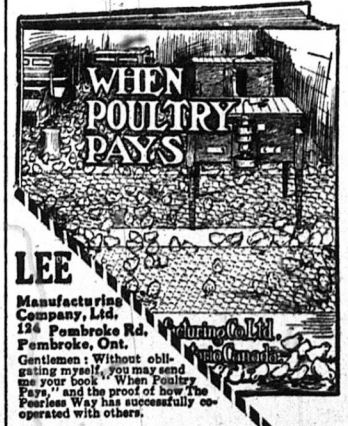

THE PEERLESS

What these poultrymen have done you the crop that never fails—the crop that that deter you; you will have fewer for-lead you to success. Or, if you have I show you how to systematize your enter-of poultry-raising—even though you be investigate The Peerless Way for yourthis, whether you are simply a beginner

FREE This Book With The Complete Story Of The Peerless Way

Simply cut out the coupon and send it to us. Then when you get the book, read it at least twice. You will find it packed full of facts about raising poultry for profit. There is no clear writing nor empty theory about the book. When Poultry Pays; but it certainly does clear up a whole host of problems that have long and often puzzled practical poultrymen. Let this book put its plain, terse facts before you, let it tell you why and how you can cut The Peerless Way to work to make money for you. Do not put it off —there is no time like the present for increasing your knowledge.

Send Us The Coupon

LEE

Manufacturing Company, Ltd.
124 Pembroke Rd.,
Pembroke, Ont.

Gentlemen: Without obligating myself, you may send me your book "When Poultry Pays," and the proof of new Peerless Way has successfully co-operated with others.

Name.....
Address.....
Town..... Province.....

Robert Light

DEALER IN—

Lumber, Lath, Shingles,
and Cedar Posts.

MANUFACTURER OF—

Tanks, and all kinds of Sash Factory & Planing Mill Goods

Cordwood and Blocks for sale.

Telephone 53.

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over 30 years, has borne the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations and "Just-as-good" are but Experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experience against Experiment.

What is CASTORIA

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is Pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other Narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. It destroys Worms and allays Feverishness. It cures Diarrhoea and Wind Colic. It relieves Teething Troubles, cures Constipation and Flatulency. It assimilates the Food, regulates the Stomach and Bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. The Children's Panacea—The Mother's Friend.

GENUINE CASTORIA ALWAYS

Bears the Signature of

Chas. H. Fletcher

The Kind You Have Always Bought

In Use For Over 30 Years.

THE CENTAUR COMPANY, 77 MURRAY STREET, NEW YORK CITY

Curing Catarrh

Accept Our Advice and Try This Remedy at Our Risk.

Catarrh is a disease of the mucous membrane. The mucous membrane is, one may say, the interior lining of the body. Catarrh therefore may exist in any part of the system.

When the catarrhal poison attacks the mucous membrane, inflammation and congestion are produced and nature fails to throw off the accumulated poisons. The organ which has been afflicted ceases to perform its proper function as nature intended it should. The result is, complication upon complication, which may lead to other even more serious afflictions.

We honestly believe Rexall Mucuo-Tone will do wonders toward overcoming catarrh. It is made from the prescription of an eminent physician who made a long study of catarrh, and his great success with this remedy was an enviable one.

We want you if you are a sufferer from catarrh in any form, to give Rexall Mucuo-Tone a thorough trial. Use it with regularity and persistency for a reasonable time, then if not satisfied, come back and tell us, and without question or formality we will hand back to you every cent you paid us. This is certainly the fairest offer that any one could make and should attest our sincerity of purpose. It comes in two sizes, prices 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain it only at—The Rexall Store.—T. B. Wallace.

The Wonderful Banana.

Some people believe that the banana was the original forbidden fruit of the garden of Eden. In any case, it is one of the curiosities of the vegetable kingdom, being not a tree, a palm, a bush, a shrub, a vegetable or an herb, but a herbaceous plant with the status of a tree. Although it sometimes attains a height of thirty feet, there is no woody fiber in any part of its structure, and the bunches growing on the dwarf banana plant are often heavier than the stalk which supports them. No other plant gives such a quantity of food to the acre as the banana. It yields forty-four times more by weight than the potato and 133 times more than wheat. Moreover, no insect will attack it, and it is always immune from disease of any kind.

Lycurgus.

Lycurgus, the legislator of Sparta, flourished about 898 B.C. On the death of his brother Polydectes, Lycurgus resolved to hold the sovereignty in trust in case the widow should be delivered of a son, which, proving to be the fact, the faithful guardian carefully administered the government till his nephew became of age. After this he traveled to study the laws of other countries, and on his return he established that system which distinguished Sparta from every state in the world. Having bound the people to observe this institution, he left Lacedaemon and is supposed to have died in Certe.

The Low C.

STAGE BUSINESS.

A Trying First Appearance and an Unrehearsed Funny Act.

Mr. Lyn Harding, a popular English actor, made a most trying first appearance on the stage. He played the part of a servant, and all he had to say was "The duke as arrived" and take off the stage a plate of desert which was on the table.

But when he got down to the theatre in the evening he found that the livery he had to wear was made for a man considerably smaller than himself. Still, as there was no other costume, he had to put it on. When he went on the stage the serviette he carried on his arm fell to the floor, and as he did not like to leave it there he stooped to pick it up.

Unfortunately his breeches were so tight that it was impossible for him to stoop low, and ominous cracks reminded him that the seams of his garments were not too firm and persistence in his efforts might be disastrous.

It was a case for strategy, and so he stooped a little first one way and then the other in the vain attempt to accomplish his object without damage to his clothing. With each ineffectual effort the audience roared with laughter. Standing in the wings was the low comedian ready to come on, who naturally saw his efforts being discounted by this unrehearsed effect which was having so great a success. "Leave the stage and come off," he whispered. This, however, was the one thing the novice felt he could not do. He persisted in his attempts to take up the serviette, to the increasing delight of the public.

At last a happy idea struck him. He got one foot under the serviette, kicked it up into the air and neatly caught it as it fell, a feat which drew enthusiastic applause, redoubled as the actor left the stage. As he reached the comedian he was received with a volley of abuse. The novice's sup of bitterness was full. Presently the manager, however, arrived in ecstasy. "That's one of the funniest things I've ever seen in my life!" he cried. "Please do that business the rest of the week! It's great!"

Lax-ets 5 C Sweet to Eat

A Candy Bowel Laxative.

Prevent and Relieve Headache

"It gives me great pleasure to be able to refer to 'Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills as the best remedy we have yet had in our house for the prevention and cure of headache. My wife who has been a constant sufferer for a number of years with above complaint joins me in the hope that they may fall into the hands of all sufferers."

JOHN BUSH,
Watervleit, Me.

Used Them Four Years.

"Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills are the best I ever tried for the relief of headache. I have used them for nearly four years and they never fail to give me relief. I have tried many other remedies, but have never found any better."

JOSEPH FRANKOWICK,
854 Trombly Av., Detroit, Mich.
There is no remedy that will more quickly relieve any form of headache than

HERRINGTON, WARNER & GRANGE.

Barristers, etc.

MONEY TO LOAN AT LOW RATE

Office—Warner Block, Opposite Post Office.

T. B. GERMAN,

Barrister and Solicitor,

MONEY TO LOAN AT LOWEST RATES.

OFFICE: Grange Block, 60 John Street
Napanea

R. A. LEONARD, M.D., C.P.S.

Physician Surgeon, etc.

Late House Surgeon of the Kingston General Hospital.

Office—North side of Dundas Street, between West and Robert Streets. Napanea. 617

DEROCHE & DEBOCHE.

H. M. Deroche, K. C., U. C. A.:

(H. M. P. Deroche, B. A.)

Barristers Etc.

MONEY TO LOAN

Mr. H. M. P. Deroche will be in Tamworth every Wednesday.

W. G. WILSON,

BARRISTER,

Solicitor, Notary Public, Conveyancer, Etc.

P. O. Box 620. Telephone No. 88.

OFFICE—North Side Dundas Street
Napanea, Ont.

DR. C. H. WARTMAN

DENTIST.

It will be impossible for me to continue the out of town visits, but if our friends at Yarker and Tamworth will do me the favor of coming to my office in Napanea, I will do my best to please them. All work guaranteed first class.

D. R. BENSON

Graduate Ontario Veterinary College, has opened an office second door south of Express Printing Office, where he may be consulted on all diseases of Domestic Animals. All latest veterinary sciences.

Residence: West Street, near Madden's grocery.

STR. REINDEER

LOCAL TIME TABLE.

Daily, Sundays Excepted. Effective Monday April 11th, 1910. Subject to change without notice.

	A. M.	P. M.
Napanea.....	Leave 6 00
Deseronto.....	7 15
Hough's.....	7 20
Thompson's Point.....	7 30
Glen Island.....	8 00
Pictou.....	8 10
Pictou.....	Arrive 8 30
Thompson's Point.....	Leave 8 30
Hough's.....	10 00
Deseronto.....	Arrive 11 00
Deseronto.....	Leave 1 45
Hough's.....	2 00
Thompson's Point.....	2 35
Pictou.....	Arrive 3 00
Pictou.....	Leave 4 00
Glen Island.....	4 20
Thompson's Point.....	4 35
Hough's.....	5 15
Deseronto.....	5 30
Napanea.....	Arrive 6 30
—Stop on signal.

CONNECTIONS.

At Deseronto with Bay of Quinte and Grand Trunk Railway Trains for all points East, West and North; with Steamer Elia Ross for Upper Bay Ports. At Pictou with Central Ontario Railway.

W. F. BRISTOW, Captain.

Lake Ontario and Bay of Quinte Steamboat Co., Limited.

Str. CASPIAN

back to you every cent you paid us. This is certainly the fairest offer that any one could make and should attest our sincerity of purpose. It comes in two sizes, prices 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain it only at—The Rexall Store.—T. B. Wallace, Druggist.

A Senator complained of certain false charges that had been made against a company he formerly represented.

The spirit in which some of these charges were brought," he said, "makes me think of the blackmailer who declared:

"Knowledge is power."
"Then, with a wink, he added:
"Yes, knowledge is power—if you know it about the right person."

Roumania.

Roumania's population is only 6,500,000, yet it could place 650,000 men in the field if war came.

Electric Restorer for Men

Phosphonol restores every nerve in the body to its proper tension; restores vim and vitality. Premature decay and all sexual weakness averted at once. Phosphonol will make you a new man. Price $3 a box, or two for $5. Mailed to any address. The Scobell Drug Co., St. Catharines, Ont.

established that system which distinguished Sparta from every state in the world. Having bound the people to observe this institution, he left Lacedaemon and is supposed to have died in Certe.

The Low C.

Lancasterians, as the Rev. P. H. Ditchfield recalls in "The Parson's Pleasance," are very keen on choir singing. "A doctor in the duchy was driving over a bridge that spanned a deep brook and saw a man standing up to his waist in the water. 'What-ever are you doing there, John?' he shouted to the man. 'Ah, weel, doctor, you see, I've got to sing bass in 'Andel's 'Messiah,' and I never can get down to that lower C unless I've got a cold, so I'm catching on."

How's This.

Who offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. We the undersigned have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years, and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligations made by him.

WALDING, KINNAN & MARVIN, Wholesale Druggists, Toledo, O. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Testimonials sent free. Price 75 cents per bottle. Sold by all Druggists.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

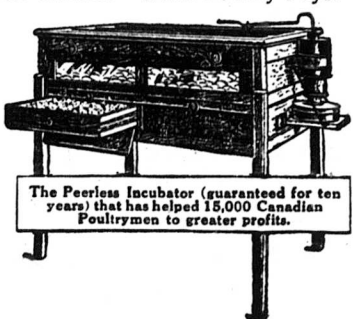

Canadian Poultrymen Doubled Their Profits By PEERLESS WAY

Now you can do—no matter in what part of Canada you live; you can raise a crop that knows no bad years! If you have never kept poultry do not let fewer formed habits to overcome and will be ready to let The Peerless Way you have been keeping poultry in a haphazard way, The Peerless Way will your enterprise into a real money-maker. Even if you have made a failure in you be discouraged—disinclined ever to consider poultry-raising again—for yourself and study the guarantee that it has to offer you; for, let us say a beginner, whether poultry forms only an incidental part of your farm work, whether you are already in poultry-raising as a business, The Peerless Way affords you a real way to increase the profits. Consider this very carefully. Then read every work of what follows and send for our big FREE book entitled "When Poultry Pays."

Knowledge Is More Essential Than Money

Very little money will start you right in profitable poultry-raising—if you know how to go about the business. And The Peerless Way will show you exactly what you have to do and how you have to do it to make money. The Peerless Way is more than merely a system for raising poultry; it is a system for raising a profit! The knowledge that The Peerless Way offers you is so explicit that a child could not misunderstand it—it explains everything—and if, beyond that, some unusual problem does arise, our Poultry Advisory Board is at your service without charge to consider your case individually and to write you personally.

The Peerless Incubator (guaranteed for ten years) that has helped 15,000 Canadian Poultrymen to greater profits.

Poultry-Raising is the Profitable Branch of Agriculture

Given the same care, time and attention as any other branch of agriculture, we, there is no department that can be made to yield such handsome returns on small investment. We know this—15,000 Canadian poultrymen, working with our co-operation, have proven it for us. But it is one thing merely to "keep poultry" and quite another to get every last cent of profit out of the work. The profits are in the knowledge you possess—knowledge of how to proceed, in the first place, and after that, knowledge of how to market your output. The Peerless Way will guide you on both these essential points—it will show you what to do and how to do it—and then, through our co-operative marketing plan, will take care of all the eggs and poultry you can produce and at highest market prices. When you get our book, read the letters we have printed in it from hundreds of followers of The Peerless Way in every part of the Dominion—letters from practical poultrymen who have never been able to do by any method what they have done by The Peerless Way. Get the book—just send the coupon—that brings it.

Let Us Show You How To Market—Right

Let us explain what we mean by Co-Operative Marketing—let us tell you about the method that has been proven by 15,000 poultrymen who command higher prices than the old way of selling poultry and eggs could ever have given them. Let us explain to you how to get all the profits that rightfully belong to you. Write us for further information about this proof of successful poultry-raising; let us tell you how it has been worked out, how it has been tested, and how it has been proven; let us tell you why it is the only way that successfully meets Canadian climatic conditions—why there is no farm in Canada on which poultry would not pay better than any other crop—why our methods are so simple and yet so practical, that a schoolboy could not fail with them—why you could not find a better investment for either part or all of your time. Send for the book.

LEE Manufacturing Co., Limited
124 Pembroke Road 41

PEMBROKE ONTARIO CANADA

better." JOSEPH FRANKOWICK, 854 Trombly Av., Detroit, Mich. There is no remedy that will more quickly relieve any form of headache than Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. The best feature of this remarkable remedy is the fact that it does not derange the stomach or leave any disagreeable after-effects. Price 25c at your druggist. He should supply you, if he does not, send price to us. DR. MILES MEDICAL CO., Toronto.

Lake Ontario and Bay of Quinte Steamboat Co., Limited. Str. CASPIAN 1000 ISLANDS AND ROCHESTER, N. Y. Commencing May 29th steamer leaves Deseronto on Sundays at 4:55 a.m. and Bath at 8:15 a.m. for Kingston and 1000 Islands. Returning steamer leaves Deseronto at 8:55 p.m. for Rochester. Daily service after June 25th. STR. ALETHA leaves Deseronto on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays at 6:30 a.m. for Bay of Quinte Ports and Kingston. Full information from agents. E. E. HORSEY, J. L. BOYES, General Manager, Agent, Kingston, Napanee.

Bay of Quinte Railway and Navigation Company

GENERAL PASSENGER TIME TABLE, Eastern Standard Time. No. 31 Taking effect Dec 1st, 1906.

Bannockburn and Tamworth to Napanee and Deseronto.
Stations.	Miles	No.12	No.40	No.4	No.6
Lve Bannockburn	0	A.M.	P.M.	P.M.	P.M.
Allans	5	1:50	2:05	2:25	2:45
Queensboro	14	2:25	2:45	3:05	3:25
Bridgewater	20	2:45	3:05	3:25	3:45
Tweed	20	3:05	3:25	3:45	4:05
Stocco	21	3:25	3:45	4:05	4:25
Larkins	27	3:45	4:05	4:25	4:45
Maribank	38	4:05	4:25	4:45	4:55
Erinville	37	4:25	4:45	4:55	5:15
Tamworth	40	4:45	5:05	5:15	5:35
Wilson	44	4:55	5:15	5:35	5:45
Enterprise	46	5:15	5:35	5:45	5:55
Mudlake Bridge	48	5:35	5:55	6:05	6:15
Moscow	51	5:55	6:15	6:25	6:35
Galbraith	53	6:15	6:35	6:45	6:55
Yarker	55	6:35	6:55	7:05	7:15
Camden East	59	6:55	7:15	7:25	7:35
Thomson's Mills	60	7:15	7:35	7:45	7:55
Newburgh	61	7:35	7:55	8:05	8:15
Strathcona	63	7:55	8:15	8:25	8:35
Napanee	69	8:15	8:35	8:45	8:55
Lve Napanee	69	8:35	8:55	9:05	9:15
Deseronto	78	8:55	9:15	9:25	9:35

Kingston and Sydenham to Napanee and Deseronto.
Stations.	Miles	No.3	No.4	No.5	No.6
Lve Kingston	0	A.M.	P.M.	P.M.	P.M.
G. R. Junction	8	7:00	7:20	7:40	8:00
Glennvale	10	7:20	7:40	7:50	8:10
Murvale	14	7:40	7:50	8:10	8:20
Harrowsmith	19	8:10	8:20	8:40	8:50
Sydenham	23	8:40	8:50	9:10	9:20
Harrowsmith	19	8:50	9:10	9:30	9:40
Frontenac	23	9:10	9:30	9:50	10:00
Yarker	26	9:30	9:50	10:10	10:20
Yarker	26	9:50	10:10	10:30	10:40
Camden East	30	10:10	10:30	10:50	11:00
Thomson's Mills	31	10:30	10:50	11:10	11:20
Newburgh	38	10:50	11:10	11:30	11:40
Strathcona	34	11:10	11:30	11:50	12:00
Napanee	40	11:30	11:50	12:10	12:20
Napanee, West End	40	11:50	12:10	12:30	12:40
Deseronto	49	12:10	12:30	12:50	1:00

LOCAL WORKING TIME TABLE.
NAPANEE TO DESERONTO and PICTON.					PICTON TO DESERONTO and NAPANEE.
TRAINS		STEAMERS		STEAMERS		TRAINS		STEAMERS
Leave	Arrive	Leave	Arrive	Leave	Arrive	Leave	Arrive	Leave	Arrive
Napanee	Deseronto	Napanee	Deseronto	Picton	Deseronto	Picton	Deseronto	Napanee	Napanee
7 15 a.m.	2 35 a.m.	7 10 a.m.	8 30 a.m.	6 00 a.m.	7 25 a.m.	9 50 a.m.	10 10 a.m.	10 10 a.m.	10 10 a.m.
7 10 "	8 10 "	7 00 a.m.	8 30 a.m.	9 50 a.m.	11 20 a.m.	12 20 p.m.	12 40 p.m.	12 40 p.m.	12 40 p.m.
10 30 "	10 50 "	1 40 p.m.	3 00 p.m.	12 20 p.m.	1 20 p.m.	3 45 p.m.	4 05 "	3 45 p.m.	4 05 "
11 50 a.m.	12 10 p.m.	1 40 p.m.	3 00 p.m.	1 20 p.m.	1 20 p.m.	6 10 "	6 30 "	6 10 "	6 30 "
12 30 p.m.	1 45 "	5 30 p.m.	7 00 p.m.	1 40 a.m.	2 40 a.m.	7 40 "	8 00 "	7 40 "	8 00 "
1 30 "	4 50 "	5 30 p.m.	7 00 p.m.	4 p.m.	5 p.m.	12 40 a.m.	1 05 a.m.	12 40 a.m.	1 05 a.m.
6 50 "	7 10 "	7 00 a.m.	8 30 a.m.			7 00 "	7 20 "	7 00 "	7 20 "
6 15 "	8 35 "					7 15 "	7 35 "	7 15 "	7 35 "

Daily. All other rains run daily Sundays excepted. WALTER RATHBUN President. H. B. SHERWOOD Superintendant. MILES McKEOWN, Despatcher.

POSITIVELY FREE!

Trial Package Postpaid, "Hennequin's Infant Tablets."

Any Address. Send Post Card. Write your Address plainly.

Hennequin's Infant Tablets

Save Babies' Lives. For Babies and Small Children. (Made in France.) Dr. Hennequin's Infant Tablets saved our little girl's life. Three doctors said she could not live. The Tablets cured her.—Mr. E. R. McBRIDE, Napanee, Ont. My baby was so weak from sickness that he could hardly walk. We thought he would die. We could find nothing to help him. I was given a sample package of three Hennequin Tablets; we used them; I saw a change at once. We secured the Tablets and our baby is now a healthy child. They certainly cured my baby and saved his life. I believe them to be the best medicine ever sold for babies. Mothers if your babies are not well take my advice and try these Tablets.—Mrs. JAMES RIDDELL, Barrydale, Ont. We have hundreds of such letters. If the Tablets were not what you need we would not offer to give them away and prepay them. If your baby is not well send for trial package. Hennequin Tablets have the letter "H" stamped upon them—this is your guarantee. All dealers, 25c per package, or 5 for $1.00 sent postpaid to any address. DOUGLAS & CO., Wholesale Agents, Napanee, Ont., Can. Mfrs. of DOUGLAS' EGYPTIAN LINIMENT Coleman's Paste! A. A. A., etc., etc. When writing please mention this paper.

Home Made Hot Biscuits

CLEVELAND'S SUPERIOR BAKING POWDER

Home Made Cake and Crullers.

You will make them dainty and delicious; but more, you will know what goes into your food—that it is pure, wholesome and contains no poisonous alum.

The Result of a Lecture

A Young Professor Gets Off His Beat on the Subject of Love

By EVAN HARRINGTON

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

I was but twenty-eight years old when I was called to the chair of mental philosophy in the University of B., a woman's college. I was given to rationalism, materialism and all that group of isms popular at the time and was fond of embodying them in my lectures to my classes. I dictated these lectures, and they were taken down by the students in blank books

I was lecturing one morning, my subject leading me into something at which the girls pricked up their ears. This was the passage that attracted their attention:

Music is an appeal to the fancy, exciting the imaginative faculty, now soothing the listener into a pleasant languor, as in the case of a lullaby, now stirring the passions, as in the case of martial strains. All our emotions are based on such influences. Love, though far more durable, is apt to be excited in the same way. The imagination is operated on by circumstances. When these circumstances are attractive love is produced; when they are disagreeable they engender hate. Love once excited may absorb one's whole being. But that it is not in itself spiritual—in other words, eternal—is manifest from the fact that it may be repeated again and again. Were this not so the Indian custom of the wife's immolation on the funeral pyre of her husband would be a necessity.

There was no sound in the room except my monotonous dictation and during the pauses at the end of every half dozen words the ripple of a hundred pen points on as many lecture books. I was a bit uneasy at this portion of my discourse, fearing the girls might do or say something that would embarrass me. I was about to proceed after the last word, "necessity," when Kate Swann, the chief mischief maker in the class, laid down her pen and rose from her seat.

"May I ask, professor," she said demurely, while her eyes snapped viciously, "does a sense of justice pertain to the subject we are studying?"

"Certainly."

"Then if love were eternal would it not be just that the husband should immolate himself on the funeral pyre of his wife as well as the wife on the funeral pyre of the husband?"

The class tittered.

"Man," I said, with an affectation of modesty for my sex, "is not supposed mourning on the funeral pyre of his wife."

"You mean then, professor, I suppose," pursued the mix, "that, while it would be a necessity on the part of a widow to so end her mourning, a man under similar circumstances might do well to thus immolate himself."

I was in for it. The satire was delicate, but sufficiently biting to be understood by Miss Swann's classmates. Their faces were turned up to me, each wearing tantalizing smiles and all expecting my rejoinder. I resolved to silence the young lady by a compliment.

"I am quite sure, Miss Swann," I said, "that if you were a widow and proposed to end your earthly existence on your husband's funeral pyre a mob of bachelors would prevent it."

Amid another titter, this time not at my expense, I signified that the discussion was ended by proceeding with my dictation. Unfortunately there was a lot more in my lecture on what I called the emotion of love, and I feared that Miss Swann or some other member of the class would trip me up again. I would have omitted the rest were it not that I could not do so and preserve the continuity of my lecture. I was not long in striking a passage that brought about more trouble:

That the emotion is human instead of divine is indicated by the fact that a love which has existed for years may turn to hate. Again it may be lost. Indeed, without another mental faculty, memory, it cannot continue even through life. There are many instances where, the faculty of memory having been destroyed, persons have not even been cognizant of those they have loved. As the brain is a camera as well as a storehouse of photographic plates, so love—

I stopped. I realized that I might as well fire a canister of ideas antagonistic to woman's nature as finish the sentence.

"Go on!" cried every one in the room. —is a conglomerate union of emotions produced by the perceptive faculties of an organic brain.

Smothered groans were mingled with the sound of scribbling. To escape from a situation which I considered appalling I closed the book from which I had been dictating and, rising, bowed a dismissal to the class. Half the girls had risen to hurl back my views; but, the lecture being ended, they were unable to do so. A dozen came to my desk with defiance in their eyes; but, taking up my hat, I said with a smile:

"Pardon me, young ladies; I have an engagement at this hour, and to be on time I must go at once."

That was the last lecture delivered before that class. I knew that a storm of opposition to the views I had expressed would meet me on my next entry into the class room. Rather than subject myself to such a fire I resolved to resign my professorship. I did so and left by a midnight train, giving as a reason for my sudden action and departure that I had discovered on myself what I presumed to be symptoms of leprosy and not for worlds would I communicate the disease to any one else. The University of B. never saw me again. Indeed, I never lectured again, devoting myself to original research. I learned afterward that had I not resigned voluntarily I would have been invited to do so, my lectures being considered by the corporation altogether too materialistic for a Christian college.

Ten years after the severance of my connection with B. university I was invited by my friend Joe Armour to make one of a house party at his country seat during the autumn. I accepted and found on arrival the company all present. My coming had been announced, and since Joe had been kind to be called out by a word or an incident pertaining to them. This incineration business called up that combat of words with one of my pupils ten years ago. For the first time I saw something familiar in Miss Phillips.

"You are"—I began, but stopped. I had forgotten the name I wanted.

"I am?" Her lips broke into a smile. "The girl who quizzed me in the lecture room?"

"I am Kate Swann."

"And as full of the devil as ever."

"I vowed the day you lectured on love that if it were ever my good fortune to meet you I would make you eat your words. When I heard that you were expected here I knew my opportunity was at hand. I told the others that for certain reasons best known to myself I desired to be incog. to you and gained their assent to be addressed as Helen Phillips."

"Are they in the secret of your reason?" I asked.

"No."

There was a silence between us. I was conscious of having been duped, and that is not a pleasant sensation.

"Well," I said at last coldly, "you have won a famous victory."

She looked up at me with an expression of a woman who desires to appease one she has offended, a semi-reproachful, semi-encouraging glance.

"Was it all for the purpose you have stated?" I added.

The glance sank to the floor, and I took her in my arms.

FOOT BALLER'S BAD KNEE HEALED.

Zam-Buk Once Again the Only Cure!

Mr. H. Allinson, of 457 King Street London Ont., says: "While a member of the East Kent Division Football Team, and during a rough and exciting game of football, I fell on the hard gravel, sustaining a badly lacerated knee. This required prompt medical attendance, as sand gravel filled the open wound, which was very painful and sore."

"For several weeks the doctor treated my injury, and it was thought to be well healed over; but no sooner had I begun to move about than the skin broke, and I suffered more than at first. For seven long weeks I was actually laid up. It then developed into a running sore, and I was alarmed for fear the result might be a permanently stiff knee. The doctor's treatment failed to heal the wound, so I procured a supply of Zam-Buk."

"It was almost magical in its effect on the sore. The discharging soon ceased. The soreness and pains were banished and perseverance with Zam-Buk made the badly-lacerated knee as good and firm as ever. Zam-Buk has no equal in clearing and healing open wounds, and I recommend it to all athletes and sportsmen."

Zam-Buk will also be found a sure cure for cold sores, chapped hands, frost bite, ulcers, eczema, blood-poison, varicose sores, piles, scalp sores, ringworms, inflamed patches, babies' eruptions and chapped places, cuts, burns, bruises and skin injuries generally. All druggists and store sell at 50c. box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, upon receipt of price. You are warned against harmful imitation and substitutes. See the registered name "Zam-Buk" on every package before buying.

The Palindrome.

Trade Asaya-Neurall Mark
THE NEW REMEDY FOR Nervous Exhaustion
Heredity is one of the main causes of nervous exhaustion. Children whose minds give way in school, girls lacking in nerve stamina, and young men exhausted by ordinary business cares, prove this. Occasional treatment with "ASAYA-NEURALL" is their salvation. It feeds the nerves, induces sleep, improves the appetite and digesgirls lacking in nerve stamina, and young men exhausted by ordinary business cares, prove this. Occasional treatment with "ASAYANEURAL" is their salvation. It feeds the nerves, induces sleep, improves the appetite and digestion, and restores full nerve power. $1.50 a bottle. Local agent.

E. E. JESSOP.

"Then if love were eternal would it not be just that the husband should immolate himself on the funeral pyre of his wife as well as the wife on the funeral pyre of the husband?"
The class tittered.
"Man," I said, with an affectation of modesty for my sex, "is not supposed to be endowed with as strong, unchanging love proclivities as woman. This is because he is not as emotional. Nevertheless I grant that if love were spiritual, which I consider to be the same as eternal, a husband who lost his wife might do well to end his

for a Christian college.
Ten years after the severance of my connection with B. university I was invited by my friend Joe Armour to make one of a house party at his country seat during the autumn. I accepted and found on arrival the company all present. My coming had been announced, and since Joe had been kind enough to speak a good word for me I was awaited with pleasant anticipations. On arrival I was introduced to all the party, of course. Among the ladies a Miss Helen Phillips seemed most attractive to me, but I considered myself a confirmed bachelor, was devoted to the colonization of bacteria and had no idea of marriage. But Miss Phillips, instead of leaving me to show partiality for her or not, as I liked, took me in charge, so to speak, and it was not long before I noticed a disposition on the part of the other ladies of the party to consider me her especial cavalier.

For the first time in my life I fell under the thrall of a captivating woman. I had never experienced the sensation called love. All I knew about it was what I had expressed in a few passages in my lectures such as I have cited, and in my subsequent work I had forgotten all about them. The young women whose antagonism I had excited by my materialistic views had become mothers. I had never heard of one of them since I left the university and had no desire to meet them. In thinking of them, which I seldom did, I usually called up the scene in which they had set upon me like so many fierce birds whose broods I had threatened. For one girl especially I had kept up a continued antagonism. That was Miss Swann, who had attempted to put me in a ridiculous light before the class. Had I been forty-seven instead of twenty-seven doubtless I should not have been so sensitive.

But this Miss Phillips—she never tired of listening to my theories, my accounts of experiments, my deductions. She was rather a listener than a talker. She gave no ideas of her own, asked no questions, paying the strictest attention to what I said, and when I announced a triumph in my work I received indications of her heartfelt sympathy. Then came a time when she began to lower her eyes at my approach, to show feeling when I paid her a compliment, to tremble a little if I were impatient with her.

Why multiply these symptoms of the tender passion? I soon began to feel as sure that love was growing up in the bosom of Miss Phillips as I was that I was in love with her. But, foolishly giving vent to my confidence, she swept away from me like a queen, leaving me terror stricken. A suppliant, one evening while sitting with her before a fire of blazing logs I told her of my love.

"What is love, professor?" she asked.
"Love," I said—"why, love is that sweet sympathy which exists between man and woman."

"Eternal?"
"I never thought so before, but now I do. I'm sure it is."

"Will you love me forever?"
"Forever."

"Enough to go with me when I go?"
"Where?"

She pointed to the heavens.
"The world would be a horror after you were gone."

"I believe in incineration."

"I'm not opposed to it, but what?"
"The man I marry must make me a promise."

"What promise?"
"To be incinerated with me when I die."

I stared at her in blank amazement.
"On that condition I will be yours."
Memory is a curious faculty. Scenes will lie dormant there for many years to, upon receipt of price. You are warned against harmful imitation and substitutes. See the registered name "Zam-Buk" on every package before buying.

The Palindrome.

A palindrome is a line or phrase that reads the same backward as forward. The Latin language is full of such linguistic freaks. The English has but few. One, at least, is inimitable. It represents our first parent politely introducing himself to Eve in these words: "Madam, I'm Adam."

From the Latin we have, "Roma tibi subito motibus ibit amor" (Rome, love will come to you suddenly, with violence).

St. John's Eve.

Curious and quaint beliefs still prevail in some parts of England concerning St. John's eve. Lassies still place their shoes before retiring for the night at right angles, forming a T, reciting the lines,

Hoping this night my true love to see,
I place my shoes in the form of a T.

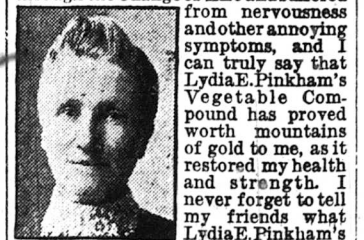

under the idea that their future husbands will be revealed to them in dreams. Formerly supper was placed on the table with the belief that the future husband would enter by the open door. There is, too, a prevalent idea that especially fortunate are the children born on St. John's eve, the rhyme running:

Under the stars on the eve of St. John,
Lucky the babe that those stars shine on.

WORTH MOUNTAINS OF GOLD

During Change of Life, says Mrs. Chas. Barclay

Graniteville, Vt. — "I was passing through the Change of Life and suffered from nervousness and other annoying symptoms, and I can truly say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has proved worth mountains of gold to me, as it restored my health and strength. I never forget to tell my friends what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me during this trying period. Complete restoration to health means so much to me that for the sake of other suffering women I am willing to make my trouble public so you may publish this letter." — MRS. CHAS. BARCLAY, R.F.D., Graniteville, Vt.

No other medicine for woman's ills has received such wide-spread and unqualified endorsement. No other medicine we know of has such a record of cures of female ills as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For more than 80 years it has been curing female complaints such as inflammation, ulceration, local weaknesses, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, indigestion and nervous prostration, and it is unequalled for carrying women safely through the period of change of life. It costs but little to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and, as Mrs. Barclay says, it is "worth mountains of gold" to suffering women.

MEN-YOU NEED NERVE

EARLY INDISCRETIONS AND EXCESSES HAVE UNDERMINED YOUR SYSTEM

The nerves control all actions of the body so that anything that debilitates them will weaken all organs of the system. Early Indiscretions and Excesses have ruined thousands of promising young men. Unnatural Drains sap their vigor and vitality and they never develop to a proper condition of manhood. They remain weaklings, mentally, physically and sexually. How you feel? Are you nervous and weak, despondent and gloomy, specks before the eyes with dark circles under them, weak back, kidneys irritable, palpitation of the heart, bashful, debilitating dreams, sediment in urine, pimples on the face, eyes sunken, hollow cheeks, careworn expression, poor memory, lifeless, distrustful, lack energy and strength, tired mornings, restless nights, changeable moods, premature decay, bone pains, hair loose, etc.

This is the condition our New Method Treatment is GUARANTEED TO CURE

We have treated Diseases of Men for almost a lifetime and do not have to experiment. Consult us FREE OF CHARGE and we will tell you whether you are curable or not.

We guarantee curable cases of NERVOUS DEBILITY, VARICOSE VEINS, BLOOD AND SKIN DISEASES, GLEET, BLADDER URINARY AND KIDNEY COMPLAINTS

Free Booklet on Diseases of Men. If unable to call write for

QUESTION LIST FOR HOME TREATMENT

Wonderful Nervous System

DRS. KENNEDY & KENNEDY

Cor. Michigan Ave. and Griswold St., Detroit, Mich.

NOTICE

All letters from Canada must be addressed to our Canadian Correspondence Department in Windsor, Ont. If you desire to see us personally call at our Medical Institute in Detroit as we see and treat no patients in our Windsor offices which are for Correspondence and Laboratory for Canadian business only. Address all letters as follows:

DRS. KENNEDY & KENNEDY, Windsor, Ont.

Write for our private address.

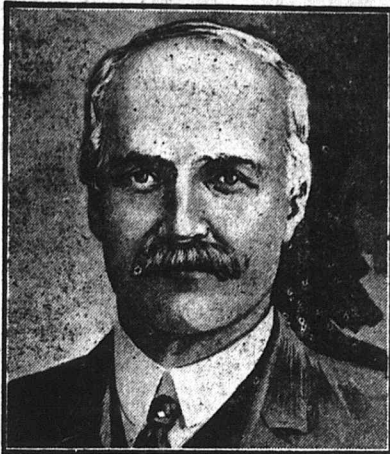

Letter Heads Statements Bill Heads Envelopes Cards

The Napanee Express Job Department does anything and everything in the way of high-grade commercial printing. Our assortment of job type is complete, our press facilities of the best, and our workmen true typographical artists. This tells all the story of our facilities for doing job printing of the right kind at right prices.

Cards Envelopes Bill Heads Statements Letter Heads

SUFFERED FOR YEARS WITH STOMACH TROUBLE

"Fruit-a-tives" Promptly Cured Him

DANIEL SAUNDERS, Esq.

Mr. Daniel Saunders, of Shoal Lake, Manitoba, is one of the best known gentlemen in Canada's great wheat country. He lived for years in the West—made a success of his farming—and has now retired from active business life to enjoy the fruits of his work.

When a man of such financial and social standing voluntarily testifies to the great benefits he has received from taking "Fruit-a-tives" there can be no doubt but that "Fruit-a-tives" deserves the confidence of every reader of this paper.

SHOAL LAKE, MAN.

JUNE 11th, 1910.

"For years, I was bothered with persistent Dyspepsia and Indigestion, having severe pains after meal time. I tried everything that I could get but the pain in my stomach became no better.

Last summer, Mr. Oatway, a druggist of my town, recommended "Fruit-a-tives" to me. While taking "Fruit-a-tives", I in no way gave up any foods that I was in the habit of eating, neither did I stop smoking. Yet in spite of all, "Fruit-a-tives" has done wonders for me and I strongly advise all my friends to use it."

"Fruit-a-tives" is the only medicine in the world made of pure fruit juices, and will always cure Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Sour Stomach, Biliousness, Constipation and any other disease that comes from disordered Stomach, Bowels, Kidneys or Skin. 50c. a box. 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At dealers or send on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

November 7th, 1910.

The Council met at Selby. The members present were Messrs. Chas. Anderson, Reeve, and Councillors C. H. Spencer, E. R. Sills, Alf McCutcheon and Fred Sexsmith, Reeve presiding.

The minutes of the last session were read and confirmed. A communication was read from C. M. Wilson, Barrister, in regard to a bridge on the boundary road between Camden and Richmond near Wm. Ballance's. Ordered filed.

A communication was read from the clerk of Hungerford, re a job of work on the Hungerford and Richmond boundary road. Ordered filed.

Moved by E. R. Sills, seconded by C. H. Spencer, that this council refund John Good the sum of $2.00 for statute labor, he having performed the same. Carried.

Moved by Fred Sexsmith, seconded by Alfred McCutcheon, that the following accounts be paid: David Cameron, for one-half the cost of building and furnishing tile for culvert on boundary between Richmond and Camden, $4.50; John McFarlane, for 30 loads of gravel for road division No. 63, by order of the Pathmaster, $3.00; Expenses incurred in arresting John Dunn and Thos. Sovereign as vagrants, $5.50; D. Lasher for storing snow plough, $1.00; Municipal World supplies, $2.00. Carried.

Moved and seconded that the Council adjourn to meet on the first Monday in December, at the hour of 10 o'clock a.m. Carried.

ABRAM WINTERS,

Township clerk.

CAMDEN EAST.

The weather is quite cold with flurrying of snow and every person is busy getting ready for the winter.

Mr. Herman Parrott shipped a carload of pigs last Tuesday, price $6.75 per 100 lbs.

Miss Shirley, Nananee, spent a few days here last week with her friends.

Mrs. Price, of Hinch, is spending a week with Miss Sproule and Mrs. (Dr.) Yourex's.

Mrs. Jones, of Tammworth, spent Tuesday last at Dr. Yourex's.

Mrs. Storms who has been nursing Mrs. (Dr.) Yourex for the last three weeks returned to her home in Moscow recently.

Mrs. Galbraite spent Tuesday last with Mrs. Chas. Wisted.

Mrs. Duker, Hartington, spent a few days last week with her parents here, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Patterson.

Mr. and Mrs. Jno McGarvey, Point Ann, moved last week into Mr Wm Smith's house here in the village.

Mr Robt. Saul, who spent the summer at Winnipeg, returned home to spend the winter with his family here.

Mrs. Jas Johnson visited with friends at Arden for a week quite recently.

A number are suffering from severe colds and la grippe in the village.

Miss Somers returned to her home at Mountain Grove last week after spending the summer with her aunt, Mrs. Ueno; also learned dress-making with Mrs. D. Galbraith.

Mrs. Sanderson and Mrs. Ward, of Wilton, spent a day recently with Mrs. Carroll.

Dr. de Van's Female Pills

A reliable French regulator; never fails. These pills are exceedingly powerful in regulating the BATH.

The steamer Brookville is running this week in place of the steamer Aletha, owing to the latter boat being in the dry dock at Kingston.

Plenty of rain fell here last week, making the roads very heavy for travelling.

Mrs Wm. Callier visited friends in Kingston for a few days last week.

Mrs. Sutherland, Toronto, is visiting her daughter, Miss W. W. Gourlay.

Our town fathers have had a few of the sidewalks repaired, which had been in a very dilapidated condition.

Mr. Shephard has moved his harness shop in the Truelett property.

MOSCOW.

The cheese factory completed the season's operation on Saturday.

A little boy and a little girl came here to live last week. The boy stopped at William Lake's and the girl came to Albert Pierson's.

There was no service in the Methodist church last Sunday, owing to quarterly service being held at Petworth.

Ruben Garrison shipped a carload of hogs from here on Tuesday, paying $6.75 a cwt.

Mr. Knaplin, of the Bell Telephone company was here on business, on Tuesday.

Elias Jackson has completed his barn and has the most commodious and one of the most modern barns in these counties.

Wilfred Hiram and Alvie Huffman. Howard Richie and Amos Storey are hunting deer in the back country.

Mrs. Buckley Lake has returned to her home in Sydenham, after spending a few days with her son, William Lake.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

CROP REPORTS.

The Census Office issues to day a bulletin on the crops of Canada as prepared from reports made up to the end of October.

The closing months of the year give good reports for nearly all of the field crops of the Dominion. Potatoes alone indicate partial failure, and in all the provinces there are complaints of rot in the fields and in the heaps for winter storage. The area is 503,262 acres and the estimated yield 74,048,000 bushels, being an average of about 147 bushels per acre, which is nearly uniform for all the provinces. The quality is 84.42 per cent. Turnips and field roots show a quality 88.57, a yield per acre of 402 bushels and a total yield of 95,207,000 bushels for a crop of 236,622 acres. Hay and clover are computed for 8,515,400 acres and a yield per acre of 1.82 tons. The quality is 90.45 per cent and the total yield 15,497,000 tons. Fodder corn has an estimated yield per acre of 9.38 tons, which upon an area of 271,860 acres gives a product of 2,551,000 tons. Sugar beets are grown most extensively in Ontario Alberta, where they supply roots for three sugar factories. The area in crop this year is 16,000 acres, which is a substantial increase upon last year. The yield per acre is 9.60 tons, the total yield 155,000 tons and the quality 83.15 per cent. The roots supplied to the Berlin factory are testing 17 per cent of sugar and at the Wallaceburg factory 16 per cent; but a product of 5000 acres in Ontario is being shipped to factories in Michigan. The product of 8,200 acres in that province is marketed at Wallaceburg and Berlin where the average price is about $5.86 per ton or better than $57.80 per

SOLD THE WORLD OVER.

and other roots $21,444,000, of hay and clover $149,716,000, of fodder corn $11,957,000, and of sugar beets $887,000. The reports on fall wheat sown this year shows an area of 790,300 acres, where of 682,500 acres are in Ontario and 107,800 acres in Alberta. Last year the area was 609,200 acres for Ontario and 68,000 in Alberta. The condition of the crop is reported at 98.40 per cent as compared with 93.90 last year.

The per cent of fall ploughing completed this year compared with the area planned for is less than last year, but the report is made for a period one month earlier. The per cent of summer following compared in the same way is somewhat lower, but increases are shown for Saskatchewan and Alberta,

BELL ROCK.

(For last Week.)

The farmers have had fine weather for their fall plowing.

There was a good attendance at the quarterly service held here last Sunday by Rev. B. Pearce.

Mrs. Jane Clark is seriously ill. A general store has been started in the village which will be convenient for the residents here.

Visitors: Mr. and Mrs. N. Drader Inverary at Mrs. Martin's; Miss Hazel York, Tamworth at J. York's; Mrs. Scott and Mr. W. Scott Philadelphia at G. M. Sanborn's.

No Reason For Doubt.

A Statement of Facts Backed By a Strong Guarantee.

We guarantee complete relief to all sufferers from constipation. In every case where we fail we will supply the medicine free.

Rexall Orderlies are a gentle, effective, dependable and safe bowel regulator, strengthener and tonic. They re-establish nature's functions in a quiet, easy way. They do not cause any inconvenience, griping or nausea. They are so pleasant to take and work so easily that they may be taken by anyone at any time. They thoroughly tone up the whole system to healthy activity.

Rexall Orderlies are unsurpassable and ideal for the use of children, old folks and delicate persons. We cannot too highly recommend them to all sufferers from any form of constipation and its attendant evils. Two sizes, 10c and 25c. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in this com-

Mrs. (Dr.) Yourex for the last three weeks returned to her home in Moscow recently.
Mrs. Galbraite spent Tuesday last with Mrs. Chas. Wisted.
Mrs. Duker, Hartington, spent a few days last week with her parents here, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Patterson.
Mr. Linden Longmore and Miss Caton, Napanee, were calling on friends in the village last Sunday.

Mrs. D. Galbraith.
Mrs. Sanderson and Mrs. Ward, of Wilton, spent a day recently with Mrs. Carroll.

Dr. de Van's Female Pills

A reliable French regulator; never fails. These pills are exceedingly powerful in regulating the generative portion of the female system. Refuse all cheap imitations. Dr. de Van's are sold at $5 a box, or three for $10. Mailed to any address. The Scobell Drug Co., St. Catharines, Ont.

plied to the Berlin factory are testing 17 per cent of sugar and at the Wallaceburg factory 16 per cent; but a product of 5000 acres in Ontario is being shipped to factories in Michigan. The product of 8,200 acres in that province is marketed at Wallaceburg and Berlin where the average price is about $5.86 per ton or better than $57.80 per acre. Computed at the average local prices the market value of potatoes this year is $33,446,000, of turnips activity.

Rexall Orderlies are unsurpassable and ideal for the use of children, old folks and delicate persons. We cannot too highly recommend them to all sufferers from any form of constipation and its attendant evils. Two sizes, 10c and 25c. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in this community only at our store—The Rexall Store. T. B. Wallace, Druggist.

Buy Your Christmas Presents at

SIMPSON'S

We Pay Delivery Charges on Every Article in this Christmas Catalogue to any Destination in Canada

How far will my Christmas Money Go? You Will Be Asking That Question Soon

It will go much further than you think—if you order your gifts, from this Special Christmas Catalogue — just issued.

Suppose you could take your time about your Christmas buying — wouldn't your money go twice as far as if spent in a few hurried, crowded shopping hours?

Think of spending a whole day—a week—in our great store—looking over our extensive stocks, comparing prices and making out lists of the presents you would like to buy!

That's just what you do when you buy through Simpson's Special Christmas Catalogue.

We have a copy of the catalogue for you, just waiting for your name and address. It's free—send for it now.

WE PAY DELIVERY CHARGES on every article shown in our Christmas Catalogue. You buy just as cheaply as though you lived right here in Toronto, and you ship the goods back at our expense if you don't like them when they arrive—and get your money back. This means, of course, that we are going to be very careful about sending exactly what you order.

Our general mail order catalogue enables you to buy—at Toronto prices—almost anything shown in our great store. We also pay delivery charges on all goods shown in our General catalogue with the exception of a very few heavy, bulky articles.

Just write on a post card: "Please send me Christmas Catalogue No. 305."
We will send it by return mail, prepaid.

The SIMPSON Company
Robert Limited
TORONTO

EARNINGS OF THE RULERS

HOW CERTAIN MONARCHS DE- RIVE THEIR INCOME.

Monarch Who Gets the Most and Does the Least is the Czar of Russia.

Not long ago Wilhelm II. of Germany objected to the Anglican "civil list" as descriptive of his allowance from the nation. Sardonic Germans sneered "Ziviliste," they said, taking the German form, "it sounds too much like Ziviliste," which means "too much list." Thereby the sardonic Germans rightly laughed at one of the weakest sides of monarchism. For everywhere, from Lisbon to St. Petersburg, Europe's hard-up four hundred millions must pay through the nose for the glitter and glory of kingship. Altogether the sovereigns of Europe get about $33,000,000 a year, not counting their private property. Most of them say they are hard-up; and the great majority of their subjects say the same.

The civil list system rightly limits a monarch's gold-hunter and in that respect is an improvement upon what went before. Formerly kings took from the treasury what they wanted. "Look at this mighty kingdom: everything in it is yours," said the Duke of Villeroy to Louis XV. of France. When the idealist Emperor Joseph II. of Austria first declared that "a king's daily duty is to accept moderate pay for immoderate work," his brother sovereigns looked upon him as revolutionary. Until two years ago the Sultan Abdul Hamid practised the Villeroy theory; and it was only lately that his successor, Mohammed V. was cut down to a miserable $100,000, thereby nearly returning to the state of his mighty ancestor Othman, of whom a historian said "he had only seven shirts."

RICHES OF NICHOLAS II.

To-day the monarch who gets the most and does the least to earn it is Nicholas II. A close copyist of Abdul Hamid in his methods of rule, the Czar takes almost exactly the sum which Abdul Hamid took. The Russia budget puts it at 16,359,595 roubles, or $3,179,797. It is typical of Russia that this $3,179,797 stands first of all items in the expenditure side of the budget, as if to imply that the Czar must get his money, whoever else goes short. In addition to this civil list, Nicholas II. has various lands, forests, mines and factories managed by the imperial cabinet, which bring him in about $3,000,000 yearly, and if honestly and wisely managed would bring in at least $10,000,000.

Out of the total official and private income of about $11,000,000, Nicholas is supposed to support 17 of his grand ducal relatives, but most of these have large estates and get little from the Czar. The Czar also supports the St. Petersburg academy of art and makes good the deficit on the working of the imperial theatres. On the St. Petersburg ballet there is a loss of $100,000 a year. But these expenses are trifles. What the Czar does with the rest of his enormous wealth is not known.

The winter palace at St. Petersburg, the great Alexander palace at Tsarskoye Selo, and the big rococo to $2,000,000 a year. These rises, and the original $1,923,524, make up his present official income.

That is only part of the "Too Much List." The kaiser and his relatives also receive large incomes from estate and family trusts. Some trusts date to the seventeenth century. These were founded by the great elector. The income is received to-day. In 1733 Friedrich Wilhelm I. founded a home trust. The skinflint Friedrich Wilhelm II. left behind him a crown treasure of $3,150,000 which is still in existence. Half is called the "Notpfennig," or "Emergency Penny," and must not be touched except under extreme circumstances. This thrifty king also left a large sum in trust for younger sons of Hohenzollern blood. So that the total annual incomes of Wilhelm II. and his relations from all sources is not far short of $6,000,000.

Fingering this pretty sum, Wilhelm II. must feel like Warren Hastings, when he was asked to help himself to the treasures of India. He must be "surprised at his own moderation," for his ancestors required twice as much. Friedrich Wilhelm II., the fat of Prussia, would not spend a penny of his own fortune, but in fifteen years took $14,000,000 from the public for his court, mistresses and favorites. Friedrich Wilhelm IV. was at the same games, when his antics were checked by the 1848 revolution. The petty German monarchs of the past were even greedier, and did not shrink at hiring their soldiers to foreign rulers and pocketing the proceeds. In comparison with these men Wilhelm II. may feel a virtuous, moderate man and can honestly complain that he is underpaid.

OTHER GERMAN KINGS.

Even to-day the other German sovereigns get much larger salaries in proportion to the population which pays them. The mad king of Bavaria draws $1,350,770. The king of Saxony, who lately boasted, "I am a soldier and eat black bread and onions," gets $550,000; the king of Wurtemberg is allowed $504,700 and has separate subsidies for his poor relations. There are 22 other sovereign states in the German empire, and the rulers of all except three free cities, have palaces, poor relations, overmasters-of-ceremony, body guards, court painters and poets and French cooks. And their subjects must pay. The Prince of Reuss has no civil list. Another distinguished exception is Prince Adolph of Schaumburg-Lippe, who reigns over a state about the size of Greater New York. In theory he is the Kaiser's equal and ally. Prince Adolph not only has no civil list, but pays $62,500 a year out of his own private pocket to help pay the state finances.

Altogether Germany's sovereigns draw $9,250,000 a year in salaries. The big states pay relatively least. Prussia pays its king only 25 cents a head, whereas Schwarzbach-Sonderhausen pays its prince $1.75 a head. The king of Italy comes behind the kaiser. His civil list is $3,200,000.

Next comes the late King Edward VII. He was the worst paid, considering his subjects' wealth. He got $2,300,000 for himself and $590,000 allowance for his relations. His civil list, like the kaiser's, represented the value of properties surrendered to the state. The king of Spain is still worse off. His income

AT EUROPEAN COURTS

CONDITIONS IMPOSED ON THE GUESTS OF ROYALTY.

Court Ball at Berlin—Russian Brilliance and Austrian Exclusiveness.

A woman of position who wishes to appear at the German court must find a friend who will introduce her officially to the Oberhofmeisterin—a sort of feminine Lord Chamberlain—who is an arbiter of fate with regard to court presentations. This dignitary holds a reception of her own previous to the court, which would-be presentees must attend, as it were on approval. If all goes well, says the Strand, the aspirant is in due course bidden to a court reception.

Courts at Berlin begin at 9 o'clock. Full evening dress must be worn, with trains, but no veil or feathers, and black gowns are not permitted. At the beginning of the reception the feminine element is carefully sorted—married women in one room and girls and debutantes in another, and in this latter new comers out are placed on one side and on the other those who have already gone through the ordeal.

The throne room is entered between double rows of pages in scarlet, and after deep curtsies to the assembled royalties the ladies pass onward into the picture gallery, whence they make their way into another fine apartment, where a band plays and the guests are served with light refreshments.

A COURT BALL AT BERLIN

is opened with much ceremony. The German Emperor and Empress enter with their suites and the Ambassadors stand about the throne in the court circle. Their Imperial Majesties never dance, but converse with their guests in an amiable manner.

The Russian court has extreme brilliance and goes one better than any other court in Europe in the way of luxury and an almost barbaric magnificence. The season is in the winter and lasts until Easter. Several court balls take place, and an invitation to one of these is an imperative command to which only illness or the deepest mourning can be given as an excuse for absence. On such an occasion the Winter Palace is a dream of fairyland.

The state rooms, which are among the finest in Europe, are richly gilded and furnished with much magnificence. And with an outside temperature below zero the malachite saloon and the vast halls and galleries are filled with rare flowers that bloom in a hothouse atmosphere.

All the men wear ribbons and orders and splendid uniforms are seen—the officers of the Imperial Guard resplendent in white and gold, the Lancers in scarlet, the Hussars in green and the Cossacks in silver. And nowhere else can be seen such gowns, jewels and decorations.

RUSSIAN COURT LADIES

wear a special court dress, a glorified edition of the national costume. Black gowns are disallowed, as in Berlin. The ladies "of the por-

AT BUCKINGHAM PALACE.

The royal families of England and Denmark are linked by marriage, but there is not much brilliance in the court of Copenhagen. This northern capital has the shortest season on record. It begins in February and ends in March.

The Queen of Denmark is of a serious nature and decidedly religious turn of mind. However, courts are held and there are some palace entertainments. Trains are not compulsory at the Danish court, but full evening dress is required, and men wear their uniforms on some of these occasions.

Black is not allowed at court; white is. But there is one thing that is uncommon in the court ceremonial. The wives of the nobility and of high officials when in mourning have a right to wear a peaked headdress.

Etiquette in Copenhagen is different from that which prevails in London. Newcomers are expected to ask to be introduced to those whom they meet in the houses where they visit, and it is usual for them to leave cards at once on the residents. Dinners are early even in the smart set—at 4.30 or 7 o'clock. The service is slow, and the long evening that follows is apt to be a trifle monotonous.

The Swedish court is much more amusing since the advent of the Crown Princess, once Princess Margaret of Connaught. But there is a rule in force at court balls which seems a trifle peculiar. The ladies who dance appear in white, and black must be worn by the wall flowers.

KEEPING BUSY.

How Mrs. Bilkins and Mrs. Cumbback Kept Busy.

"I just dropped in to see what time it is," remarked Mrs. Bilkins, as she took a chair. It seemed that her husband had paid a jeweler to repair the clock, but that it ran only two days and then stopped. The jeweler, Mrs. Bilkins went on, had a new automobile which took most of his attention. In fact, Mrs. Bilkins concluded, she would not trust him to fix a wheelbarrow, let alone a clock, because it was almost certain that the timepiece in question was absolutely ruined.

"All these workmen are simply scandalous," agreed Mrs. Cumbback. "We had a plumber here the other day to fix a water-pipe. My niece happened to be in the house, and, as you know, she's a very talkative girl, and the plumber spent so much time talking with her that I had to tell him that it was the water-pipe and not the niece he was here to interview. Anyway, it took him six hours to fix that pipe, and the next day it was leaking as badly as ever. I had another plumber come and fix it for good."

"It's simply disgraceful the way workmen fool away time when you have to employ them," declared Mrs. Cumbback. "I hired a man a while ago to paint the wood-shed. I wanted it painted an ordinary red, but he stood and argued about it till I lost my temper. He said it would be very bad to paint it red, for there were lilac bushes all around it, and when they were in bloom they wouldn't harmonize."

"That's the way with these men," said Mrs. Bilkins. "If you'll let

UNFO

LASSI MASO

Instan me

There at an Ashley course six times never, accident suitors tively shipwr lightni ers ere

Ten close o carried Tooley day his wife; 1 courted genari hearin ner's man.

One since, twenty was fo on a t Charer lum. the fa engage drown second ber th viously

EIC

The clergy tune t a wife their l his po heard his de k her th quant failure Societ marrie lowing No

Fraule beauty althou life, s render of the not h success carded him. ruined hand third specul looks i of a h onmer stricke seven hap, e altar.

Anot dence Jeann les. drow a tave dent on the working of the imperial theatres. On the St. Petersburg ballet there is a loss of $100,000 a year. But these expenses are trifles. What the Czar does with the rest of his enormous wealth is not known.

The winter palace at St. Petersburg, the great Alexander palace at Tsarskoe Selo, and the big rococo Peterhof palace are all uninhabited, and in the hands of a few dozen caretakers. All of these palaces lie on the public road exposed to bombing, so the hermit Czar spends winter and summer in small uncomfortable chalets hidden away in private parks, where he keeps up less state than the poorest of the grand dukes. The admiralty must pay for his yacht, the ministry of communications for his rarely-used train, and the ministry of the interior for the horde of policemen spies and agents provocateurs who surround him. As contributor to charities and patron of art the Czar plays no role; the so-called "imperial charities" are financed with practically forced subscriptions from rich merchants.

The Czar spends some money on the support of the notorious Union of Russia Men, whose function is to fight the reform movement, to put inconvenient politicians out of the way, and to carry out periodic massacres of Jews. His thrift goes to the length of unconscious humor. Late the St. Petersburg official newspaper Rossiya printed the following paragraph in all seriousness: "The Czar has been pleased to give $12 to Policeman Ekvortseff, who lost his arm in a fight with terrorists. His majesty ordered the $1240 to be paid out of state funds."

EMPEROR OF AUSTRIA.

It is a fixed rule in Europe that the poorer the people the more they must pay their ruler. That is why Russia stands first and why Austria-Hungary comes second, and pays its sovereign more than rich Germany pays hers. The Emperor Franz Joseph receives $4,893,330 yearly. Half is paid to him by Hungary as king and half by Austria as emperor. Out of this he supports 30 archdukes, archduchesses and other relations, and he supports them liberally. He is a hardup monarch and spends a third of his wealth in charity, mostly in rigidly Roman Catholic charity. On himself he spends hardly anything. He lives plainly and occupies only one of the 48 of an ill-paved courtyard in the colossal Hofburg at Vienna; and any morning he may be seen driving down the Ringstrasse in a victoria, drawn by an indifferent horse. He lives thus because he is a tired and wise old man, thoroughly sick of the pomp and vanities of existence.

Kaiser Wilhelm II. is another hardup monarch. Like most of his ancestors and nearly all the German princes of history, he is a spendthrift. German Emperor he gets no salary; but he is allowed $750,000 a year for "representation." As King of Prussia, Wilhelm II. he gets $3,923,524 a year. Of this sum he gets $1,322,524 under the law of January 17, 1920, which gave him then predecessor a civil list in exchange for large estates which he handed over to the nation. In 1920 the Prussian sovereign demanded and got a rise of $375,000 a year; in 1921, he got a further rise of $750,000 a year; and, finally when the present Kaiser came to the throne he got a list rise of $875,000—in all rises amounting $2,500,000.

Next comes the late King Edward VII. He was the worst paid, considering his subjects' wealth. He got $2,300,000 for himself and $590,000 allowance for his relations. His civil list, like the Kaiser's, represented the value of properties surrendered to the state. The king of Spain is still worse off. His income is $1,850,000. The rest of Europe's sovereigns fall into the pauper class:

King of Belgians.	$875,000
King of Portugal	600,000
King of Holland	525,000
King of Sweden	367,000
King of Denmark	345,000
King of Norway	163,000

Norway is the most democratic state in Europe, and being a new state, it did away with the principle of highly-paid kingship. Even the French republic has to allow its President $240,000 a year, but half of this is for traveling expenses and for entertainments. That the Norwegians and French have a right to be thrifty is shown by the history of civil lists. The original meaning of civil list was a budget out of which the sovereign in addition to supporting himself had to pay large numbers of civil officials. When the number of officials grew too great the kings got rid of the responsibility of paying them, but kept the money for themselves. Hence the present civil lists of Europe have no historical justification, and urgently need a drastic cutting down.

The cutting down is difficult. Every state has its own way of fixing the sovereign's allowance. In Norway it must be voted from year to year by Parliament. In Austria it is fixed for successive terms of ten years. In Holland, Spain, Saxony and Wurttemberg, the sovereign's income is fixed on his accession to the throne and remains unaltered until his death. In Prussia it is determined by a special law, which remains in force for an indefinite term, unless legislatively amended. Of all the monarchs, the czar, who has the largest civil list, has it best defended against thrifty democrats. When he issued his constitution in the shape of a fundamental law, he laid it down that the duma could not question his $8,179,797, and that any change in the amount could only be accomplished on his own initiative.

AFGHAN IDEN OF JUSTICE.

Some grim stories are told of Afghan justice. A moolah (priest) showing his disapproval of the Amer's prospective journey to India by predicting that he would never return. The priest was summoned to the royal presence and asked whether he had made such a remark. Knowing that there had been several witnesses present at the time, he answered in the affirmative. He was commanded to repeat his remark. As he did so, the Amer cried, "Do not say another word!" He instructed a tailor who had been sent for, to sew up the lips of the moolah, saying: "His mouth shall not be opened, should I return safely; but should I fail to return, open his mouth and proclaim him a true prophet throughout Afghanistan."

FITTING.

What is more fitting than the clothes that accompany pickled pears.

green and the Cossacks in silver. And nowhere else can be seen such gowns, jewels and decorations.

RUSSIAN COURT LADIES

wear a special court dress, a glorified edition of the national costume. Black gowns are disallowed, as in Berlin. The ladies "of the portrait" wear a miniature of the Empress set in diamonds and the maids of honor have her initials in diamonds on a blue ribbon worn on the shoulder.

A court ball begins at 9 and every one must be present before the entrance of royalty. The ball opens with a dance called a polonaise, led by the Emperor and Empress. The Emperor dances with a grand duchess and the Empress with an Ambassador. Quadrilles and valse, fellow, and a national dance known as the mazurka.

Less splendid are the smaller and more intimate dances, called the bals des palmiers. When these are given the long gallery is transformed into a tropical forest, with flowers plants and three ferns, and among the scented greenery are set little tables with supper for 500 persons. At the bigger court balls as many as 3,000 guests are served at the same time with supper.

Vienna is far and away the most exclusive capital in Europe. As a smart woman once remarked: "It is easier to get into the kingdom of heaven than into the best set in Vienna." The Emperor of Austria is now an aged man and a widower; but there are generally two court balls—a big one called the Hofball, and another, the Ball bei der Hof, which is limited to the high nobility, the household, and a few favored friends of royalty.

Court etiquette in Austria has always been of extreme rigidity; but within the magic circle nothing can exceed the ease and gaiety—every one is sure of himself and of his entourage. When a court is held, ladies are presented to the Emperor by the grand maitresse who is a most important personage. They stand in a row, and after they have been presented the aged monarch speaks a few words to each in a kindly manner.

FULL OF WIT AND SPARKLE,

The season in Rome begins about Christmas and up to Lent there is a constant round of balls, parties and cotillions. Trains are not worn at the Italian court, and neither feathers nor veils, but full evening dress is required, which must be of the smartest and freshest, as the light in the presence chamber is dazzling beyond description. Black gowns are barred, which fact is distinctly stated in the invitations. Ten o'clock is the hour named, and about 9 a glittering crowd may be seen mounting the splendid staircase of the Quirinal Palace.

Room after room is then passed through until the central chamber is reached, which has a mass of gilding and is illuminated by electric light and by thousands of wax candles. After this comes a pause and then as the host approaches the dame d'honneur sorts the different nationalities.

Also she arranges that the married couples should be received in one room and the single men in another. At last a big door is flung open and the King and Queen make their appearance. Their Majesties walk about the rooms, and do not remain seated, as is the custom while ago to paint the wood-sne. I wanted it painted an ordinary red, but he stood and argued about it till I lost my temper. He said it would be very bad to paint it red, for there were lilac bushes all around it, and when they were in bloom they wouldn't harmonize." "That's the way with these men," said Mrs. Bilkins. "If you'll let them stand and talk, they'll never get anything done. You simply have to take the law into your own hands if you want them to earn their money. I had a man hired to saw wood a few weeks ago. When he came to go to work he seemed so intelligent that I couldn't help wondering how such a man ever got down to sawing wood for a dollar a day. But I soon understood. He didn't give his attention to his work. He had to talk about nebular hypotheses, and things like that. Oh, he was useless!"

"I had a man here a few days ago to take up a carpet and clean it," observed Mrs. Cunaback, "and once when I had to go to the neighbor's for a few minutes I found that man sitting at the piano, picking out the tune of 'The Danube River' with one finger. And he wasn't at all embarrassed. Not a bit!"

"Well, that's the way," said Mrs. Bilkins, reflectively. "Now I must be going, as I'm oaking pies to day. O dear, what was it I came over for?"

"I'm sure I don't know what it was. Let's see what we have been talking about. Carpets—pianos—water-pipes—clocks—oh, yes! You wanted the correct time. It's a quarter to eleven."

"Good gracious!" exclaimed Mrs. Bilkins. "I had no idea I was staying so long."

THE IMPROVED BOOMERANG.

It is Now No More Than a Cross of Plain Wood.

Always the Australian boomerang has been interesting to the civilized general public. Many persons are unfamiliar with the fact that the boomerangs of these aborigines of the far off island continent have been of various shapes and patterns. Most of those former experimenters in civilization have made a particular type of the boomerang, deciding finally for themselves that "the blamed thing will fly, but it won't come back." It has remained for an Englishman so to improve on the Australian cross shaped weapon that it is no more than a cross of plain wood, the lower strip of the cross being one-third longer than the other arms of it. In throwing the "curva," as the maker has called it, the long lower end of the cross is held firmly between the thumb and finger vertically and with the plane of the cross beside his face.

Thrown seventy-five feet the boomerang will not return, but for 100 feet or more as it whirls the curva begins to turn to a horizontal plane, its revolutions increase rapidly until just as its maximum velocity has raised the cross to the top of its flight it swerves to the left and begins its return flight to the thrower.

"I think you said, 'Rastus, that you had a brother in the mining business in the west?'" "Yeh, boss, that's right." "What kind of mining—gold mining, silver mining, copper mining?" "No, sah, none o' those; kalsomining."

UNFORTUNATE FIANCEES

LASSES WHO DID NOT PROVE MASCOTS TO THEIR LOVERS.

Instances When Marriage Engagements Have Been Suddenly Ended.

There died lately at Washington, at an advanced age, a lady named Ashley, who, although, during the course of her long life, she had been six times successfully wooed, had never, by reason of some untoward accident happening to each of her suitors, been a bride. In comparatively rapid succession, smallpox, shipwreck, the assassin's knife, and lightning removed four eligible lovers ere they could fulfil their vows.

Ten years later, when she was close on forty, a stroke of apoplexy carried off an Englishman, named Tooley, on the very morning of the day he was to have made her his wife; while an elderly German, who courted her when she was a sexagenarian, committed suicide on hearing that, by reason of a partner's defalcation, he was a ruined man.

One April morning, a year or so since, a beautiful young woman, of twenty-two, dressed in a white robe, was found by the police kneeling on a tomb in a disused cemetery at Charenton, and removed to an asylum. Subsequent inquiries elicited the fact that she had been thrice engaged. Her first fiance had been drowned on his wedding eve, her second had turned out a thief, while her third had, but a short time previously, committed suicide.

EIGHT TIMES ENGAGED.

The daughter of a Lancashire clergyman brought similar misfortune to such as hoped to make her a wife. Her first lover, soon after their betrothal, was dismissed from his post, and going abroad was heard of no more; her second met his death by being knocked down and kicked by a runaway horse; her third lost his reason, consequent on his being ruined by the failure of the Liberator Building Society; while her fourth, whom she married, committed suicide the following year.

No less than eight times was Fraulein Marie Doring, a Viennese beauty, engaged to be married, and although all her lovers escaped with life, some accident or misfortune rendered each ineligible in the eyes of the capricious fair one, who did not hesitate promptly to elect a successor, in turn as promptly discarded when misfortune overtook him. Her first fiancee was utterly ruined at cards, her second lost his hand through a gun explosion, her third lost his money in a business speculation, her fourth had his good looks irrevocably marred by the kick of a horse, her fifth suffered imprisonment for forgery, her sixth was stricken down with paralysis, her seventh had his leg amputated while her eighth escaped all mishap, and eventually led her to the altar.

UNLUCKY JEANNE.

Another series of strange coincidences attended the lovers of Jeanne Leroy, a native of Marseilles. Her first fiancee was found drowned, her second was killed in a tavern brawl, her third vanished,

MIGHT HAVE BEEN QUEEN

PRINCESS WHO ESCAPED PORTUGUESE REVOLUTION.

Match Between King Manuel and Alexandra of Fife Vetted by King Edward.

One young woman in England at least is deeply interested in the Portuguese revolution. That is Princess Alexandra of Fife, the niece of King George, who, if her mother and the queen mother of Portugal had had their way, would have been Queen of Portugal before this. Perhaps if she had, Manuel would not have lost his throne, for the Portuguese people are keenly alive to the value of the alliance with England and the great trade in port wine and fruit which they do with Great Britain, says a London letter.

When Manuel came to England about a year ago he came wife hunting and his choice was Princess Alexandra. His mother, whose friendship with the Duchess of Fife dates from their school-girl days, was keenly anxious that the match should be arranged, and the Duchess of Fife was equally eager to unite the two houses, but King Edward and the Duke of Fife vetoed the match. The late King had a veritable flair for politics and he felt, rather than knew, that Manuel's throne was shaky, while the Duke of Fife, who is a Scotchman, and has all the Scotchman's canniness, didn't see the force of an alliance with one of the POOREST KINGS IN EUROPE.

Since then there have been rumors about Princess Alexandra's marriage to Prince Christopher, one of the younger sons of Prince George of Greece, but this has been vigorously denied. The chief foundation for it seems to rest in the fact that Prince Christopher is the favorite nephew of Queen Alexandra and she would like to see him make a match with a girl so wealthy as her granddaughter is sure to be.

The fact is that Princess Alexandra's future is a good deal of a problem to the royal family. She is a niece of the King, of course, but she is also the daughter of the man who is known as the bourgeois duke. The Duke of Fife was merely an earl before his marriage to the late King Edward's daughter, and he has never been received as an equal by the highest aristocracy. This is perhaps his own fault, for he is notoriously vulgar, although he is one of the wealthiest men in the kingdom, and as a result he is far from popular.

His daughter will be one of the richest of heiresses and she will be Duchess of Fife in her own right, for and isn't likely to have any and when the dukedom was created a special remainder was granted by which the title could pass in the female line. She will be one of the greatest territorial magnates in Scotland.

SHE HAS NO BROTHERS

A marriage with an English or Scottish nobleman would be popular, but now that Manuel is out of the running as an eligible she is likely to remain single for some time. She is young and shy, even

A SCORE OF CAMPAIGNS

STIRRING LIFE OF MELTON PRIOR, WHO DIED RECENTLY

Narrowly Escaped With Life in a Midnight Attack During War in Spain.

Melton Prior, the war correspondent and artist, whose death occurred on London, England, recently, saw some twenty-four campaigns and revolutions. There have been few men of his day, even among professional soldiers, who have seen more of the perils of the firing line. He was one of the foremost war correspondents and illustrators of the last half century. And by means of his facile pen and pencil, the general public of stay-at-homes were likewise made familiar with the Ashantee, Herzegovina, Kaffirland, Zulu, Transvaal, Egyptian, Soudan, Nile, Burmah, Tirah, Turko-Greek and other campaigns, some twenty-four in all. "The most rapid sketcher I ever knew," was Stanley's description of him.

Mr. Prior was a native of London. It was from his father, William Henry Prior, draftsman and landscape painter, that he inherited his talent. He studied art in Boulogne and in London, and in 1873 made his first appearance on the battlefield during the Ashantee War.

In his pretty villa, in the Newstead Road, which he made his home when not dwelling in tent or bivouac, were souvenirs gathered from all the world. A mute witness of that first campaign of his is the beheading sword from Ashantee, which beheaded some thirty human victims in the king's slaughter house as a last fetich sacrifice before the entrance of the British troops into Coomassie, a sight which the artist described toward the close of his career as one of the most terrible he had ever witnessed.

AIDED BY LORD WOLSELEY.

It was while mounting the hill into Coomassie that Prior, overcome with fatigue, found himself falling behind the soldiers. He caught the tail of a passing mule for support. The rider turned sharply, and the artist to his horror recognized Lord Wolseley.

"I beg your pardon, sir," gasped the offender.

"Hold on, Mr. Prior!" laughed his lordship. "We'll pull you in."

There is the saddle on which Mr. Prior rode during the memorable Nile expedition across the desert, and in connection with it the owner used to relate his vain attempt to reach ill-fated Khartoum by hiding himself on a steamer commanded by Sir Charles Wilson.

There are portraits of his old associates, Stanley, Boyle, Henty, and Cameron, and a sketch of Colonel North's party on the steamship Galicia, bound for Chili, Peru, and the nitrate fields.

He did his first regular work for the old "Penny Miscellany," contributing for three months without pay before his ability was recognized. Then a sketch of a flower show at the Botanic Gardens gave him his first footing on "The Illustrated London News," for which he wrote and drew for the rest of his

SOME HUGE CROCODILES

HUNTER DESCRIBES THE LEVIATHANS OF AFRICA.

Shot One 14 Feet Long—Wounded Another Which Was Half as Large.

"I have shot a number of crocodiles in the Zambesi and Luangwa Rivers and the largest one I taped measured 14 feet. Once on the Zambesi, while travelling in the river steamer Hamburg I saw and wounded a much bigger one. It was lying asleep on a sand bank about midday and I used a .303 rifle with a soft nosed bullet. When the bullet struck the crocodile raised its tail in the air and brought it down with a thump, as these reptiles often do when well hit.

"Thinking it was dead, I picked up a pair of binoculars and through them I saw the blood pouring out of the wound between the neck and shoulder. While I was looking I heard the crack of two Snider rifles and upon turning round I found that two Portuguese soldiers had both fired. Their bullets did not strike the crocodile, but and raised the sand some distance beyond. However, the crocodile seemed to revive and was quickly in the water before I could reload and fire again.

PASSED OVER IT

"This was far the largest crocodile I have ever seen, either in India or Africa, and it seemed half as long again as the fourteen foot one that I measured. Its bulk and girth were enormous and far exceeded an eighteen-foot garial I once measured in the Brahmaputra River in Assam. The skipper of the Hamburg, who had been some time on the Zambesi, told me he had never seen one approaching it in size. It was well hit with a raking shot and I fancy it died, but shall always regret that I did not fire again and make sure of this, for I could have persuaded the skipper to stop the steamer and put me ashore so that I might have taped the animal. In fact he said he would have done so had the crocodile not escaped. The eighteen-foot garial I measured in the Brahmaputra was a large one, but I believe I have seen

A FEW BIGGER.

In 1894 these animals were very plentiful, although in five or six years they got scarcer, as many people used to fire at them from the passing steamers.

"I have an idea that the late Sir Samuel Baker mentions a large crocodile in his book on the sources of the Nile, but it is so many years since I read the work in question that I have forgotten the facts.

"A crocodile is an awkward animal to skin, for the skin is very firmly attached to the body. A good many natives are killed by these animals every year, and in places where they are dangerous the natives make a circular fence in the water to protect themselves when bathing and drawing water."

CONGO HEAD HUNTING.

Junela, Trovadia, That Mark the hap, eventually led her to the altar.

UNLUCKY JEANNE.

Another series of strange coincidences attended the lovers of Jeanne Leroy, a native of Marseilles. Her first fiancée was found drowned, her second was killed in a tavern brawl, her third vanished, as it were, into space, and her fourth was discovered lying dead in circumstances that pointed to foul play.

Her fifth, too, whom she married, almost lost his life at the hands of a Spaniard, who, however, received such injuries during the struggle, that his death occurred a few days later. Although the Spaniard made no confession, the fact of his having for years cherished a fierce though hopeless passion for the girl, on whose lover he made such a dastardly attack, seemed to suggest to many people that the death of one or more of the other suitors might be placed to his account.

There is no explanation of the fate that overtook the aspirants to the hand of another young lady, the daughter of a Parisian jeweller. Although seemingly possessed of every quality to make a man happy, no sooner had she accepted the offer of some ardent suitor than on the latter fell disaster of his own seeking. Thrice was she engaged, and each engagement ended with the suicide of her lover in a foreign land, whither, apparently, he had fled in a vain attempt to break free once and for all from the bonds that held him.—London Answers.

MYSTERIES OF TOBACCO.

A Little Book Says It is Very Injurious.

Probably more than nine-tenths of males are smokers, at all events among those who have reached years of discretion. A great deal has been said and written from time to time about the evil effects of smoking, apparently without very widespread effect. A warning is once again given to users of tobacco in a little book, "How Are You?" by Leonard Henslowe, which deals with the problem of health generally. In his chapter on "Is Tobacco Really Injurious?" we read:

"The poison in a single pound of tobacco is enough to kill three hundred men if taken in such a way as to secure its full effect. A single cigar contains poison enough to extinguish two human lives if taken at once. Instant death has been produced by applying a little of the oil from the stem of a pipe to a sore upon the hand of a child. The smoke of tobacco contains other poisons which are fatal when received into the system in any but minute quantities. Thus it is not to nicotine alone that the evil effects of smoking are due, but to all these poisons combined. Inhalation is the most speedy way of getting any volatile poison into the system."

One wonders how many smokers among our readers will be influenced by even these strong words.

"That nephew of yours is a little wild, I'll admit," said Uncle Jerry's neighbor, trying to comfort him, "but he'll reform as he grows older. Leave him to time and nature." "Time and nature?" snapped Uncle Jerry. "It's time and nature that makes Limburger cheese what it is."

which the title could pass in the female line. She will be one of the greatest territorial magnates in Scotland.

A marriage with an English or Scottish nobleman would be popular, but now that Manuel is out of the running as an eligible she is likely to remain single for some time. She is young and shy, even for her years, and the gossips declare that she is rather stupid and undeveloped.

The Greek marriage was out of the question. Prince Christopher had absolutely no private fortune and no home in Greece to which he could take her. He would have to settle down in Scotland as the Duchess of Fife's husband and for dynastic reasons he could hardly have become a British subject and thus rendered himself eligible for a British title which would have placed him on an equality with his wife.

LAWYERS IN GERMANY.

Not Allowed to Advertise—Fees Fixed by Statute.

The German law fixes the exact fees which a German attorney has to claim for all kinds of professional work and the rechtsanwalt can charge neither more nor less.

These fees apply to all matters of the Civil Code and of criminal cases. The amount, according to the Green Bag, depends exclusively on the value of the object of contention.

It is an old though still unfulfilled wish of German lawyers to have a new fixed list of fees—not made after the old and low standard of the year 1879, but made with consideration to the changes—the numerous decided changes—which have taken place since that year.

The rechtsanwalt is attorney and councillor at law in one (in England solicitor and barrister). The rechtsanwalt can never be a business man as is the case in the United States.

The exercise of the law is not to be considered a calling or profession, but is to be looked on more as a public office. According to the lawyers' code of the 1st of July, 1878, lawyers are charged publicly with certain duties.

He is obliged to have his residence in the town or district where he is appointed (so-called residence duty). Further, he must conduct himself in and out of office in a way befitting his professional and social standing (i.e., duty due to his rank. Thus a lawyer is forbidden to advertise in newspapers, by canvassing, etc., or to buy or take over a practice already made, as being unworthy of his calling.

His position in society is between officials and scholars and through custom and law he is compelled to keep the position to the last degree. This compulsion to keep one's rank has given rise to the existence of committees called anwaltskammern, whose duty it is to keep a strict watch that no lawyer dishonors his calling. These committees have a strict code of punishment, ranging to complete expulsion from office. In this way the lawyers in Germany have a good and honored position; in fact there is scarcely a country in which the lawyer enjoys more respect and confidence.

A man fears a woman's tears as much as he fears her tongue.

the nitrate fields.

He did his first regular work for the old "Penny Miscellany," contributing for three months without pay before his ability was recognized. Then a sketch of a flower show at the Botanic Gardens gave him his first footing on "The Illustrated London News," for which he wrote and drew for the rest of his life. The first drawing he sent home, the gallant 42nd advancing on the Ashantees in the bush, was one of the best things he ever produced.

NARROW ESCAPE.

During the Carlist War he narrowly escaped with his life in a midnight attack, surprising the troops of Alfonso in the foremost trench at Pampeluna. The Herzegovinian insurrection against Turkey found him with Peco Pavlovitch. Then followed the Russo-Turkish War, in which Mr. Prior followed the Turkish armies. In the Kafir and Basuto wars he had many narrow escapes. He witnessed the fight with the Boers at Majuba Hill, and was the only man of the English forces who slept in the Boer camp the first night after the proclamation of peace, where he witnessed and described their remarkable thanksgiving ceremonies.

Then followed the Zulu War, with Mr. Prior everywhere at the front in the thickest of the fight. The fights at Abu-Klea and Abou-Krou, where he was hit three times, he describes as the most hazardous struggle he ever witnessed.

In South America he was present at the Venezuelan, Brazilian and Argentine insurrections. He was with Jameson's raid, and accompanied the troops in the Matabele and Afriidi Wars. He was on the north-west frontier in India, and in Crete during her insurrection. He was also at the siege of Ladysmith in 1900.

WOUNDED MANY TIMES.

From 1872 to 1886 Melton Prior passed only one year in which he did not see service. He was wounded many times.

Besides these martial expeditions, Prior represented illustrated journals on many of the Royal journeys. He went to Athens with the Prince of Wales' suite in 1875; accompanied the Marquis and Marchioness of Lorne on their first visit to Canada; was at the Berlin Conference; at the funeral of the late Czar and the wedding of the present one; at the Delhi Durbar in 1902, and at every State ceremony that occurred during his periods of rest in England.

WHAT MAY HAPPEN.

When women get the ballot if a handsome man runs against a pretty girl what will be the result? All the women will vote for the handsome man, and all the men will vote for the pretty girl. Husbands and wives will quarrel over the affair, and the divorce courts will be choked with trade. It looks dangerous.

NOT LIKE MARRIED PEOPLE.

"You'd never guess they were man and wife."

"Why not?"

"She never contradicts any statement that he makes."

WHERE IS HE?

What has become of the old-fashioned gentleman who wore a rubber collar and washed it himself?

good many natives are killed by these animals every year, and in places where they are dangerous the natives make a circular fence in the water to protect themselves when bathing and drawing water."

CONGO HEAD HUNTING.

Jungle Tragedies That Mark the Production of Rubber.

Men dashing along the highways in their automobiles and other rubber-tired conveyances little conceive, says the Cleveland Herald, how much sweat and blood are mixed up with the rubber that is used in the various industries in these modern times. The story of the rubber industry of the Congo has been the sensation and scandal of modern times. The poor natives that originally owned the forest are having a terrible time in making the trees keep up with the demand of our age and the cruel greed of the human heart. Such large quantities of juice are required from each workman, so many hours of labor are demanded, so little pay is allowed, such harsh treatment is received, that life has become a disappointment and misery to a majority of the native workmen and families of the Congo; and added to the perils we have mentioned there is that of the head hunters, who creep upon the workmen unawares, cut off their heads and eat their bodies. In the Congo one of the most industrious people are the Batetala. In gathering rubber they go into the forests inhabited by the Baukutu head-hunting cannibals. While the men are in the forest the camp is guarded by a man who surveys the surroundings from a scaffold, and by a drummer. When the Baukutu are seen to approach, the drummer beats the alarm and all the men return to the camp to fight. The weapons used are the spear, shield, bow and arrow. This sentinel earns in the neighborhood of $100 of our money a year, which enables him to buy a wife.

CHOLERA MICROBES.

Some important experiments have been carried out recently in the public health laboratories at the London Hospital in connection with the destruction of cholera microbes in water. As a result it has been found that the presence of chlorine gas in infinitesimal proportions leads to the rapid destruction of all cholera germs. Dr. H. W. Harding, who has ascertained this fact, says in his report to the Lancet that "most waters if treated with one part of chlorine per 1,000,000 for fifteen minutes would be free from the cholera vibrio." Chlorine is a yellowish green gas which in any quantity has intensely irritating and suffocative properties, but in the minute proportion indicated would hardly if at all affect the palatability of drinking water. In any case it can be removed by the addition of suitable chemicals after it has done its work of purification.

CANNED.

"What became of that peach of a hired girl you had?"
"Wife canned her."

Love really is blind, and this accounts for the neckties some women buy for their husbands.

THE SECRET OF HER POWER;

Or, A TRUTH NEVER OLD.

CHAPTER IX.—(Cont'd)

"My dear Dolly! what unkind exaggeration! If I tell you anything, you will be sure not to repeat what I say? Mme. Sabaroff considers me a stranger to her; I am bound to accept her decision on such a point."

"You knew her in Russia?"

"Yes; when I was there she was the new beauty at the court. She had been married a year or less to Paul Sabaroff. I had the honor of her friendship at that time; if she withdraws it now I must acquiesce."

"Oh!"

Lady Usk gives a little sound between a snort and a sigh.

She is annoyed. The gossipers are right, then. She is sorry the children have been so much with their friend, and she is infuriated at the idea of her husband's triumph over her credulity.

"Oh, pray don't think—don't think for a moment," murmurs Gervase; but his cousin understands that it is the conventional compulsory expostulation which every man who is well bred is bound to make on such subjects.

"She must have been very young then?" she says, beating impatiently on her blotting-book with her gold pen.

"Very young; but such a husband as Paul Sabaroff made is—well—a more than liberal education to any woman, however young. She was sixteen, I think, and very lovely, though she is perhaps handsomer now. I had the honor of her confidence; she was unhappy and in-comprise; her father had given her hand in discharge of a debt at cards; Sabaroff was a gambler and a brute; at the end of a second winter season he had a violent fit of jealousy and sent her to his estate on the White Sea—"

"Jealousy of you?"

Gervase bowed.

"There she was kept in a state of surveillance scarcely better than absolute imprisonment. I did all manner of crazy and romantic things to endeavor to see her; and once or twice I succeeded, but he had discovered letters of mine and made her captivity more rigorous than ever. I myself was ordered on the special mission to Spain—you remember—and I left Russia with a broken heart. From that time to this I have never seen her."

"But your broken heart has continued to do its daily work?"

"It is a figure of speech. I adored her, and the husband was a brute. When Leinitz shot him he only rid the world of a brute. You have seen that broad bracelet she wears above the right elbow? People always talk so about it. She wears it to hide where Sabaroff broke her arm one night in his violence; the marks of it are there forever."

Lady Usk is silent; she is divided between her natural compassion

"Not at all. Only just at that time—"

"Manillas, mandolines, balconies, bull-fights, high mass and moonlight had the supremacy! My dear Alan, tell your story how you will, you can't make yourself heroic."

"I have not the slightest pretension to do so," says Gervase, very much annoyed. "I have no heroism. I leave it to Lord Blanford, who has been shipwrecked five hundred times, I believe, and ridden as many dromedaries over unknown sand plains as Gordon—"

"As you don't care in the least for her why should you care if his shipwrecks and dromedaries interest her? We don't know that they do, but—"

"How little sympathy you have!"

"George says I have always a great deal too much. What do you want me to sympathize with? According to your own story you 'loved and rode away'; at least, took a thorough ticket across Europe, as Lovelace has to do in these prosaic days. If you did not go back to Russia when you might have gone back a qui la faute? Nobody's but your own and the nameless Spanish lady or ladies!"

"You are very perverse." "It is you who are, or who were, perverse. According to your own statement you adored a woman when she was unattainable; when she became attainable you did not even take the trouble to get into a railway carriage; you were otherwise amused. What romantic element is there in such a tale as yours to excite the smallest fragment of interest? To judge you out of your own mouth, you seem to me to have behaved with most uninteresting inconstancy."

"It was four years, and she had never answered my letters."

"Really a reason to make you esteem her infinitely more than if she had answered them. My dear Alan, you are a flirt, and you forgot, as flirts forget; why should one pity you for being so comfortably and so easily consoled? You ought to be infinitely grateful that Mme. Sabaroff did not send you reams of reproaches, and telegraph you compromising messages which would have got you into trouble in Downing street. The tiring died a natural death, you did not care to keep it alive, why are you now all lamentations over its grave? I really do not follow the course of your emotions—if you feel any emotion—I thought you never did. Mme. Sabaroff has never been a person difficult to follow or to find; the fashionable intelligence of the newspapers would at any time have enabled you to know where she was; you never had inclination or remembrance enough to make you curious to see her again, and then when you come across her in a country house you think yourself very ill-used because she does not in the least. Everybody knows what he is with women." He pauses a moment, then adds, with some hesitation:

"Dear Dorothy, you know her very well. Don't you think you could find out for me, and tell me—"

"What?"

"Well, what she thinks or does not think; in a word, how I stand with her."

"No—oh, no, my dear Alan; I couldn't attempt anything of that sort—in my house, too; it would seem so horribly rude. Besides, I am not in the least—not the very least—intimate with her. I think her charming; we are bonne connaissances; the children adore her; but I have never said anything intimate to her in my life—never."

"But you have so much tact."

"The more tact I have the less likely shall I be to recall to her what she is evidently perfectly determined to ignore. You can do it yourself if you want it done. You are not usually shy."

Gervase gets up impatiently and walks about in the narrow limits of the boudoir to the peril of Sevres and Saxe.

"But women have a hundred indirect ways of finding out everything; you might discover perfectly well if you chose, whether—whether she feels anger or any other sentiment; whether—whether, in a word, it would be prudent to recall the past to her."

Lady Usk shakes her head with energy, stirring all its pretty blonde curls, real and false. "Entre l'arbre et l'ecorce ne mettez pas le doigt. That is sound advice which I have heard given at the Franciais."

"That is said of not interfering between married people."

"It is generally true of people who wish or may not wish to marry. And I suppose, Alan, that when you speak in my house of renewing your—your—relations with the Princess Sabaroff, you do not mean that you have any object less serious than le bon motif?"

Gervase is amused, although he is disconcerted and irritated.

(To be continued.)

SCENE OF AMAZING ACTIVITY.

Whole Chinese Empire Going In For Various Forms of Education.

During the last year or two the Chinese have taken up wireless telegraphy with especial earnestness, states a writer who returned from that country not long ago after the third visit of six months' duration to the Chinese empire in the last ten years. Two hundred men are studying it in a school established by the Government especially for the purpose. There are many wireless stations at Tibet. And even the small Chinese river gunboats are equipped with wireless. The whole empire to-day, in short, is a scene of amazing military and educational activity. Wherever I went on the trains I saw military camps, in which part of the 5,000,000 army which China is mobilizing, is being trained. Schools are being opened literally by thousands. There are railroad schools, telegraph schools, postoffice schools, custom house schools, normal schools, laboratories, museums and libraries. The teachers in these schools are partly foreign, but chiefly native. All these schools have recently been established by the Imperial Government itself to further the national desire for being up to date. The Chinese admire the English-speaking races, and turn their thumbs up as a sign of gratification whenever they see one of our fellow-countrymen.

In spite of the fact that the Im-

CAUSE AND CURE OF RHEUMATISM

Due to Impurities in the Blood—Cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

The most noticeable and immediate result of rheumatism is a marked thinning of the blood, and in no disease does it develop more rapidly. Not only does the blood become weak but it is soon filled with impurities, which the different organs of the body have been unable to throw off. One of the most harmful of these impurities is uric acid, which is formed from the waste products of the body. In health it is readily passed off by the kidneys with the help of oxygen from the red corpuscles of the blood. Without oxygen the kidneys are unable to rid the system of this acid and it is retained in the blood and distributed to all parts of the body. The weak back, pains across the kidneys and thin scanty, highly colored secretions, which follow, show that the acid is already in the blood and often leads the sufferer to think he has kidney trouble. If the disease is not driven out of the blood, rheumatism can never be cured, and the sufferer will always be subject to attacks, whenever exposed to damp or cold. With each returning attack the pain becomes more severe and complications often arise, making necessary the use of habit forming drugs to relieve pain.

It is readily seen that the only way to cure rheumatism is through the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills afford such treatment as they contain all the elements necessary to build up and purify the blood. They increase its oxygen carrying capacity enabling the kidneys to pass the uric acid from the body, and the other organs to do their work. This rheumatism is reached at its root and permanently cured. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are absolutely free from all habit-forming drugs, and are not an experiment as the following case will show:—Mr. W. Studley Lewis, Pilot Mound, Man., says:—"I am a firm believer in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and always keep some by me in case of need. A few years ago while teaching school I suffered so much with rheumatism in my arms and shoulders that I had the greatest difficulty in writing on the blackboard, and after trying a number of remedies without benefit, I was almost in despair, and felt inclined to abandon teaching. But one day I happened to pick up one of Dr. Williams' almanacs, and read of the cure of a number of severe cases of rheumatism through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. This decided me to give the Pills a trial, and I had only taken them a few weeks when I felt much better. In the course of a few weeks more the pains and stiffness had all left me, and I had no more difficulty in doing my work. I cannot say enough in praise of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for they and they alone cured me of my rheumatism."

Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Frank
On
beta radie Anser
of th cebab was dan,
the c Napo upon thus in the eveni nation
Gen. was l diagu
and Engli
since
The
was ed 4
than dural syste
the c Bour which vario gave Bona in 18
Bona
was bon 1814, tion being mons Phili
was
and whiel pire this prese
The longe of its sever only becau peopl other until 1879 MacI
what which
it. I Boul Man confi throu
the 1804, four
the c Unit
of th at th
Five by t allian
and gives affair previ parti centu
The
as so lo, w came when about when a has befor
ing v
"H
you
I cal
"M reply virtu
"M
you'
"Y
I sh
don

only rid the world of a brute. You have seen that broad bracelet she wears above the right elbow? People always talk so about it. She wears it to hide where Sabaroff broke her arm one night in his violence; the marks of it are there forever."

Lady Usk is silent; she is divided between her natural compassion and sympathy, which are very easily roused, and her irritation at discovering that her new favorites is what Usk would call "just like the rest of them."

"You perceive," he added, "that, as the princess chooses to ignore the past, it is not for me to recall it. I am obliged to accept her decision, however much I must suffer from it."

"Suffer!" echoes the cousin. "After her husband's death you never took the trouble to cross Europe to see her!"

"She had never answered my letters," said Gervase; but he feels that the excuse is a frail one. And how, he thinks, angrily, should a good woman like his cousin, who has never flirted in her life and never done anything which might not have been printed in the daily papers, understand a man's inevitable inconstancy.

"I assure you that I never loved any woman as I loved her," he continues.

"Then you are another proof, if one were wanted, that men have died and worms have eaten them, but not for—"

"I did not die, certainly," Gervase says, much irritated, "but I suffered greatly, whether you choose to believe it or not."

"I am not inclined to believe it," replies his hostess. "It is not your style."

"I wrote to her a great many times."

He pauses. Lady Usk fills up the pause. "And she answered you?" she inquires.

"N-no," replies Gervase, unwillingly to confess such an affront to him. "She did not write. Prudence, I suppose, or perhaps she might be too closely watched, or her letters might be stopped; who can say?"

"Nobody but herself, clearly. Well!"

"I was sent to Madrid, and I heard nothing of her except that Sabaroff was shot in a duel about her with Leitnitz, but that was two years afterward."

"And when he was shot why did you not in due course go to the White sea, or wherever she was, and offer yourself?"

"The truth is, I had become acquainted with a Spanish lady—"

"A great many Spanish ladies, no doubt! What a half-hearted Lethario!"

sculpt to follow or to find; the fashionable intelligence of the newspapers would at any time have enabled you to know where she was; you never had inclination or remembrance enough to make you curious to see her again, and then when you come across her in a country house you think yourself very ill-used because she does not all at once fall into your arms. You couldn't possibly care about her since you never tried to see her all those years!"

Dorothy Usk is really annoyed. "Pray, did you know that she is as rich as she is?" she asks, with some sharpness in her tone.

Gervase colors a little, being conscious that his response cannot increase his cousin's sympathies with him.

"No; is she rich? Paul Sabaroff was poor. He had gambled away nearly everything. Your children have a great deal of blague about her riches, but I suppose it is all nonsense."

"Not nonsense at all. Two years ago some silver was discovered on a bit of rough land which belonged to her somewhere beyond the Urals, I think, and she is enormously rich—will be richer every year, they say."

"Indeed!"

He endeavors to look indifferent, but his cousin's penetrating eyes seem to him to be regarding his very soul.

"How dreadfully sorry he must be that he didn't leave Madrid," she thinks, and aloud says irritably: "Why on earth didn't you try to renew things with her all these three years?"

"I imagined that I had forgotten her."

"Well, so you had; completely forgotten her till you saw her here."

"On my honor, she is the only woman I have ever really loved."

"Oh, men always say that of somebody or another, generally of the most impossible people. George always declares that the only woman he ever really loved was a pastry cook when he was at Christchurch."

"Dear Dorothy, don't joke. I assure you I am thoroughly in earnest."

"She certainly has forgotten you."

She knows that for him to be convinced of this is the surest way to revive a died-out passion.

"Who knows! She would be indifferent in that case, and polite, as it is she is cold, even rude."

"That may be resentment."

"Resentment means remembrance."

"Oh, not always."

"Then she has a number of my letters."

"So you said; you cannot be so very sure she has kept them. Other people may have written her the same sort of letters, or more admirable letters still; how can you tell?"

He colors angrily.

"She is not a femme legere."

"She is receiving a great deal of attention now from Lord Blanford, and she does not seem to dislike it. They say he writes exquisite letters to women he is fond of; I don't know myself, because I have never had anything more interesting from him than notes about dinners or visits, but they say so. They even say that his deserted ladies forgive his desertions because he writes his farewells so divinely."

Lord Blanford's epistolary accomplishments do not interest me

The teachers in these schools are partly foreign, but chiefly native. All these schools have recently been established by the Imperial Government itself to further the national desire for being up to date. The Chinese admire the English-speaking races, and turn their thumbs up as a sign of gratification whenever they see one of our fellow-countrymen.

In spite of the fact that the Imperial Government is giving the Chinese every possible concession in the way of education, there is considerable dissatisfaction at being governed under a regency. China's last three monarchs have been babies when they first came to the throne. The Chinese feel that they are passing through a critical period of their history, and that they need especially now a full-grown man to govern them. For this reason, what might be called China's "anti-baby" feeling is very strong.

WHOLE COUNTY IS RINGING WITH IT

Wonderful Cures of Rheumatism By Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Mrs. Hutchins of Durham, Que., could not walk across the room—Story of her speedy and complete cure.

Durham, Que., Oct. 24. (Special)—Missisquoi County is ringing with the story of Mrs. G. M. Hutchins, who after suffering from Rheumatism, Lumbago and Neuralgia, is again a strong, hearty woman. In an interview Mrs. Hutchins says: "I was affected with Rheumatism, Neuralgia and Lumbago. My limbs would swell; my muscles would cramp; I was nervous and had a heavy dragging sensation across the loins."

"I could not even walk across the room. Then I started to take Dodd's Kidney Pills and after taking six boxes found myself in the best of health—as well as ever I was in my life."

Mrs. Hutchins' troubles were all caused by Kidney Disease. That's why Dodd's Kidney Pills cured them so completely and quickly. Dodd's Kidney Pills cure not only Kidney Disease, but they are a sure cure for any form of it from Backache to Bright's Disease.

The Thieving Arabs.

"Their whole lives are given up to the breeding of their flocks and herds and to systematic robbery," writes Douglas Caruthers of his experiences in northwestern Arabia. "The Bedouin lives in his tent for a week at a time or until the fit comes over him, and he calls his companions, and off they go on a foray to steal camels in order to increase their own herds. The Arab's great idea is to possess a rifle, for that means power. In order to do this he must steal camels. So, having stolen camels, he purchases a rifle. Then come more raids to take more camels, this time in order to buy a wife. Camels are their sole means of exchange."

A Fair Proposition.

A popular comedian and playwright was praising the humorous value of suggestions. "It is funnier to suggest a thing," he said, "than to say it out. Playwrights should remember this. Suggestion—pregnant suggestion—is what makes really funny the little boy's remark to his father. 'Pa, if you help me with my arithmetic lesson to-night I'll tell you where ma hid your trousers.'" enough in praise of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for they and they alone cured me of my rheumatism."

Shiloh's Cure quickly stops coughs, cures colds, heals the throat and lungs . . . 25 cents.

Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Protection From Lightning.

Str Oliver Lodge stated that the problem of securing protection from lightning consisted in finding the best method of dissipating the enormous energy of the flash, but that it was not wise to get rid of the energy too quickly. A thin iron wire is considered the best lightning conductor from the electrical point of view, but it is almost impossible to protect a building from lightning unless it is completely enveloped in a metal cage. It is by no means true that a building is safe when provided with a conductor reaching up to the highest part of the building.

The Origin of Grocer.

Grocer appears in Hollinshed's Chronicle, 1580, as "groosser," and in other mediaeval records it is sometimes written "engroosser" and was applied to the spicers and pepperers who were wholesale dealers in various spices—that is, who dealt en groce—in large quantities, as distinguished from "retailers," who were retail dealers. The Grocers' company first adopted the word grocer in 1378, when the spicers and pepperers allied themselves into a single corporation.—London Express.

Agreed With Her.

Tramp (at the door)—If you please, lady— Mrs. Maggs (sternly)—There, that will do. I am tired of this everlasting whine of "Lady, lady." I am just a plain woman, and— Tramp—You are, madam, one of the plainest women I've ever seen an' one of the honestest to own up to it.

Cruel.

Mrs. Benham—Every time I sing to the baby he cries. Benham—He gets his ability as a musical critic from my side of the house.—New York Press.

Prosperity demands of us more prudence and moderation than adversity.

Shiloh's Cure quickly stops coughs, cures colds, heals the throat and lungs. . . . 25 cents.

There's many a penitent man in the penitentiary.

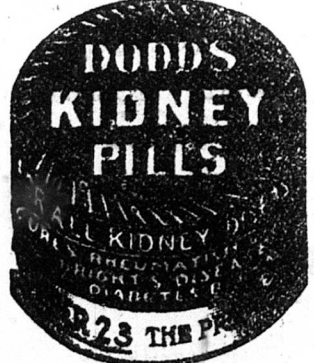

Minard's Liniment Cures Burns, Etc.

LIFE LINES.

There is good in each and some bad in all; the man who would preach must help them who fall.

Home • DYEING • Is the way to Save Money and Dress Well Try it! Simple as Washing with DYOLA ONE OVER ALL KINDS OF COLORED

JUST THINK OF IT! Dyes Wool, Cotton, Silk or Mixed Goods Perfectly with the SAME Dye—No chance of mistakes. Fast and Beautiful Colors in 10 minutes from your Druggist or Dealer. Send for Color Chart and DYEING Booklet. The Johnson-Richardson Co., Limited, Montreal.

THE THIRD REPUBLIC.

France's Latest Form of Government
Now Over 40 Years Old.

On September 4, 1870, Leon Gambetta, speaking for himself and other radical members of the Legislative Assembly, announced the deposition of the Bonapartist dynasty and the establishment of the republic. This was two days after the battle of Sedan, in the Franco-German war, and the capture of MacMahon's army and Napoleon III. The campaign entered upon so confidently by that potentate thus collapsed and he was a prisoner in the hands of the Germans. On the evening of the 4th the government of national defence was established, with Gen. Trochu at the head. While this was being done the Empress Eugenie, disguised, fled secretly from Paris and entered Belgium, on her way to England, where she has resided ever since.

The governmental scheme which was created on September 4 has lasted 40 years and is stronger to-day than it ever was in the past. In duration it has outlived any other system which France has had since the overthrow of Louis XVI. and the Bourbons in 1792. The first republic, which began in 1792, lasted, in its various shapes, until 1804, when it gave way to the first empire, under Bonaparte, and that was subverted in 1814, in the war waged against Bonaparte by combined Europe. It was succeeded by the restored Bourbon monarchy under Louis XVIII. in 1814, which went down in the revolution of July, in 1830, Charles X, then being at its head. The Orleanist monarchy of the Citizen King Louis Philippe, which was created in 1830, was submerged in the storm of 1848, and the second republic was started, which gave place to the second empire in 1852, under Napoleon III., and this collapsed at Sedan, when the present regime came into being.

Thus the third republic has had a longer career than that of any two of its predecessors since 1792. For several years it was conceded to be only an experiment, which endured because a majority of the French people could not unite upon any other form of government. Along until the end of the Presidency in 1879 of Napoleon III.'s old warrior, MacMahon, there was doubt as to whether it would weather the storms which seemed to be gathering around it. Even as recently as 1889, in the Boulanger scare, the advent of the Man on Horseback was often very confidently predicted. But it passed through the tentative stage before the death of President Carnot in 1904, and is now a permanency. Just four days after Gambetta proclaimed the establishment of the republic the United States cabled its recognition of the new regime and welcomed it at the council board of the nations. Five months later it was recognized by the great powers of Europe. Its alliance with England and Russia and its ententes with other countries gives France a larger influence in the affairs of the world than it exerted previously since the days of Bonaparte's power in the first republic a century ago.

The Careful Sentry.

The young private had been posted as sentry on C squadron stables. But, lo, when the sergeant of the guard came round on his visit he was nowhere to be seen. The sergeant was about to depart to make inquiries when there came a rustling noise from a heap of straw and the sentry stood before him minus his boots and looking very sleepy.

"Hello!" cried the sergeant. "Here you are, eh? Where were you when I came round just now?"

"Marchin' round," was the sentry's reply, given in tones of conscious virtue.

"Marchin' round, were you? Why, you've got your boots off!"

"Yes, sergeant; I took 'em off so's I shouldn't wake the 'osses!"—London Tit-Bits.

Identified.

William M. Chase, the artist, was a picturesque figure, dressing in clothes that had a certain originality, though they conformed more or less to the prevailing fashions. On one occasion Chase on his way home stepped into a little wine shop and ordered a jug of claret of a special brand sent to his house. The lad who brought it came to the front door an hour afterward, when the artist had already arrived. "Some wine," he said curtly. The maid, knowing there was yet plenty in the cellar and believing the lad had made a mistake, said she was sure it was not for that house and did the boy remember the name of the man who ordered it. The boy didn't. "Then," said the servant, "you're come to the wrong place; we never ordered wine!" At this moment the boy spied Chase's famous hat on the hall table. "Say," he asked, "does that hat live here?" "Yes," said the amused maid. "Then," said the boy triumphantly, "here's where the wine belongs!"—Argonaut.

Not For Fashion's Sake.

The criminal law of England was formerly marked by indiscriminating severity. Theft of an article valued above 10 shillings was punished with death. In writing about "Sweet Hampstead and Its Associations" Mrs. White records a pleasant thing of Lord Mansfield, who, as a rule, leaned to the side of mercy. It was Lord Mansfield who directed a jury to find a stolen trinket less in value than 10 shillings in order that the thief might escape capital punishment. To this the jeweler who prosecuted demurred, asserting that the fashion of the thing had cost him twice that money.

"Gentlemen," replied the judge, with grave solemnity, "we ourselves stand in need of mercy. Let us not hang a man for the fashion's sake!"

HE FEARED BLOOD POISON.

But Zam-Buk Saved his Thumb!

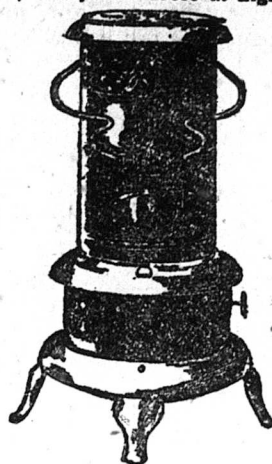

Once again a case is reported in which the popular balm Zam-Buk has saved a worker from the terrible effects of blood-poisoning. Mr. Alfred Hy. Orth, of Shipley, Ont., says: "While at work I had the misfortune to run a rusty nail under my thumb nail, to the depth of about one and a half inches. The pain was terrible and what I feared was that the nail, being so dirty and rusty, would set up festering and blood-poison. I knew from previous experience how good Zam-Buk was, so I cleaned the thumb, melted a little Zam-Buk, and ran it into the wound. The result was wonderful! It soothed the pain and the thumb actually did not swell. Zam-Buk kept away all inflammation. I was able to go on with my work all the time, and in a few days the thumb was as good as ever. A balm which can do this should be in every working man's home."

Being composed of pure vegetable essences, Zam-Buk is an ideal balm for babies and young children.

Zam-Buk is a sure cure for ulcers, abscesses, eczema, ringworm, blood-poison, scalp sores, chapped hands, cold sores, inflamed patches, bad leg, varicose veins and ulcers, piles, cuts, burns, bruises, and all skin diseases and injuries. Sold by all druggists and storekeepers at 50c a box, 3 for $1.25. Post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Avoid harmful imitations and substitutes.

Temporary Heat Quickly

Did you ever stop to think of the many ways in which a perfect oil heater is of value? If you want to sleep with your window open in winter, you can get sufficient heat from an oil heater while you undress at night, and then turn it off. Apply a match in the morning, when you get out of bed, and you have heat while you dress. Those who have to eat an early breakfast before the stove is radiating heat can get immediate warmth from an oil heater, and then turn it off.

The girl who practices on the piano in a cold room in the morning can have warmth from an oil heater while she plays, and then turn it off.

The member of the family who has to walk the floor on a cold winter's night with a restless baby can get temporary heat with an oil heater, and then turn it off. The

PERFECTION
SMOKELESS
OIL HEATER

Absolutely smokeless and odorless is invaluable in its capacity of quickly giving heat. Apply a match and it is immediately at work. It will burn for nine hours without refilling. It is safe, smokeless and odorless. It has a damper top and a cool handle. An indicator always shows the amount of oil in the font.

It has an automatic-locking flame spreader which prevents the wick from being turned high enough to smoke, and is easy to remove and drop back so that the wick can be cleaned in an instant.

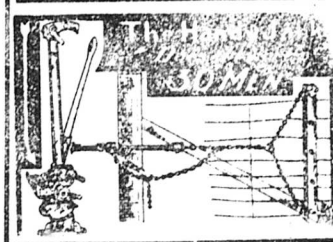

The burner body or gallery cannot become wedged, and can be quickly unscrewed for reworking. Finished in Japan or nickel, strong, durable, well-made, built for service, and yet light and ornamental.

Dealers Everywhere. If not at years, write for descriptive circular to the nearest agency of the

The Queen City Oil Company,
Limited.

MICA AXLE GREASE
is the turning-point to economy in wear and tear of wagons. Try a box. Every dealer everywhere.
The Imperial Oil Co., Ltd.
Ontario Agents: The Queen City Oil Co., Ltd.

MAPLEINE
A flavoring used the same as lemon or vanilla. By dissolving in alcohol or water, and adding Mapleine, a delicious syrup is made and a syrup better than maple. Mapleine is sold by grocers. If not send for 25c. bottle and recipe book. Crescent Bk. Co., Seattle, Wa.

Farmers!
This is the handiest thing on the farm. It lifts, stretches, pushes, pulls, or presses anything, everything. Investigate. Send for Booklet D.

$5 A DAY
The "Handy" Lifting Jack is a combination Lifting Jack and Wire Fence Stretcher. Equals any stretcher on the market, costs less. Has a dozen other uses besides. Pulls posts, mends and stretches single wire, sets tires, heads barrels, lifts heavily loaded wagons, traction engines and small buildings. Easily operated. Weighs only 22 pounds. Guaranteed for five years. Thousands being sold. An energetic farmer or other good man wanted to represent us in every locality. Write at once before your territory is taken.
HARDY JACK MFG. CO., SARNIA, ONT.

VENETIAN WOMEN.

The Whims of Fashion Hold No Terrors For Them.

The women of Venice are absolutely free from the rule which Dame Fashion exercises over their sisters elsewhere. They care nothing for modes. With them the length of the skirt remains always the same, neither short nor long, and they always wear plainly made dark dresses, black stockings and the beardless slippers of the east. Hats are unknown.

The universal outdoor wrap for all ages and all sizes is the black shawl, with a deep silken fringe. It is folded

DISCOURAGED THE DEER.

A visitor at a hotel in the Scotch Highlands was asking a gillie as to the prospect of securing game.

"Are there over any deer about here?" he inquired.

"Weel," replied the gillie, thoughtfully, "there was yin, but the gentlemen were aye shooting and shooting at it, and I'm thinking it left the district."

Perry Davis' Painkiller. Its effects are almost instantaneous. Cures cuts, burns and bruises, taken internally cures cramps, diarrhea and dysentery. Avoid substitutes. There is but one "Painkiller"—Perry Davis—25c and 50c.

"Hello!" cried the sergeant. "Here you are, eh? Where were you when I came round just now?"

"Marchin' round," was the sentry's reply, given in tones of conscious virtue.

"Marchin' round, were you? Why, you've got your boots off!"

"Yes, sergeant, I took 'em off so's I shouldn't wake the 'osses!"—London Tit-Bits.

A MOTHER'S ADVICE TO OTHER MOTHERS

Mrs. Nicholas Breau, Rogersville, N. B., writes:—"I can highly recommend Baby's Own Tablets to all mothers whose little ones are constipated. I gave my little girl the Tablets and they regulated her bowels and now she sleeps well, eats well, is fat and good all the time. I am really delighted with the Tablets and I always keep them in the house and as soon as my little girl becomes troubled or feverish I give her the Tablets and she is soon well again. Please send me another box for they are the very best medicine I know of for little ones." The Tablets are sold under a guarantee to contain nothing injurious to even the youngest child. Sold at 25 cents a box by all medicine dealers or from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

ORIGIN OF LLOYD'S.

Humble Beginning of Europe's Great Maritime Agency.

Two centuries ago a man who had a cargo to send to the Mediterranean contrived to get rid of some of the risk by inducing a friend to take an interest with him. It was necessary to write out a statement of contract to which the guarantors subscribed. This was the first underwriting. These two men happened to be frequenters of Lloyd's coffee house in London, which was a favorite place for the merchants of the town to gather to discuss business or to gossip. Others immediately saw the advantage of the scheme which their colleagues had devised, and on the next voyage the risk was parceled out among a larger number of the patrons of the coffee house.

Out of this small beginning has grown the great European maritime agency, still bearing the name of the humble coffee house proprietor, and which not only writes risks on vessels, but rates them and publishes their arrivals at every port the world over, so matter how small or how remotely situated.—"Annals of the American Academy."

Where Abraham Fished.

Mrs. Victoria de Bunsen in "The Soul of a Turk" relates a legend concerning Abraham which will be new to many readers. She learned of it while at Edessa, the traditional Ur of the Chaldees. She was shown there a large oblong tank of water so filled with fishes resting just below the surface of the water that their fins and backs seemed almost wedged together so as to form "an almost solid layer of silvery life."

"The guardian of the mosque throws some meal into the water, and the fish jump high to catch it, a great living pyramid, of which those which jump the highest form the pinnacle. The tradition is that Abraham as a child fished in the tank; hence the fish were considered sacred. No single one has been caught or killed to this day. Indeed, death would overtake the man who transgressed this law."

Minard's Liniment Cures Rheumatism.

poison, scalp sores, chapped hands, cold sores, inflamed patches, bad leg, varicose veins and ulcers, piles, cuts, burns, bruises, and all skin diseases and injuries. Sold by all druggists and storekeepers at 50c a box, 3 for $1.25. Post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Avoid harmful imitations and substitutes.

A SIGN OF LIFE.

A well-known professor, who had the reputation of erring somewhat on the side of pedantry in regard to the use of the right word in the right place, returned home one evening and surprised a burglar at work in his room.

Whipping out a revolver the latter covered him, saying—

"If you move you're a dead man."

"Allow me to remark, my good man," rejoined the professor, "that your statement is absurd. If I move it is excellent proof that I am alive. You really should consider your words a little before using them."

The Barber—How did you manage to lose all your hair? The Victim—Guess my wife had a hand in it!

"I hear you have sold your auto. Couldn't you afford to keep it?" "Yes, I could keep it all right, but I couldn't afford to buy gasoline for the blame thing."

NO SUBSTITUTE FOR "The D. & L." Menthol Plaster, recommended by everybody for stiffness, sprains, etc. Made by Davis & Lawrence Co.

"How do you suppose the fires of romance are kindled?" "I should judge by love matches."

Minard's Liniment Relieves Neuralgia.

FIRST HAND KNOWLEDGE.

"Do you mean to say, madame," inquired the judge of the divorce court, "that your husband spends $5,000 a year on himself?"

"I do, your honor."

"And that $5,000 a year constitutes his entire income?"

"Yes."

"How do you know that?"

"I furnish him the money, your honor."

CURED OF LAME BACK WHEN 84.

Mr. Samuel Martin, of Strathroy, Ont., passed twenty years of his life in misery suffering tortures from lame back. He tried nearly all advertised remedies and household recipes, but received no benefit from any of them.

Some months ago, seeing Gin Pills advertised, Mr. Martin purchased a box. The relief which Mr. Martin experienced after he had taken one box was so great that he knew he had found the right remedy at last. He used two more boxes and is now completely cured.

50c. a box, 6 for $3.50, at all dealers. Free sample if you write National Drug & Chemical Co., (Dept. W. L.) Toronto, Ont.

HE KNEW HIS JURY.

The attorney for the defendant had made a masterly plea. When he concluded nearly everybody was weeping. The jury, made up of hard-headed, weather-beaten old countrymen on whose ears oratory and sentiment fell like snow flakes in a warm chimney, was unmoved. The other attorney took their measure at a glance.

"Gentlemen," he said, coolly, "let it be understood to begin with that I am not boring for water."

where. They care nothing for modes. With them the length of the skirt remains always the same, neither short nor long, and they always wear plainly made dark dresses, black stockings and the beelless slippers of the east. Hats are unknown.

The universal outdoor wrap for all ages and all sizes is the black shawl, with a deep silken fringe. It is folded with a short point above and a long one below, and sometimes it envelops the figure from head to foot. It is never fastened at the throat, and when it slips off it is gathered up with one outstretched arm, which makes the spectator think of a big bird stretching its wing.

In their attire the women of Venice are independent, only wearing local clothing, but with feminine inconsistency they are thoroughly up to date in the matter of hairdressing, the style of their coiffures changing from time to time, according to the vogue of the moment in London and Paris.

"What was the biggest mistake you ever made in your life?" "Not jumping when I heard an auto to horn the other day."

Red, Weak, Watery, Watery Eyes. Relieved by Murine Eye Remedy. Try Murine For Your Eye Troubles. You Will Like Murine. It Soothes, 50c. At Your Druggist. Write For Eye Books. Free. Murine Eye Remedy Co., Toronto.

NOTHING SERIOUS

"I declare," Mrs. Lapsing was saying, "I never was so surprised in my life as when the doctor examined Johnny and said he had asteroids in his nose."

A Well-Known Man.

Minard's Liniment Co., Limited. Dear Sirs,—I can recommend your MINARD'S LINIMENT for Rheumatism and Sprains, as I have used it for both with excellent results.

Yours truly,
T. E. LAVERS,
St. John

THE PATIENT ANGLER.

Many and very similar to one another are the tales told of the patience of the fisherman. Thus incident of an angler in sunny France may be taken as a model of them all. He was sedulously engaged in his favorite pursuit when a tourist encountered him, and asked him how long he had been fishing in that stream.

"Twenty-three years, monsieur," he answered calmly.

"Do you get many bites?"

"Eleven years ago, monsieur," he replied, without lifting his eyes from his cork, "eleven years ago on this very spot I had an excellent bite."

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills

are not a new and untried remedy—our grandfathers used them. Half a century ago, before Confederation, they were on sale in nearly every drug or general store in the Canada of that day, and were the recognized cure in thousands of homes for Constipation, Indigestion, Biliousness, Rheumatism and Kidney and Liver Troubles. Today they are just as effective, just as reliable as ever, and nothing better has yet been devised to thoughtfully, "there was yin, but the gentlemen were aye shooting and shooting at it, and I'm thinking it left the deestrick."

Cure Common Ills

Perry Davis' Painkiller. Its effects are almost instantaneous. Cures cuts, burns and bruises. Taken internally cures cramps, diarrhea and dysentery. Avoid substitutes. There is but one "Painkiller"—Perry Davis—25c. and 50c.

"Bitter says he is waked up every morning at 4." "What does he keep—a rooster, a baby or a grandpa?"

Minard's Liniment for sale everywhere.
FOR SALE.

Forty Famous English Songs, Fifty cents. Fifty Gems Scottish Song, Seventy-five cents. Sixty Gems Irish Song, Seventy-five cents. Words and Music. Ashdown's Music Store, 144 Victoria Street, Toronto.

AGENTS WANTED. PARTIES WANTED to run hand knitting machine, making up knitted goods for the trade at your home, work on spare time, experience not necessary. For all particulars address Canadian Wholesale Distributing Co., Orillia, Ont., Dept. W.

WANTED, ACTIVE SALESMEN OR WOMEN for Holiday Bells that sell at eight. Salary $200 per day. Guaranteed and Commission. Outfit Free. Write immediately. J. L. Nichols Co., Limited, Toronto.

WANTED, SOU. AFRICAN WARRANTS. Highest price paid. Write us for information. Fox & Ross, Stock Brokers, Scott St., Toronto.

LEARN THE BARBER TRADE—NEW system—constant practice—careful instruction—few weeks complete course—tools free. Graduates earn twice to eighteen dollars weekly. Write for catalogue. Melzer Barber College, 121 Queen East, Toronto.

FARMS FOR SALE. SOUTHERN ALBERTA, 600 ACRES. UNIMPROVED, well settled fall wheat district, will sell cheap. Postoffice, 21 n 4 Rd., Toronto.

CANCER, Tumors, Lumps, etc. Internal and external, cured without pain by our home treatment. Write us before too late. Dr. Bellman Medical Co., Limited, Collingwood, Ont.

CLEANING LADIES'

WALKING OR OUTING SUITS

Care done perfectly by our French process. Try it. British American Dyeing Co. Montreal, Toronto, Ottawa and Quebec.

Turkey Feathers

Wanted We will pay cash for wing and tail feathers.

Write for particulars—

H. W. NELSON & CO., TORONTO

ASK ME WHAT

RAW FURS

ARE WORTH

W. C. GOFFATT

ORILLIA, ONTARIO

TELEGRAPHY

and Station Agents work in all its details are included in the course of training given in the Central Telegraph School, 2 Gerrard St. E., Toronto. Correspondence invited. T. J. Johnston, Prin. W. H. Shaw, President.

A GREAT DEMAND FOR

PAPER STOCK

WASTE PAPER OF ALL GRADES. Also Rags, Iron, Metals, Rubbers, Etc.

E. PULLAN, Adelaide and Maud Sts., Toronto, Ont.

Phone for particulars. Main 2693.

FRUIT GROWERS

Be sure to come to the Annual Convention

Nov. 13th, and 17th, 1910

TORONTO
Biggest Fruit Show of the Year during the entire Week

SINGLE FARE ON ALL RAILWAYS
Prize List and Programme sent on Request
P. W. HODGETTS, Sec'y.
Parliament Buildings, Toronto.

MEN

We have the largest and best assorted stock of fine Shoes ever shown by this store. If passing our window do not fail to stop and see the new styles and low prices at which you can buy your new fall boots.

- Men's Box Calf Boots, Goodyear welted soles $3.00
- Men's Tan and Black Waterproof Boots, leather lined $3.50 & 4.00
- Extra special Men's Heavy Weight Knee Rubber Boots $3.50
- Unlined Working Mitts, with or without finger 25c
- Boys' Mitts, warmly lined, made of Sheepskin or Split Horsehide 25c

THE J. J. HAINES SHOE HOUSES, Napanee, Belleville, and Trenton.

Largest Dealers in this Section of Canada.

SYRUP AND MOLASSES

I have for sale Golden Syrup by the quart or pound. Also Barbadoes Molasses, not too dark and not too light, just the thing for cooking. Also New Orleans Molasses (black strap).

FRANK H. PERRY.

Phone 130.

Cold Weather

is upon us and the question is are YOU ready for it.

What about that room you tried so hard to heat last winter. Try a

Perfection Coal Oil Heater

and you will have no further trouble.

They are odorless.

Satisfaction Guaranteed

For Sale only by

Work was commenced on Thursday on the re-decoration of the interior of St. Mary Magdalene's Church.

Lamp and lamp fixtures, gas and electric lamps, domes and shades, fresh arrivals. Your first choice now. BOYLE & SON.

The men blasting on Dundas street west on Wednesday evening shattered a gas pipe and as a result the gas was out of business on Wednesday night all over the town.

A correspondent of the Acton Free Press complains that Local Option has not succeeded in its object and that drunken men are seen on the streets. He suggests that a man be specially appointed to look after them.

G. Warman, who has returned to Montreal from a trip through the west, comments upon the land speculation fever which is rampant out there. He recited one case where a group of land speculators sold two millions worth of land in four different sections and in each section they moved the site of the Grand Trunk Pacific station on their map to suit the sale of each section where as in fact the company had not selected the site at all.

Ross Palen, whose home is in Picton, but who has been in Napanee for a few weeks, was arrested in Belleville on Wednesday, wanted in Napanee to face a charge of the theft of two overcoats from the Royal Hotel. One of the coats, belonging to Mr. John Sharpe he sold at the second hand store for forty cents, the other was impounded in Belleville for a board bill at the Crystal Hotel, where he put up under the name of John St. Peter. He was brought to Napanee and will appear before the Magistrate for trial this morning.

Thos. Symington

presents his compliments to his numerous patrons.

Thanks them for past favors, and respectfully asks them to bring their Appliances to his evaporator, foot of West Street, where they will receive the Highest Price, and a square deal.

LAZIER'S

—FOR—

UNDERWEAR

That's what the people say all over these counties; that is, the majority of the people. There are some, no doubt, who have never yet been fortunate enough to come our way. They haven't been keeping step with their neighbors and are a little behind, but we expect them to arrive some day as surely as the sun shines.

Why? Because we sell the very best lines of Underwear produced.

Guaranteed Goods

You Take No Risk.

Hewson's—Pure Wool, High Grade, very satisfactory.

Stanfield's—A line everybody knows is good.

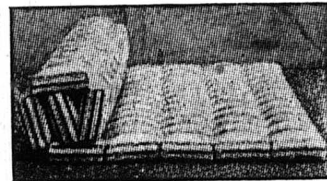

Penman's—A brand known from coast to coast.

Wolsey—The celebrated English Brand.

If you are like the man from Missouri just drop in and "WE'LL SHOW YOU."

A.E. Lazier.

FEATHERS

from old beds made into modern and sanitary mattress.

Feathers cleaned by sanitary process.

Beds and Pillows disinfected and germ proof.

Highest Price Paid For Feathers.

Dominion Feather Co.

NAPANEE, ONT.

A few doors west of Campbell House.

Drop a card and our agent will call. 49d

Books.

Special books for Christmas. New stock now in, come and make your choice early. We will keep them for you until you want them.

A. E. PAUL.

See Dominion Feather Co., ad. in this issue.

The town property committee have given Messrs. McCabe and Shaver a contract to re-decorate the town hall.

Itch, Mange, Prune Scratches, Barber's itch, and every form of con-

Finnan Haddies, Bloaters, Kipperd Herrings, Sea Salmon and Codfish just in at FRANK H. PERRY'S.

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Hospital Aid Society will be held in the board room of the Public Library, on Monday afternoon, Nov. 21st, at 3.30 o'clock.

Jas. Gordon is moving into the store vacated by Chas. Stevens on Centre street, opposite the market, a few doors north of the Campbell House. He will have his usual supply of Bibles, Hymn Books and other literature. Give him a call.

Regular meetings of the Lennox Farmers' Institute will be held in the Town Hall, Bath, on Friday, Dec. 2nd, 1910, and in the Town Hall, Napanee, Dec. 3rd. Speakers—Mr. W. J. Kerr, of Woodroffe, Ont., and Mr. W. F. Kydd, of Simcoe. For further particulars see large bills.

Timothy Dwire, of Enterprise, who met with a painful death, on Friday, November 12th, in the twenty-seventh year of his promising life, being shot by accident by a young man in whose company he was, is survived by his parents, three brothers, and three sisters, who are left to mourn the loss of a dutiful son and affectionate brother. The funeral, one of the largest in the vicinity for some time, took place on Monday morning from his late residence, to the Roman Catholic church, where a solemn requiem mass was sung for the repose of his soul, by Rev. Father O'Reilly. The pall-bearers were: Messrs. J. Finn, D. Kennedy, M. Moran, P. Kelly, J. Dowling and E. Dillon. The remains were placed in the vault there to await burial in the spring.

Newspapers, Magazines.

Subscriptions taken for any newspaper or magazine. Mailed to any address anywhere. Special club rates. A. E. PAUL.

Fruit Trees.

If you intend planting trees next spring you had better place your order early on account of the big demand for nursery stock. We are the largest growers of Peach, Apple, Plum and Cherry trees, also berry bushes and ornamental stock, in Canada. We make a specialty of Peach and Apple trees. Come and see us, or write for catalogue. Brown Bros. Co., Brown's Nurseries, Welland Co., Ont. 47-d.

Historical Meeting.

The next regular meeting of the Lennox and Addington Historical Society will be held in Historical Hall, Library Building, on Friday evening, November 25th, at 8 p. m. Mr. Alexander Fraser, Provincial Archivist, of Toronto, will lecture. The meeting will be open for the public. Everyone welcome. Entrance free.

Special Notice to Poultry Raisers.

The undersigned will be at C. A. Wiseman's implement store, John St., Napanee, to buy all kinds dressed poultry on Nov. 22nd, 23rd and 24th. Will also buy on the 29th and 30th, as advertised, (all poultry to be undrawn.) Bring along your poultry and get the highest price.

ROBT. NEVENS & SON,
Jasper, Ont.

Death of William Seymore Young.

It is with sadness that we learn of the death of Mr. William Seymore Young, who passed away at his home in Richmond Township, on Friday, November 4th, 1910. Deceased was but 64 years of age and had been suffering for some time. The funeral service was held at West Plain on Saturday and the remains taken to Napanee and placed in the vault. He leaves a wife and eight children to mourn the loss of a loving husband and a kind and affectionate father.

A few more years shall roll,
A few more seasons come,
And we shall be with those that rest
Asleep within the tomb.

Gold Fish Free at Wallace's.

On Thursday, November 24th, we will give free with a 25c box of Pearl tooth powder one jar containing two

in ti ar
cc fla all fa pr
fa

For Call
Wate

Are Y
The amine and H best ;
43tf

Be an
A B be giv
the at Mond
ion 10

Barga
I w that I monu shop, figure of ma off reg
vince

Napar
Owi
Town Napan held i Metho
noon, at 4.1
the e see all ones.

A q
of Mr.
ley, o their was v mony son of man, While played in-law the dr
of her tired i baby i the gr in pea weddi weddi
happy for Go

Satisfaction Guaranteed

For Sale only by

M. S. MADOLE,

Napanee's Leading Hardware Store.

Phone. 13.

November

The days are growing shorter.
Your eyes are over-taxed by artificial light.
Come this month and have your eyes properly fitted. You will enjoy the long winter evenings reading and sewing in comfort wearing our highest grade spectacles, fitted scientifically.

Our glasses restore the vision of youth.

Smith's

Peterboro Business College

is a link in Canada's Greatest Chain of High-Grade Colleges founded during the past twenty-six years. This chain is the largest trainers of young people in Canada and it is freely admitted that its graduates get the best positions. There is a reason; write for it. A diploma from the Commercial Educators' Association of Canada is a passport to success.

You may study partly at home and finish at the College.

Enter Any Day.

Fall Term opens August 29th

Peterboro Business College

GEO. SPOTTON, - President

21-1f

Kodaks, Kodaks.

The genuine Kodaks and supplies are sold in Napanee only at Wallace's Drug Store.

Thos. Symington

presents his compliments to his numerous patrons.

Thanks them for past favors, and respectfully asks them to bring their Appliances to his evaporator, foot of West Street, where they will receive the Highest Price, and a square deal.

Signed,

Thos. Symington.

Napanee, Sept. 14th, 1910.

REMOVAL NOTICE!

I beg to inform the public that I have moved my COAL AND WOOD OFFICE to Dundas St., opposite Campbell House.

CHAS. STEVENS.

Yard: Foot of West Street.

1-1f

MARBLE AND GRANITE MONUMENTS.

IN CHOOSING A GRANITE MONUMENT

you run a big risk in ordering from a picture, from the travelling salesmen.

I Have Large Stock on Hand to Pick From

You won't have to wait three or four months—then hurriedly done up

V KOUBER, Napanee

Lehigh Valley ...Coal

is the best Anthracite Coal on the market to-day. Since I have been in the coal business I have handled Scranton and several other kinds of coal, and none can compare with the LEHIGH.

It burns longer, is cleaner, and the sizes are more even.

Leave your order for this season's supply and note the good results.

J. R. DAFOE,

stock now in, come and make your choice early. We will keep them for you until you want them.

A. E. PAUL.

See Dominion Feather Co., ad. in this issue.

The town property committee have given Messrs. McCabe and Shaver a contract to re-decorate the town hall.

Itch, Mange, Prairie Scratches, Barber's itch, and every form of contagious Itch on human or animal cured in 30 minutes by Wolford's Sanitary Lotion. It never fails. Sold by—T. B. Wallace

The farmer who tries to run his farm without a farm paper is not doing himself or his farm justice. Add The Farmer's Weekly Sun to your list of reading for the coming year. Helpful—that is what you will say it is, and you will never want to be without it.

Miss Lulu VanVlack, Deseronto Road, lost her gold bracelet in Deseronto on Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 9th. She advertised it on Thursday afternoon following. Miss Muriel Simmons, of Deseronto, picked it up and on Friday forenoon restored it to the proper owner. It pays to advertise.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

Rev. J. P. Wilson, of Lindsay, has received an invitation to become the pastor of the W. M. Church, Napanee, for the year 1911. He has accepted subject to the action of the stationing committee. General approval is expressed that the church was successful in securing such an efficient supply to succeed its present able pastor, Rev. Emsley.

Madame A. Don Cochrane handed her resignation as choir leader to the Trustee Board of Trinity church and asked that she be relieved after Sunday, Nov. 13th. In granting her request the Trustee Board passed a motion authorizing the chairman and secretary to draft a letter of testimonial to Madame Cochrane recommending her as a capable and energetic choir leader.

Mr. Foster has once more kindly offered the proceeds of Saturday afternoon performance, Nov. 19th, to the Women's Hospital Aid Society. In addition to the excellent programme which Mr. Foster will put on, the following ladies have kindly offered to assist with the musical part:—Mrs. Cairns-Smith, Mrs. VanLaven, The Misses VanLaven, Cairns, Hall and Farnival.

Last Monday afternoon, the 19th inst., a very pleasant surprise party took place at the home of Mrs. James Allen, it being her seventy-fifth birthday. Her old neighbors, the ladies of Adelphi St., came in with a bountiful supply of all the delicacies of the season and many presents in honor of the occasion. At six o'clock supper was served. All enjoyed it very much and none better than Mrs. Allen. After this a very pleasant evening was spent.

Rev. W. H. Emsley, pastor of the Western Methodist church, Napanee, has been invited, by a unanimous vote of the quarterly board of the First Methodist church of this town, to be the pastor for the coming term. He has responded favorably to their call, subject of course to the will of the conference. Mr. Emsley is one of the most popular ministers in the Bay of Quinte Conference, and a man of great force and eloquence as a public speaker. He is now serving his eleventh year in Napanee; eight years as pastor of the Eastern Trinity church, and three years in the Western Methodist church. He is a broad minded, liberal thinking man, and a work of great usefulness may be looked forward to. —Picton Gazette.

THE PLAZA BARBER SHOP AND TOBACCO STORE.

We think we can please you.
TRY US.

Cigars, Tobaccos, Pipes, Etc.
PAUL KILLORIN, - Proprietor.

see and placed in the vault. He leaves a wife and eight children to mourn the loss of a loving husband and a kind and affectionate father.

A few more years shall roll,

A few more seasons come,
And we shall be with those that rest
Asleep within the tomb.

Gold Fish Free at Wallace's.

On Thursday, November 24th, we will give free with a 25c box of Pearl tooth powder one jar containing two gold fish. Only one box of powder will be sold to a customer as this is one of the very best tooth powders made and is sold all over the United States and Canada at 25 cents the box. This is done solely for advertising purposes. Remember the date at Wallace's Drug Store.

From the recent issued report of the Dominion Department of Inland Revenue for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1910, we make the following extracts:—

The total duty collected for the year under the headings of spirit, malt and malt liquors, is given hereunder along with the figures for the previous year—

	1910	1909
Spirits.....	$7,169,760	$6,950,589
Malt.....	1,434,004	1,396,007
Malt Liquor.....	27,314	17,628
	$8,631,078	$8,364,224

It will thus be seen that the aggregate duty is greater by $266,854 than in the previous year, all three headings contributing towards the increase as follows:—Spirits, $219,171; Malt, $37,997 and Malt Liquor $9,680.

Let well meaning sympathizers with the Local Option movement thoroughly digest the above facts. Is it not a potent commentary on the utter futility of Scott Act and Local Option measures to either prohibit or diminish the consumption of alcoholic beverages?—Contributed.

Where Style Comes From

The 20th Century Brand Designer and Assistant Designer, travel widely, watch every movement of the mode, and have produced styles that have helped largely to make 20th Century Brand Garments the style standard. Their styles are correct, authentic, and thoroughly metropolitan, as compared with the more or less antiquated styles produced by small tailor shops.

Let us show you
20th Century Brand Clothing.

THE GRAHAM CO'Y.,
Napanee, Ont.

red fish the l be lov.
ore
tre few use, les,
re.
nox
the nd,
see,
err,
F. par-who lay, nth shot
rose his sis-
of her.
the
on rich, was by ear-en-ling vere wait wsads. text der for gest
and We
ple
for vn's
7-d.
the ical
all,
ing,
lex-
of ing
one
A.
sed
th.
as untry
S.
of ore me-lay,
was eneral at-pa-
He
to and st
we arl
and

in tea must be distinctive, pleasing and unvarying to merit continuous use. The flavor of Red Rose Tea is all its own; and it never fails to win and hold approval because it never fails in quality. Try it.

NEVER SOLD IN BULK
Your Grocer Will Recommend It

For Scranton Coal.

Call at office corner of Centre and Water Streets, or telephone 128.
P. GLEESON.

Are You Looking for Bargains?

Then don't neglect colling and examine our Steel, and Metal Ranges and Heaters. They are as good as the best; and as cheap as the cheapest.
43tf POTTER & BLANCHARD.

Bean Supper.

A Bean Supper and programme will be given in the Sunday school room of the Western Methodist Church, under the auspices of the Junior League, on Monday evening, Nov. 21st. Admission 10 cts.

Bargains in Monuments.

I wish to announce to the public, that I have a few very choice granite monuments in my yard at the rear of shop, that I will sell at very close figures. There is also an assortment of markers and posts that must be sold off regardless of cost. A call will convince you.

C. J. PAPINEAU.

Napanee Ladies Musical Club.

Owing to repairs being made on the Town Hall the first meeting of the Napanee Ladies' Musical Club will be held in the lecture room of Trinity Methodist Church, this Friday afternoon, programme to begin promptly at 4.15 o'clock. Tea will be served by the executive. The officers hope to see all the old members and many new ones.

WARTMAN—CREIGHTON.

A quiet event transpired at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Creighton, Hawley, on Wednesday, Nov. 16th, when their eldest daughter, Annie Berniece, was united in holy bonds of matrimony to J. Arthur Wartman, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wartman, of Bath, by Rev. C. W. Demille. While the bridal chorus was being played by Mrs. T. D. Creighton, sister-in-law of the bride, the bride entered the drawing-room leaning on the arm of her father, and was becomingly attired in white voile, with satin, and baby Irish lace trimmings, and wore the groom's gift, a crescent brooch set in pearls. After the ceremony the wedding party partook of a dainty wedding luncheon, after which the happy couple left on the noon train for Georgetown, N. Y. Special thanks

FALL and WINTER

Suits and Overcoats!

The quality of Trimmings used, and the time and pains we take with the inner hidden parts give you a lasting shape-retaining garment.

JAMES WALTERS,

Merchant Tailor, Napanee.

Parish of Selby.

Services next Sunday: 10.30 a. m., St. Jude's, Strathcona, Holy Communion; 3 p. m., St. Jude's, Kingsford; 7.30 p. m., St. John's Selby

Do You Wonder Why

I advertise my coal?
I am human.
I have the best and want other people to know it.
F. E. VANLUVEN.

250 Fountain Pens for $1.50.

This fountain pen we guarantee equal to any $2.50 pen procurable, no matter what make so sure are we of it. We refund the money if not satisfied. Sold in Napanee, only at Wallace's Drug Store.

We Lead, Others Follow.

Following are the prices which prevail at the Ea- End Barber Shop. Hair cut, 15c, Mass e, 15c, shave, 10c, beard trimmed, 10c. All work guaranteed first-class.
J. N. OSB RNE,
Prop

How Is It Done?

It is really wonderful how the Editors of the Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal can go on week after week issuing twenty-eight and thirty-two pages of eight big columns each, and always find something new and interesting for their readers. Every department of that great paper is edited by men and women of long experience, and there is not a dry department in the whole paper. Any person who is not familiar with the Family Herald should give it a trial. Those who know it would not be without it. Every subscriber for 1911 has an opportunity to win a free trip to the Old Country next June. Particulars may be held at this office.

Public Meeting.

A Public Meeting will be held in the town hall Tuesday evening, Nov. 22nd at 8 o'clock at which it is hoped every man who has a vote will be present. There are a few of the business men of the town who seem to be under the impression that if Local Option comes in force it is going to result in a falling off in business. This meeting will be addressed by a Merchant from a Local Option town who will give us not only his experience in this matter but will have bona fide testimonials from a number of other business men stating their views on the question. This is straight from business men to business men and we hope the Town Hall will be filled to overflowing by the electors of Napanee to hear this question able discussion

TRINITY METHODIST CHURCH

Sunday, Nov. 20th, 1910.

Regular services at 10.30 a. m., and 7 p. m. Sermons by the pastor. Choir will be under the direction of Mr. W. J. Shannon.

PERSONALS

Mr. Wintele of the Dominion Bank staff has been transferred to Coburg. Miss Manion, Kansas City Mo., is the guest of Miss S. P. Hamm.

Messrs. W. A. Steacy and Chief Graham returned on Tuesday from their hunting trip.

Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Miller have returned from their trip to New York.

Mr. W. J. Shannon has been appointed leader of Trinity Church choir in place of Mrs. Cochrane, who resigned.

Messrs. J. R. Dafee, T. H. Waller, Thos. Tierney, J. B. Allison and Roy Lott returned from their hunting trip on Wednesday.

Mrs. S. Warner and Mrs. J. E. Eakins, made a trip to Toronto this week to visit Mrs. A. E. Lang and family. Mrs. Warner will remain, if health permits, till after the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Guess, Copperhill, Tenn, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Guess Bridge Street.

Mr. W. A. Rose went to Toronto on Wednesday.

Mrs. Rutlan, of Woodstock, attending the funeral of her father, Mr. Jas. Taylor, left for home Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Warner spent Sunday last with friends in Toronto.

Mr. J. E. Robinson, of the Robinson Co., was in Toronto and Hamilton on Sunday and Monday of this week on business.

Mrs. Melville Bell, Washington, and Mrs. B. S. Guess, Harrowsmith, spent Sunday with friends in Napanee. Mrs. Bell is returning from a trip to Vancouver and Victoria, B. C.

Miss Iva Horton, Roblin parsonage, and her brother, Dr. Horton, spent a few days and Sunday in Toronto. The latter went on up west to his practice on Monday.

Mrs. G. C. Mills, who has been attending the funeral of her grandmother in Cleveland, has returned home accompanied by her mother, Mrs. F. R. Seager.

The engagement is announced of Miss Violet Allen St. Clair, New York City, (professionally known as Miss Violet Allen) only daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. St. Clair, to Mr. Aubrey C. Pringle, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Pringle, Napanee, Ontario. The marriage is to take place quietly this month.

Mr. Lawrence Wright, of Porcupine, has been spending a few days in town with his sister, Miss Leila Wright.

Miss Jennie Phippen, Conway, is the guest of Miss Allie Paul.

Miss Hooper, Kingston, is the guest of Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Vrooman.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hawley, Watertown, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Young.

The Daily Globe or Daily Mail from now until May 1st, 1911, only one dollar. Hand your subscription to A. E. Paul.

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Absolutely Pure
The only baking powder made from Royal Grape Cream of Tartar
No Alum, No Lime Phosphate

MAHRIAGES.

WARTMAN—CREIGHTON—At Hawley, on Wednesday, November 16th, by Rev. C. W. DeMill, Mr. J. Arthur Wartman, of Bath, to Miss Annie Berniece Creighton, of Hawley.

DEATHS.

DOWNEY—At Belleville, on Wednesday, Nov. 16th, 1910, Mary Jane Downey, widow of the late Arthur Downey, aged 56 yrs., 10 months, 15 days. The remains were brought to Napanee and interment took place in Riverview cemetery, on Thursday afternoon.

WILTON.

Wesley Parrot is suffering from gangrene in one of his feet. Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Walker lost a baby, two months old, last week.

Miss Paul, Newburgh, a returned missionary from China, address the congregation in the Methodist church last Sunday.

Mrs. W. Topping and son, of Elgin, are visiting at James Wallace's; Mr. Anglin, Brewer's Mills, at L. L. Gallagher's; Mrs. W. Babcock, Colebrook, at S. Storms.

See the new sanitary feather mattresses made by the Dominion Feather Co.

Wanted Now.

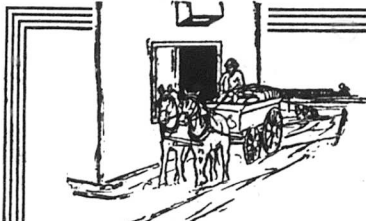

For Napanee and surrounding district for fall and winter months, an energetic agent to take orders for nursery stock

Good Pay Weekly.
Outfit Free.
Exclusive Territory

600 ACRES under cultivation. We guarantee to deliver stock in good condition and up to contract grade. We can show that there is good money in representing a well-known reliable firm at this time. Established over 30 years; write for particulars.

PELHAM NURSERY CO.

41-4-m Toronto, Ont.

Market Reports

on to sband
r.

rest

h, we Pearl
g two owder his is wider United
e box.
g pur-Wal-

of the nland nding owing

r the pirist, here-or the 900

50,580
86,007
17,628

864,224
aggret than nding
crease Malt,

s with thor-
Is it utter Option
nish
bever-

While the bridal chorus was being played by Mrs. T. D. Creighton, sister-in-law of the bride, the bride entered the drawing-room leaning on the arm of her father, and was becomingly attired in white voile, with satin, and baby irish lace trimmings, and wore the groom's gift, a crescent brooch set in pearls. After the ceremony the wedding party partook of a dainty wedding luncheon, after which the happy couple left on the noon train for Gouverneur, N. Y., amid showers of rice, old shoes and best wishes of their many friends. The bride's travelling suit was green serge with hat to match. The bride received many beautiful presents showing the esteem in which both are held.

Children's Aid Society.

The annual meeting of the C. A. S., was held in the Council Chamber on Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 16th, when the following officers were elected:

Pres.—Mr. F. Burrows.
1st Vice Pres.—Mrs. McGurn.
2nd Vice Pres.—Mrs. C. H. Edwards.
Sec'y.—Mrs. F. L. Hooper.
Treas.—Mrs. A. W. Grange.
English Church representatives—Rev. F. Dibb, Mr. D. Hill, Mrs. R. E. H. Travers, Miss Checkley, Mrs. G. Wilson.

Presbyterian church representatives—Minister, Rev. A. McDonald, Mrs. M. J. Fuller, Miss J. Mair, Mr. Jas. Gordon.

Trinity Church representatives.—Rev. G. McColl, Mrs. J. R. Daffoe, Mrs. J. L. Boyes, Dr. Wartman, Mrs. Jamieson.

Western Methodist Church representatives.—Rev. W. H. Emsley, Mrs. Gibbard, Mr. Gibbard, Mrs. Madole, Mr. Madole, Mr. Hooper.
Agent—Chief Graham.

1st Assistant agent—Mrs. C. Wartman.
2nd Assistant agent.—Mr. Jas. Gordon.

Medical Adviser—Dr. C. M. Stratton.
A vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Scantlebury and Mr. Wrightmer, of Belleville, for their addresses at the public meeting on Wednesday evening, Nov 9th; to Mrs. and Miss Vanluven and Mrs. F. Cairns-Smith for assistance in the musical part of the program; to Mr. W. Foster for the use of his lantern, and Mr. H. Fitzpatrick for operating it; to the Town Council for the use of the Hall and to all who assisted in any way. The next meeting will be held the first Friday afternoon in January.

Sell your old feather bed or have it made into a new sanitary mattress by the Dominion Feather Co.

DESERONTO HIGH SCHOOL.

Following is the report of the first bi-monthly examinations, names in order of merit:

Form I Lower School.

F. Bell, B. Thomas, A. Flood, T. Kennedy, C. Frost, H. Cronk, W. Baxter, A. Cole, equal; A. Masters, M. McDonald, M. Anderson, H. Cole, M. Watson, E. Perry, J. Cole, T. Howard, J. Alexander, M. Turner, D. Jamieson, N. Armitage, J. Toppings, equal.

Form II Lower School.

N. Madigan, N. Cronin, V. Farrell, A. Hearn, F. McCullough, May Bartley, L. Nafin, K. Enright, A. Sexsmith, N. Fox, G. Clement, A. Farrell, H. Parnham, equal; C. Malley, F. Couture, Mack Bartley.

Form III, Middle School.

A. Rixep, V. Brennan, L. McKenny, J. McCann, M. Armitage, A. Terry, M. Hunt, M. Cronin, L. Therrien, L. Kennedy, A. McCullough, L. Sexsmith.

FIG PILLS

Cure Backache, Bladder and Kidney Trouble.

A few doses of FIG PILLS will convince you that a few more will cure you. Every box of FIG PILLS is guaranteed. If they do not cure all Bladder, Kidney, Rheumatism and Liver Trouble, your money will be refunded.
25c a box at all leading drug stores.

impression it is going to result in a falling off in business. This meeting will be addressed by a Merchant from a Local Option town who will give us not only his experience in this matter but will have bona fide testimonials from a number of other business men stating their views on the question. This is straight from business men to business men and we hope the Town Hall will be filled to overflowing by the electors of Napanee to hear this question ably discussed.

The Sewers.

Considerable progress is being made with the town's programme of sewer building. The John street extension is completed and the Adelphi street sewer is well under way. The contractor on the main sewer is making good progress despite several drawbacks on account of water and very bad rock to work in. Considerable dissatisfaction is expressed with the council in having so much of this class of work done at this time of the year, but from the viewpoint of the working man it is just the time when other work is at a standstill and furnishes needed employment to a large number of laboring men who would otherwise have trouble in finding employment, and surely the extra cost is small in comparison with the benefit thus conferred on the working men, and if the present plans are carried out there will be very little interruption to business during the busy season at Christmas.

NOVEMBER ATHLETIC WORLD.

The November number of the Athletic world, published by W. J. Taylor, Limited, Woodstock, Ont., which has just reached this office, is an exceptionally good one, and seems to indicate that the policy of steady improvement which this magazine has so far carried out so well, will continue in the future. The various occurrences of interest in the Canadian sporting world are well described and attention is also paid to events in other countries, while practically every branch of sport is covered. Lovers of athletics will do well to get this number, in which will be found something to interest everyone, whatever field of sport he particularly favors.

REV. W. A. WASSON ON HIS WORK.

On August 28, the Rev. W. A. Wasson, formerly of Napanee, preached his farewell sermon as rector of Grace Church, Riverhead, L. I., U.S. A., and in the course of his address, he made the following statement:—

"I am resigning, so that I may have more time to devote to fighting the prohibition propaganda, which is unscriptural, unchristian and tyrannical," said he. "I know my public utterances have been distasteful to some of you, but I stand for justice and honesty. I will not be afraid to assert my honest convictions, even if I have to crack stone in the street in order to make a living."

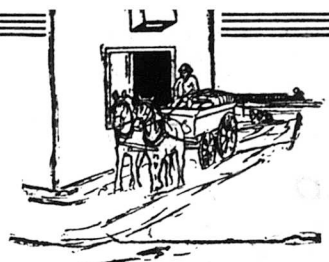

"There is a great work for the church to do in exposing and combatting the reign of terror which the prohibition propaganda will bring about. Henceforth I will give my time and thought to fighting prohibition. I will advocate true temperance, which means moderation and self control. I will devote my whole time to writing and lecturing along those lines."

"Strip prohibition of the sanctimonious robes with which it clothes itself and I venture to say it will lose three-fourths of its present influence and power over the minds of the people. The prohibition agitators are working the religious plea for all it is worth. It has been their top card all the way through."

Bargains in Marble.

I have on hand $500 worth of marble monuments, blocky headstones and grave markers, to clear them out of my way in view of erecting a new shop. Corner post from $1.00 each upwards. At the old stand

Dundas St.
Napanee,
V. KOURBA.

Market Reports

12 to 18 Hours Ahead of the Morning Papers

Every issue of The Toronto Daily Star contains the day's price quotations on the Grain and Live Stock Markets of Toronto, Montreal, Buffalo, Chicago and other important centres—the very same quotations that the morning papers will print next day—12 to 18 hours later.

The Toronto Daily Star market reports are most accurate, and getting them every day you are always able to catch the market at its highest point and to sell your products at the highest prices prevailing.

To be a daily and constant reader of the Toronto Star market reports means money in your pocket—a live paper for wideawake people.

TORONTO DAILY STAR

Clubbing Offer This paper and the Toronto Daily Star $1.50 for one year for $2.20 a Year

11

The perfect sound-reproduction

which established the supremacy of the Edison Phonograph lies in the point of contact between the Phonograph and the Record—the sapphire reproducing point. This is the point that conveys the sound from the Record to the audience. And right here is the secret, the perfect lifelike tone of the Edison instead of a metallic, nasal tone.

Edison Phonographs

$16.50
to $240

Edison Standard Records, 40c. Edison Amberol Records (play twice as long), 66c. Edison Grand Opera Records, 88c. to $2.50. There are Edison dealers everywhere. Go to the nearest and hear the Edison Phonograph play both Edison Standard and Edison Amberol Records. Get complete catalogs from your dealer or from us.

NATIONAL PHONOGRAPH COMPANY
100 Lakeside Avenue, Orange, N. J., U. S. A.

Mr. Edison made all sound-reproducing instruments possible but he perfected the Edison Phonograph

EDISON PHONOGRAPHS AND RECORDS SOLD BY

R. B. ALLEN, Market Square